Quarantine Rules for the Port of Calcutta.

The 18th July 1882.—In exercise of the power conferred by Act I of 1870, the following rules for quarantine against cholera, have been made by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council. They will, as a temporary measure, take effect from this date in the port of Calcutta :—

I. The commander of every vessel, including buggalows or other native craft, arriving from the island of Sumatra or from the port of Batavia in the island of Java where cholera prevails, shall, on arrival at the Sandheads, hoist a yellow flag, and indicate by signal the port from which she has come, and shall keep such flag and signal flying until permitted to take it down as hereinafter provided.

II. Such commander shall not, without having first obtained permission as hereinafter provided, allow any communication with the shore or with any other vessel or boat, excepting only with the boat supplying the pilot* from the pilot brig, and in that case communication shall be limited to receiving on board the pilot, his leadsman, servant, and baggage.

* N. B.—Pilotage is compulsory for all vessels over 100 tons.

III. The pilot shall not take such vessel higher up the river than Royapore, but shall anchor it there until the Health Officer of the port has visited it and ascertained by enquiry whether any person on board is then suffering, or has during the voyage suffered, from cholera ; and if such officer is satisfied by enquiry that no such case has occurred, he shall, by writing under his hand, to be delivered to the commander, permit such vessel to haul down the yellow flag and proceed upwards to the port, and to hold free communication with the shore and with other vessels and boats in port.

IV. If the Health Officer shall have reason to believe that any such case has occurred, he shall direct the commander to detain the vessel at the quarantine anchorage at Royapore for the space of 15 days from the day of arrival there, or from the date of the occurrence of the latest case of illness, and shall further direct the commander to prohibit, during the said 15 days, all communication, except such as is hereinafter provided for, between such vessel and the shore, or other vessels or boats in the harbour. The Health Officer may further direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from sickness, and whose services may not be required on board the ship, to such particular spots as may from time to time be fixed upon by the local Government as places of quarantine, there to remain for a space of 15 days, or, in the event of the occurrence of a case of sickness, for a space of 15 days from the date of the occurrence of the last case. The Health Officer may permit the pilot, with his leadsman and servants, to leave the vessel at any time after such precautionary disinfection of their persons and baggage as he may think necessary, or may direct that they remain in quarantine along with the passengers and crew.

V. Any mails or cargo which may be brought by any vessel so arriving shall be landed under such precautions as may be deemed necessary by the Health Officer to prevent the spread of the disease.

VI. It will be the duty of the Port Officer to facilitate the conveyance to the vessel in quarantine of all supplies of provisions, stores, and other articles required by those on board. These supplies should be placed on the boats of the vessel, to be subsequently removed by members of her crew.

No. 81.

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Office, Madras) will be received by the Executive Commissariat Officer at Madras until 1 o'clock P.M. on the 17th August 1882, and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested, for the supply, by contract, of 149,453lb of either Indian or China black tea (the price of each description to be separately stated) to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General on or before the 30th day of April 1883 free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 30th April 1883.

2. Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary, Bank of Madras, acknowledging the payment of a deposit of Rs. (4,000) four thousand, or be accompanied by Government Promissory Notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Executive Commissariat Officer, Madras, and in default of both of such deposits the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. The deposit of the successful competitor will be retained until he lodges with the Executive Commissariat officer at Madras the sum of Rs. (16,000) sixteen thousand, either in cash or in Government Promissory Notes. If the latter, the notes to be endorsed over to the Executive Commissariat Officer, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of his contract. The deposit made with his tender will then be returned to him.

4. The deposits of all, with the exception of that of the successful competitor, will be returned on the decision of Government being received.

5. The successful competitor will be required to sign a contract on the basis of his tender containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Officer at Madras) and to furnish the requisite security within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of his tender is notified to him. Should the successful competitor fail to sign the contract deed or to furnish the security within the time specified, so much of his deposit will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and his tender will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such deposit for such default shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitor all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such default, and that the amount of such deposit is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such default.

6. The chests containing the tea should be of strong material, and the lead lining thereof sound and strong. Each chest must be bound round with iron hooping and packed in good strong gunny. No broken or damaged chests will be received. Each chest should contain 84lb of China tea, or 80lb of Indian tea, and should be marked 80 or 84lb net, as the case may be. A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination they will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

7. The quality of tea to be subjected to the approval of, or rejection by, a committee to be appointed at the request of the Commissary-General by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity only as may be approved of by the said committee.

8. Samples of tea can be had on application at the Commissariat Office at Madras.

9. The Government reserve to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

10. If the contractor makes default in delivering the whole of the tea on or before the 30th April 1883, so much of the security deposited by him as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to become forfeited to Government, but, if such contractor deliver a portion of the tea to be supplied according to his contract and makes default in delivering the remainder thereof, he shall be liable to pay to Government such reasonable compensation as Government may be entitled to for such breach of contract, and any such compensation may, at the option of Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to such contractor for the tea delivered by him or from the security which may be deposited by him.

11. All further information may be had and the form of tenders and contract deed inspected on application at the Commissariat Office at Madras.

12. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected.

13. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and, in the event to his doing so, his deposit shall be forfeited to Government.

(By order of the Commissary-General.)

E. A. BRUCE, Major,
Dy. Assistant Commissary-General.

Executive Commissariat Office, Madras,
18th May 1882.

NOTE.—Tender forms can also be had on application to Calcutta Store and Shipping Executive.

Woodward (Estate) per Exectr. Mrs. Woodward, R. A. Wortley, Mrs. M. C. Wright by A. H. Wallis.

Mr. A. J. Milner having been voted to the Chair, the Secretary read the advertisement convening the meeting.

Proposed by Mr. S. Tremearne,
Seconded by Mr. James Kimber—

That the Accounts and Balance-Sheet as revised be passed as correct, and the revised report of the Directors be accepted.

Carried.

Proposed by Dr. H. W. Jones,
Seconded by M. J. Ralph—

That the shareholders are of opinion that it is desirable to reduce the capital of the Company as proposed by the Directors, who are authorized to take the necessary steps with that object.

Amendment,—proposed by Mr. G. C. Farr,
Seconded by Mr. W. J. Simmons—

That the question of the reduction of the capital be adjourned to the next half-yearly meeting of the Company, and that the Directors be prepared at such meeting to place before the share-holders full particulars of the value of the moveable property of the Company, and an estimate of the costs incidental to the carrying out of the proposed reduction of the capital. The amendment being put to the meeting, was lost, and the original proposition carried.

Proposed by Mr. H. Mackintosh,
Seconded by Dr. A. Solomon—

That a final dividend of 2 per cent., or Rs. 5 per share for the year ended 28th February 1882, be declared, payable on and after the 8th August next to share-holders whose names are on the Register on this date.

Carried.

Mr. Gregory's (the General Manager) matter was next brought forward. The Chairman stated under what circumstances the General Manager had obtained leave of absence for twelve months on full pay, and asked for the sense of the meeting as to further leave being granted if Mr. Gregory's health required it, or, in event of his returning to the country in comparatively restored health, whether his services are to be entertained again, or in the event of Mr. Gregory's resigning the service, whether a retiring bonus be granted him.

After a few remarks from two or three share-holders, the sense of the meeting was against granting an extension of leave or bonus.

Proposed by Mr. H. Mackintosh,
Seconded by Mr. J. H. S. Isaac—

That the Commission to the Secretary, and also to the Manager of one per cent. be calculated on the profits, after reduction of 3½ per cent. for the bad and doubtful debts of the year.

Carried.

Proposed by Mr. S. Tremearne,
Seconded by Dr. A. Solomon—

That the Directors be authorised to incur any necessary expenditure not exceeding fifteen thousand rupees for the improvement of the sanitation, water-supply, drainage, lighting, ventilation, and cleanliness of the hotel, and to make any additions and improvements to the block, which, in their opinion, may be desirable and proper.

Carried.

After a vote of thanks to the Chair the meeting separated.

(374—1) A. J. MILNER, Chairman.

REVISED RULES FOR THE AWARD OF PRIMARY, JUNIOR, AND SENIOR SCHOLARSHIPS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 26th July 1882.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 3760, dated the 12th June 1882, submitting a set of amended rules for the award of primary, junior, and senior scholarships.

THE Lieutenant-Governor approves the substitution of the following rules for those now in force for the award of primary, junior, and senior scholarships:—

LOWER PRIMARY SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

1. These scholarships are open to candidates from all primary schools, whether aided or unaided; but no primary school will be permitted to send up candidates in the same year for both lower and upper primary scholarships.

2. Not more than one scholarship will be granted in any year to one school. No candidate above the age of 11 years will be eligible for a lower primary scholarship.

3. Lower primary scholarships will be awarded by the Magistrate, in consultation with the District Committee of Public Instruction, on the results of the examination held by the inspecting staff of each district at centres previously fixed. The scholarships will be of the value of Rs. 2 a month, and will be tenable for two years, conditionally on the good conduct and satisfactory progress of the holder, at any upper primary, middle vernacular, or middle English school. No scholarship shall be withdrawn from its holder for misconduct, or for any other cause, without the sanction of the District Magistrate.

4. No examination fee will be charged to candidates for these scholarships.

5. No candidate will be permitted to compete who has not studied for at least one year in the school in which he is at the time of the examination.

6. A primary scholarship will carry with it the privilege of free tuition in Government and aided schools during the tenure of the scholarship.

7. The following will be the subjects of examination for primary scholarships—

		Marks.
(1)	Hand-writing	50
	Reading of manuscript	50
	Bodhodoy, reading and explanation	100
(2)	Arithmetic up to the first four rules, simple and compound, according to the European method ...	75
	Subhankari	75
(3)	Bazar accounts	50
	Zemindari accounts	50
	Simple mensuration...	50
(4)	Sanitary Primer, reading and explanation	100
	Total ...	600

8. In order to pass the primary scholarship examination, candidates must obtain one-fourth of the marks in each group of subjects, and two-fifths of the aggregate marks.

UPPER PRIMARY SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

1. These scholarships are open to candidates from upper primary schools, whether aided or unaided, and are awarded on the results of an annual examination held by the circle inspector; but no candidate may be sent up from any school from which a pupil has competed for a lower primary scholarship during the same year.

2. Not more than one scholarship will be granted in any year to one school. No candidate above the age of 13 years will be eligible for an upper primary scholarship.

3. The scholarships will be of the value of Rs. 3 a month, and will be tenable for two years conditionally on the good conduct and satisfactory progress of the holder, at any middle English or middle vernacular school. No scholarship shall be withdrawn from its holder for misconduct or any other cause without the sanction of the Circle Inspector.

4. The scholarships will carry with them in addition to the stipend the privilege of free tuition in all Government and aided schools of the classes specified in the preceding paragraph.

5. The following will be the subjects of examination for upper primary scholarships :—

	Marks.
I.—Bengali language	100
II.—History and Geography of Bengal	100
III.—Arithmetic	150
IV.—Euclid, Book I	50
V.—Elements of Natural Philosophy and Physical Science	100
VI.—Sanitary Primers	100
Total ...	600

6. To gain an upper primary scholarship, a candidate will be required to obtain 33 per cent. of the total marks in the Bengali language and in the arithmetic paper; and to gain an upper primary certificate he will be required to obtain 25 per cent of the marks in each of those subjects. In the remaining subjects credit will be allowed for all marks obtained. Subject to these conditions, all marks will be added up, and the scholarships or certificates will be awarded according to the aggregate number of marks gained by each candidate.

7. At each examination the successful candidates will be arranged in three divisions—

1. Those obtaining half marks and upwards in the first division.
2. Those obtaining more than three-eighths marks and less than half marks in the second division.
3. Those obtaining more than one-quarter marks and less than three-eighths marks in the third division.

8. Each Circle Inspector will conduct the scholarship examination for his circle. The fee payable by candidates for these scholarships will be eight annas.

JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

One hundred and fifty-two junior scholarships are awarded annually at the University Entrance Examination to successful candidates educated at schools in Bengal.

2. The scholarships are of three grades:—10 of the first grade carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 20, 47 of the second grade carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 15, and 95 of the third grade carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 10.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a junior scholarship may be held at any one of the affiliated colleges in Bengal which the holder may select.

4. Each scholarship will, subject to good conduct, be tenable for two years, provided the holder is certified by the Principal of his college at the end of the first year to have made due progress in a collegiate course of instruction.

5. The holder of a junior scholarship in an institution not under the management of Government will be liable at any time to be examined by two persons appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, and approved by the Principal of the college to which he belongs; and on proof of unsatisfactory progress, to be deprived of his scholarship.

6. No candidate will be eligible who has not studied for the previous nine months in the school to which he belongs at the time of presenting himself at the Entrance Examination.

7. The scholarships of the first grade will be awarded to the ten candidates who obtain the highest aggregate marks.

8. The scholarships of the second and third grades will, subject to future reconsideration, be allotted to the several Commissionerships in the following proportions :—

	Second grade	Third grade.
Burdwan Division	6	12
Town of Calcutta	5	10
Presidency Division	7	13
Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division	6	10
Dacca Division	7	11
Chittagong Division	1	7
Patna Division	6	12
Bhagulpore Division	3	9
Orissa Division	4	6
Chota Nagpore Division	2	5
Total ...	47	95

9. The Commissioner of the Division, in consultation with the Circle Inspector, will notify in the Calcutta Gazette, not later than the 1st May of each year, the number of junior scholarships to be allotted to each district at the ensuing December examination. Scholarships not taken up in the district or division to which they are assigned, may be awarded by the Director of Public Instruction at his discretion to deserving candidates from other divisions, special regard being had to the requirements of those parts of the country in which it is considered desirable to stimulate the demand for a collegiate education.

10. No candidate who cannot read and write with facility and correctness one of the vernacular languages of Bengal will be eligible for a junior scholarship.

11. The holders of scholarships in all Government colleges will be required to pay the usual monthly fees levied from other students, provided that no scholarship holder shall be required to pay a higher fee than Rs. 10 per mensem.

SPECIAL SCHOLARSHIPS FOR GIRLS.

Three junior scholarships, one of each grade, will be open annually for competition at the Entrance Examination to female candidates educated in any school in Bengal. They will be tenable in some collegiate institution approved by the Director of Public Instruction. These scholarships will be awarded on conditions similar to those prescribed for boys' scholarships.

SENIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

Forty-nine senior scholarships will be open annually for competition at the First Examination in Arts to candidates educated in any college in Bengal affiliated to the University of Calcutta.

2. These scholarships will be of two grades—10 of the first grade carrying stipends of Rs. 25 per mensem, and 39 of the second grade carrying stipends of Rs. 20 per mensem.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction a senior scholarship may be held at any affiliated college in Bengal which may be selected by the holder.

4. Each scholarship will, conditionally on good conduct, be tenable for two years, provided that the holder is certified at the end of the first year by the Principal of his college to have made due progress in a collegiate course of instruction.

5. Second year students alone will be eligible for scholarships, i.e., those students who have passed the Entrance Examination two years before presenting themselves for the First Examination in Arts.

6. The ten scholarships of the first grade will be open to all affiliated institutions without distinction, and will be awarded to the candidates who obtain the highest total marks in all subjects.

7. The thirty-nine scholarships of the second grade will, subject to future re-consideration, be reserved for students at affiliated institutions in different parts of Bengal, in the following proportions :—

	Number of scholarships.
Hooghly District	6
Midnapore , ...	2
Town of Calcutta	9
Presidency Division outside Calcutta	3
Moorshedabad District	2
Rajshahye District	3
Dacca and Chittagong Divisions	6
Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions	6
Orissa Division	2
Total ...	39

The scholarships will be awarded to the candidates from each tract who obtain the highest marks at the examination, and who do not gain scholarships of the first grade, provided that their names appear in the first or second division of the list of passed candidates. Scholarships may, however, be awarded in special cases to candidates from Behar or Orissa who fall below the second division.

8. The holders of senior scholarships in all Government colleges will be required to pay the usual monthly fees levied from other students.

SPECIAL SCHOLARSHIPS FOR GIRLS.

Two senior scholarships, one of each grade, will be open annually for competition at the First Examination in Arts to female candidates educated at any college in Bengal affiliated to the University of Calcutta. These scholarships will be awarded on conditions similar to those laid down for senior scholarships, and will be tenable in some collegiate institution approved by the Director of Public Instruction.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1881-82.

MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Calcutta, the 31st July 1882.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for 1881, and the Vaccination Report for 1881-82.

Read also—

The Reports for 1880 and for 1880-81 respectively, and the Resolutions recorded thereon.

Under the orders of Government, the Vaccination Report has this year been included in the General Report of the Sanitary Commissioner. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that it has been found possible to reduce considerably the bulk of these Reports, which, taken together, are now only half as voluminous as those for the previous year. The mass of appended matter, however, is still considerable, and seems capable of further condensation. The delay in submission of the Report, which was not received till nearly two months after the appointed date, has been explained by Dr. Lidderdale, and the reasons assigned are accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. The temperature of the year 1881 was 75·01° against an average of 76·02°. The total rainfall of the year was somewhat higher than usual, being 67·51 inches against an average of 65·18. The excess was shared by all parts of the Province, except the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division, and the districts of Moorshedabad, Mymensingh, Shahabad, and Bhagulpore. In Midnapore the excess fall was as much as 20 inches.

3. The number of births registered during the year was 38,856, exclusive of 1,574 children still-born. This is an improvement upon the results of the work of 1880, when only 35,779 births were registered. The area throughout which birth registration is in force was unchanged during the year. It comprises 46 towns, situated in 30 districts, with a total population, according to the Census of 1872, of 1,522,672. Calculated on this population, the number of births registered during 1881 gives a proportion of 25·51 per mille against 23·44, the proportion registered in 1880. The improvement is satisfactory as far as it goes, but there can be no doubt that the true rate is much in excess of these figures. It would have been more satisfactory had the proportions, both of births and deaths, been calculated on the population as recorded in the recent Census; and it is not understood why no steps were taken to procure the necessary figures. The towns in which the best results were obtained were—

In Purulia, Barh, Monghyr, and Arrah the increase over the figures for the previous year has been most marked, and there can be little question that it is due to the greater care that has been bestowed upon the subject of registration. It is unsatisfactory to find that 24 towns show a decrease, which ranges from ·61 per 1,000 in Chumparun to 8·68 in Cuttack. In no less than 15 districts the towns in which births are registered gave a rate of less than 25 per mille, while in Jessore, Rampore Beauleah and Purneah the rate was only 12·26, 14·93, and 15·07 respectively. The number of male births was 20,608, and the proportion of male to female births was 114 per cent. The corresponding number last year was 19,184, with a proportion of 116 per cent. The English proportion of male to female births, 104 per cent., was approached in six towns only: these were Bankoora, Serampore, Hooghly, Midnapore, Mozufferpore, and Nuddea. In only one of these, Serampore, was the total number of births in excess of 30 per mille, while in Midnapore, Mozufferpore, and Nuddea the proportion per mille was less than 20.

4. The number of deaths registered during the year was 1,255,478 against 922,633, the number recorded in 1880. The proportion per 1,000 of the population rose from 15·40 to 20·96. This increase is satisfactory, so far as it is due to better registration; and no doubt much of it may fairly be attributed to the greater attention paid to the subject by district and local officers. Much of the increase in the recorded number of deaths, however, is unquestionably due to the great unhealthiness of the year. Both cholera and fever prevailed to a most unusual extent. According to the Sanitary Commissioner "the present year does not find a parallel in point of fatality among any of the 12 years since registration was inaugurated in 1870." The increase among registered deaths was contributed to by urban and rural circle alike, though not to an equal extent. Thus the number of deaths was—

	Urban.	Rural.
In 1880	63,784	858,849
Increase ...	15,064	317,781

The proportions per mille were—

In 1881	33 47	20·45
In 1880	26 86	14 93
Increase ...	6·61	5·52

Every district, except Dinagepore, contributed to the increase, which was most marked in Nuddea, Moorshedabad, Bankoora, and Hazaribagh. The districts which show the highest death-rates are—

Nuddea ...	... 46·74	Bankoora ...	... 28·16
Patna ...	... 33·50	Burdwan ...	... 27·63
Moorshedabad	... 30 98	Cuttack ...	... 27·26

Beerbhoom	... 29·93	Pooree ...	... 25·36
Hazaribagh ...	... 25·32

The Sanitary Commissioner considers that in Nuddea a very large number of deaths must have escaped registration. Special attention has been bestowed on this district in consequence of the lamentable and unprecedented prevalence of fever, and special facilities existed for testing the accuracy of the returns. The worst results were obtained in Chumparun, Pubna, Durbhunga, Furreedpore, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Tipperah, Darjeeling, and Mymensingh. In Furreedpore, where the registered death-rate was only 14·25 per mille, the Magistrate "believes, from an inspection of the registers kept at all the police-stations which he visited twice, that deaths are for the most part accurately registered throughout the district, that is, as near perfection as it can be in a district of Eastern Bengal." The Lieutenant-Governor does not share this belief. In Bankoora, it is reported that a great improvement in registration has followed the introduction of the scheme of appointing regular police beats, and making the chowkidar responsible for reporting occurrences within his area. It is clear, however, that this plan must depend for its success on the closeness and frequency with which the operations of the police are watched and tested by the local officers. The Sanitary Commissioner points out the difficulty of obtaining correct statistics through the agency of the police. "They look upon registration as extra work illegitimately thrown upon them, and take no interest in carrying it out." Dr. Liddendale therefore proposes that a special paid agency should be employed for this purpose. This is a proposal, however, which cannot for the present be entertained. The local officers must endeavour to make the most of the agency available to them in the manner enjoined in previous Government orders. Mr. Rivers Thompson hopes it will be found possible in some districts to interest the local Boards, shortly to be constituted, in the work of collecting vital statistics, and where this is feasible better results may be expected.

5. Of the total number of deaths registered, 686,825 were of males and 568,653 of females. The percentage of male to female deaths during 1881 was therefore 120 against 127 in 1880 and 129 the average of the five years 1876—80 These figures indicate that some advance is being made, though slowly, in the direction of accuracy. In the districts of Hooghly, Beerbhoom, Bankoora. Burdwan, Cuttack, Balasore, Pooree, Patna, Gya, and Lohardugga the English percentage of 109 was closely approximated; but in Maldah, Dinagepore, Sarun, Mozufferpore, Durbhunga, Pubna, Tipperah, Darjeeling, and Mymensingh the registered proportion of male to female deaths exceeded 130 per cent., and the returns must be regarded as useless. A slight improvement is manifest in the recorded death-rate of children under one year of age. This has risen from 11·61 per cent. of total mortality, as registered in 1880, to 12·26 per cent. in the year under review. Still-born children are not included in these figures. The percentage is still so enormously under the truth as to be devoid of all value for statistical purposes. The Compulsory Registration Act, IV (B C.) of 1873, was introduced during the year into the towns of Bansberiah, Baidyabatti, Bhadressar, Kotrung, Pandooah, Mugrah, Khanakool, Shambazar, Bally, and Kuargunge, and is now in force in 112 towns. Prosecutions under its provisions were instituted in 23 towns against 363 persons, of whom 220 were convicted Last year the Lieutenant-Governor was compelled to notice the lax administration of the Act in Rampore Beauleah, where, of 10 persons prosecuted, not one was convicted. It is therefore most unsatisfactory to find that, during the year under review, even this insignificant amount of energy was not maintained. During 1881 one person only appears to have been prosecuted, and even this solitary case resulted in an acquittal. Where the local officers take so little interest in the work, it is hardly a matter for surprise that the registered birth-rate should be only 14·93 per mille. During the year under review the Port of Calcutta was visited by 14,328 European seamen, the average daily population being 2,791. Among these, 72 deaths occurred, giving a ratio of 25·80 per mille against 23·28 in the previous year. The main factor in the increase was cholera, which occasioned 34 deaths against 14 in 1880. There were also 7 deaths from diarrhœa and dysentery against 1 in the previous year; while the deaths from fevers rose from 2 to 8. On the other hand, the native floating population, which, according to the recent Census, numbered 25,409, seems to have suffered less severely than in 1880, the death-rate per mille of persons treated having fallen from 17·03 to 16·19 in the past year. The death-rate per 1,000 of total population was, however, higher than in 1880 in this case also.

7. According to the returns Cholera, though far more prevalent than in 1880, was much less fatal in 1881 than in any other year since 1875. The number of deaths registered as resulting from this cause was 79,180, or at the rate of 1 32 per 1,000 of the population under registration. The number of deaths in the previous year was 39,643, and in 1879 it was 136,363. The death-rates per 1,000 in each year since 1875 were 1·80, 3·27, 2 58, 1·58, 2·27, and 1·25. The fatality from this source seems therefore not to have been abnormal, though it was higher than in the unusually healthy year 1880. During the past year it is reported to have prevailed epidemically in 41 circles, severely in 52, and mildly in 501. In only 80 circles was it reported altogether absent. The number of villages said to have been attacked was 23,250 against 9,447 in the previous year. The districts in which it is said to have displayed the greatest severity were—

In Chumparun and Pooree the death-rates were slightly below those for last year, and a decrease of mortality is also reported from Beerbhoom, Hazaribagh, Durbhunga, Lohardugga, and Chittagong. In every other district the number of recorded deaths from cholera is greater than that registered in 1880. The following table given by Dr. Lidderdale illustrates the apparent connection between cholera and rainfall :—

On the whole the disease prevailed mildly from June to September, when the rainfall was copious and the land well flooded and saturated; and it reached its maximum in the dry months of April, May, and December. There were no outbreaks at any of the large fairs during the year, and the chief pilgrim routes also escaped for the most part. At Bankoora, however, through which numbers of pilgrims pass every year in July on their way to Juggernath, there was a considerable accession of disease in that month; and 104 deaths occurred. Precautionary measures have been taken by the Magistrate and Civil Surgeon, which, it is hoped, will minimize the danger in future. At Khagoul, in Patna, an outbreak occurred in June, which was, however, checked by the exertions of Dr. Griffiths, the Surgeon of the East Indian Railway. In Midnapore, Nuddea, Cuttack, and Pooree cholera broke out along the pilgrim routes, but, except in the last-named district, with comparatively little severity. In Pooree, however, the mortality was very great. The death-rate from all causes in the town reached 96 per 1,000; but it is correctly pointed out by the Civil Surgeon that a proportion calculated on the Census population is altogether misleading, as it takes no account of the pilgrims, who are numerically very great, and among whom most of the deaths occur. The introduction of municipal institutions into Pooree has not yet produced any appreciable diminution in the prevalence of cholera in that town.

8. The returns show a slight increase in the mortality from Small-pox, the number of deaths registered rising from 22,953 in 1880 to 24,371 in the year under review. Only 8,759 villages, however, are said to have been attacked, against 9,148 in the previous year. The districts that suffered most severely were, as in 1880, Pooree, Cuttack, and Lohardugga, with the addition of Balasore, Noakholly, and Chittagong. The death-rate in Pooree reached the high figure of 17·53 per 1,000; while in Balasore it was 7·66. In the Contai thana of Midnapore district, where inoculation is practised, not a single death from Small-pox was reported, while the number registered in 1880 was 1,282. An outbreak occurred in Darjeeling, chiefly in the sub-division Kalimpong, and was believed to have been imported from Julpigoree. In Ranchi, where the disease had prevailed with some severity in former years, there was a great decrease in the number of deaths, only 12 being reported during the past year, against 205 in 1880. There were no deaths from small-pox among the Europeans in the Port of Calcutta, and only two among the native floating population.

9. The most marked feature of the year in the medical history of the Province was the very great increase in the mortality from Fever. This increase was shared by every part of the Province, and by every district except Jessore and Dinagepore. The number of deaths registered was 940,941 against 689,605, or an increase of 251,336 over the figures for the previous year. The proportion per 1,000 of population rose from 11·51 to 15·71, and the number of villages attacked from 69 per cent. to 87. The disease prevailed epidemically in 218 circles, severely in 167, and normally in 289. The largest number of deaths occurred in the last quarter of the year, after the rains had ceased and the soil was drying up, and the four months October, November, December, and January show a record of 416,246 deaths, or nearly half the total for the year. The healthiest season was the hot months of June and July.

Mean for the Province ...	15·71	11·51	11·11

After making the largest allowances for any improvement in registration there still remains evidence of the increased severity of this disease in many parts of Bengal. In Nuddea the mortality, though avowedly understated in the returns, has attained the most alarming proportions; and the progress of the disease has been watched by Government with the gravest anxiety. Every effort has been made to mitigate the sufferings of the people. A special staff of medical officers was deputed to the district, and was actively engaged throughout the fever season. Medicines were lavishly distributed free of cost, and the assistance of zemindars, factory managers, and missionaries was invoked, and everywhere freely accorded. In the latter part of the year Government resolved on appointing a Commission to visit the worst parts of the district, and enquire into the conditions and causes of the outbreak. Dr. Lidderdale, Sanitary Commissioner, Mr. A. W. Paul, Joint-Magistrate, and Mr H. Wickes, Superintending Engineer, were appointed to the Commission, and these officers spent the cold weather of 1881-82 in inspecting the fever-stricken villages and collecting information. The result of their investigations was embodied in a report, which is now under the consideration of Government, and will be fully noticed in due course. The districts of Bankoora and Beerbhoom experienced a large accession of the disease, which the efforts of the local officers were unable to hold in check. In Midnapore the Burdwan fever is reported to have prevailed more or less severely throughout the whole district. In Moorshedabad and Rajshahye the mortality was only less than in Nuddea; while in Behar the districts that suffered most were Patna, Gya, Shahabad, and Mozufferpore. The causes attributed are almost everywhere the same—impurity of drinking-water, uncleanly habits of the people, and water-logging of the soil owing to obstructions to natural drainage. This last cause of disease is the one most frequently put forward by the people themselves, and it has formed the subject of extensive and searching enquiry. The question is far from being settled, but the investigations that have so far been made have not hitherto tended to confirm the popular belief. The subject is receiving the earnest attention of Government, but the Lieutenant-Governor is not sanguine of speedily arriving at a complete solution of the difficulty.

10. The working of the Vaccination Department during the year was on the whole satisfactory. The operations of the Government vaccinators were extended for the first time to seven thanas in Purneah, two in Maldah, three in Bhagulpore, five in Mymensingh, and to some outposts in Pooree. The area thus protected covers 6,035 square miles, and contains a population of 2,070,413, of whom 329,813 were vaccinated, or a proportion of 15·92 per 1,000. In addition to the above, six thanas of Purneah, the Phansedewah subdivision of Darjeeling, and the entire Sonthal Pergunnahs district were made over to the licensed vaccinators. Some work has also been done by the medical officers attached to dispensaries and in municipalities. The following table shows the number of operations performed in each vaccination circle:—

Circles.	Total number of vaccinations performed.		Difference in 1881-82.
	In 1881-82.	In 1880-81.	Increase.	Decrease.
Calcutta	6,955	6,085	870	.....
Metropolitan Circles	314,408	384,216	.....	69,808
Suburbs of Calcutta	13,876	15,691	.....	1,815
Total of Metropolitan Circles ...	328,284	399,907	.....	71,623
Darjeeling Circle	341,973	344,071	.....	2,098
Ranchi Circle	169,333	147,694	21,639	.....
Sonthal Pergunnahs Circle	93,866	87,872	5,994	...
Eastern Bengal Circle	288,929	294,540	.....	5,611
Orissa Circle	40,908	44,507	.....	3,599
Behar Circle	14,677	14,336	341	.....
Total of Vaccination Circles ...	1,284,925	1,339,012	.....	54,087
Municipalities and Dispensaries	64,682	55,300	9,382	.....
Grand Total ...	1,349,607	1,394,312	.....	44,705

The total number of vaccinations performed was 1,349,607 against 1,394,312 in the previous year. The decrease was confined to the Metropolitan, Darjeeling, Eastern Bengal, and Orissa Circles. There was a very creditable increase in the Ranchi and Sonthal Pergunnahs Circles, while vaccination in Calcutta and Behar remained nearly stationary. The Metropolitan Circle has been gone over four or five times by Government vaccinators in previous years, and a steady and progressive decrease is to be expected for some time to come. In Darjeeling great difficulties have been experienced owing to the sickness of the establishment, the paucity of vaccinifers, and to the opposition of the people. Much assistance is reported to have been rendered by Mr. A. W. Paul, Sub-divisional Officer of Kalimpong, by which vaccination was even carried across the border into Bhootan proper. There was a satisfactory increase of 9,382 in the number of vaccinations performed in municipalities, and dispensaries, the best results being obtained in Howrah, Nuddea, Rajshahye, Darjeeling, Furreedpore, Backergunge, Tipperah, Patna, and Mozufferpore.

11. The number of operations reported to be successful was 1,321,377 against 1,363,925 in the previous year. The percentage of successful primary cases was 98·39 against 98·23 in 1880-81, and among secondary cases it was 43·24 against 33·86. The latter figures cannot be accepted as reliable except in the Calcutta, Suburban, and Behar Circles, where the percentages respectively were 5·40, 28·57, and 20 In Ranchi the percentage of successful secondary cases is given as 91·52, and in Eastern Bengal as 100. Similar impossible returns were submitted last year, and were noticed in the Resolution then recorded, and the Lieutenant-Governor considers it unsatisfactory that no improvement should have been effected during the past 12 months. The average number of operations performed by each vaccinator fell from 1,256 to 1,224, the decrease occurring in the Darjeeling, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Eastern Bengal, and Orissa Circles. There was a considerable increase in the average number of operations performed in the Calcutta, Suburban, and Ranchi Circles. Altogether 771,316 vaccinations were performed by licensed agents against 504,351 performed by Government operators. Of the 1,337,631 persons successfully vaccinated, there were—

Under one year of age	...	...	150,235
Above six years	...	...	334,867

and the proportions per cent. were—

	1880-81.	1881-82.
Infants	12·05	11·23
Children under six	59·54	62·13
Adults	26 64	25·03

In view of the fact that of the total deaths from small-pox upwards of 72 per cent. occurred among children under 12 years of age, the percentage of infant vaccinations cannot be regarded as satisfactory. It is especially bad in the Suburban, Eastern Bengal, Orissa, and Behar Circles, where the percentages respectively were 9·98, 7·17, 2·61, and 6·13. Of the total number of persons vaccinated, 52·15 per cent. were males and 47·84 females, the corresponding proportions last year being 52·40 and 47·57. The various races received vaccination to the following extent :—

	Percentage of total vaccinations.
Christians	·23
Hindus	47·86
Mahomedans	38·93
Others	5·35

12. The total expenditure on vaccination amounted to Rs. 1,24,400-11-2, or at the rate of 1 anna 6 pie for each successful case, against Rs. 1,11,066-5-10, or 1 anna 3 pie per case in the previous year. The increase was common to all the circles except Calcutta and Eastern Bengal. The expenditure was incurred thus—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Operations of Government establishment	72,653	10	4
Ditto by establishment for supervising licensed agency	44,465	1	8
Ditto by municipal establishment	7,281	15	2

In addition to this, Rs. 200 was paid to vaccinators for Chittagong and Ungool. Private vaccinators were also entertained by the Rajahs of Nuddea, Durbhunga, Narayn, Hutwa, Gopalgunge, and Bhori.

13. The number of villages visited by Superintendents was 2,660, by Deputy Superintendents 4,098, and by Superintending Vaccinators 15,171. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to have to call attention to the insufficient amount of inspection work done in several circles, notably by the officers of the Metropolitan Circle, by the Superintendent of Orissa, the Deputy Superintendents of the Suburbs and of Ranchi, and the Superintending Vaccinators of Behar. The explanations given are quite insufficient and the Lieutenant-Governor is compelled to infer that the local inspecting officers have neglected their duties. The matter should receive the early attention of the Sanitary Commissioner. In Calcutta the people are said to be unwilling to bring forward their children for fear of losing the lymph.

14. The Compulsory Vaccination Act, V (B.C.) of 1880, was introduced during the year into the towns of Rungpore, Rampore Boauleah, Soory, Hooghly and Chinsurah, Pubna and Bogra. It has also recently been extended to Howrah. No difficulty was anywhere experienced in working the Act. The people in most cases yielded to simple persuasion, and in the few instances where they proved refractory, the issue of a summons was almost always effectual. In Calcutta the provisions are said to have been carried out smoothly and leniently. Applications for home vaccination are on the increase, though the people are not yet fully alive to their obligations under the law. The proposals made by the Civil Medical Officer of Serampore, and the Superintendents of the Metropolitan and Darjeeling Circles, to introduce the Act into their respective charges, should be submitted in the proper form. Generally speaking, vaccination appears to be making progress throughout the Province, and to have already acquired a firm footing among most classes of the people. Opposition fostered by caste prejudices is occasionally offered, and in some places the masses have not yet learnt to recognize the efficacy of the process, but, as a rule, it is accepted with readiness and docility, and in some parts is even sought after and voluntarily paid for. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to hear of a recurrence of the opposition formerly shown by certain zemindars—Lila Nand Singh of Champanagar, the zemindar of Maliarah in Bankoora, the Nundees of Polasee, and the Deys of Ghosepore in Midnapore. Such cases, however, are said to have been few in number. On the other hand, much valuable assistance has been rendered to the working of the Department, not only by District and Sub-divisional Officers, but by many native gentlemen whose names are too numerous to mention.

15. The proportion of municipal income spent on sanitary works was 23·93 per cent. against 26·18 in the previous year. The total actual expenditure on this account was Rs 6,68,157, in addition to which a sum of

Rs. 4,51,993 was spent on the construction and maintenance of roads—a work which in most Indian towns plays a very important part in sanitary operations. There was again an increase in the expenditure on conservancy and conservancy establishment and drainage. The falling off of over Rs. 50,000 under the head of water-supply is due to the large outlay incurred in 1880 on the water-works schemes of Dacca and Darjeeling, and on improving the tanks at Pooree. Not a few important sanitary works were taken in hand or projected during the year. Prominent among these were,—the Eden, or Jajooti Canal Project, by which a supply of good water is made available for the districts of Burdwan and Hooghly, and which is already reported to have mitigated the virulence of fever and cholera in the tracts through which it passes; the Burdwan water-supply scheme, by which it is proposed to bring filtered water from the Damuda river to that town; the schemes for extending the water-supply of Dacca, Darjeeling and Howrah; the construction of the Govindpore lake, in the Manbhoom district, which will supply good drinking-water to passengers along the Grand Trunk Road; the completion of the Dinagepore main drainage channel; and several other works which are none the less useful for being comparatively small. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to hear of the improvements that have been effected in the towns of Dacca, Darjeeling, Monghyr, Ranchi, Durbhunga, Howrah, and Mozufferpore, though in Dacca and Durbhunga the Sanitary Commissioner considers that much still remains to be done. Great credit is due to the Municipal Commissioners of Ranchi and Monghyr for the excellency of their general arrangements and the interest they evinced in their work. Monghyr is said to be in many respects a model town. On the other hand, the sanitary condition of Bankoora, Arrah, Bhagulpore, Old Malda, Kishnaghur, City Moorshedabad, Berhampore, Motiharee, Pubna, Kushtea, and Purneah still continues bad. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that now that municipalities have been relieved of the former heavy charges for police, they will forthwith address themselves with energy and determination to the task of sanitary reform.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of the above Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Surgeon-General, Bengal, and to all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the above Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 29th July 1882.

8	Khoolna „ 29 „	0·28	Unusual absence of rain. Transplanting of amun rice progressing and other rice crops favourable, but more rain would improve them.
9	Jessore, „ 29 „	0·54	Weather—cloudy, with a little rain at the end of the week. Aus crops are being reaped in some parts with better results than last year. Prospects of amun are not so good as expected, owing to the want of sufficient rain in all parts of the district. Public health good. A few cases of cholera reported in Magurah and Narail.
	Jhenida ...	0·61
	Magurah ...	0·88
	Narail ...	1·65
10	Moorshedabad, „ 29 „	0·49	Weather—hot and close. Rainfall scanty. Harvesting of bhadoi has commenced in some places. Transplantiag of amun going on, but much retarded for want of rain. Fever reported from many places.
	RAJSHAHYE AND COOCH BEHAR DIVN.
11	Dinagepore, July 28 '82	0·37	Weather—intensely hot, rain almost nil. Rain badly wanted both for aus and amun, especially for the latter. Jute and sugarcane would be the better for it.
12	Rajshahye, „ 29 „	2·94	Weather—sultry and cloudy. Heavy rain urgently required. Aus paddy and kaon being harvested in parts of the district. Prospects of amun paddy and jute tolerably favourable. Several fatal cases of cholera in Ranigur and Rajapore outposts Fever prevalent everywhere. Rice rising in price; now 22 to 24 seers for the rupee.
	Nattore ...	Nil
13	Rungpore, „ 28 „	0·41	Weather—mostly hot and dry. Rainfall very deficient, and rain much wanted for the transplanting of the winter rice which has been brought to a stand-still. Prospects of sugarcane good. Good crops of jute and early rice are being harvested.
14	Bogra, „ 29 „	0·16	The week has been more dry and hot than the preceding one. The corresponding week in 1881 gave a rainfall of 4·81 inches. The crops are on the whole good, but rain is wanted throughout the district. In Sherpore and Adamdighi police stations paddy and jute are not doing well for want of rain. Health generally good. Fever reported from Sherpore and Bogra police stations.
15	Pubna, „ 29 „	0·28	Weather—close and hot. Aus crop is being harvested with fair outturn.
	Serajgunge ...	0·22	Amun is suffering from want of rain, and the soaking of jute from want of flood water in the khals.
16	Darjeeling, „ 29 „	3·61	A pleasant break of fine weather in Hills, good for tea and other crops. Rain insufficient for transplanting rice in the Terai.
17	Julpigoree, „ 29 „	3·50	Insufficient rain. Standing crops good, but for want of rain transplanting of kaimanti rice, except in low-lying lands, is retarded
	Cooch Behar, „ 28 „	0·85	Weather—very hot and close. Want of rain is being felt Cutting of early rice going on. Prospects of jute good. Transplanting of late rice checked for want of rain. Public health good. Rice selling at Rs 2-4 per maund.

	ORISSA DIVN.
38	Cuttack, July 28 „	3·94	Weather—cloudy with occasional rain. Beali and sarad rice being reploughed and progressing well Rivers in the Jajpore sub-division were in flood, and overflowed their banks in some places, but have receded and no damage to crops has been done. Common rice selling at from 21 to 30 seers per rupee. Cholera still reported, especially in the town of Cuttack
39	Pooree, „ 27 „	3·41	Weather—seasonable. Puddling and transplanting of sarad paddy going on
	Khurda ..	4 50	Sugarcane and cotton thriving well Common rice sells at from 22 to 32 Calcutta seers for the rupee. Public health good.
40	Balasore, „ 28 „	4·63	Weather—cloudy and rainy, Crops are doing well. Weeding and transplanting going on. Public health good.
	CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazaribagh, July 28 '82	5·11	Heavy showers occasionally followed by sunshine. Prospects generally good. Transplanting of paddy continues. General health good.
42	Lohardugga, „ 29 „	3·92	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of bhadoi crops continue favourable. Transplanting of winter paddy is well advanced at head quarters, but more rain is wanted for the purpose in Palamow sub-division. Prices easy. Cattle-disease reported from one thana. Fever prevalent in Hosainabad and elsewhere, otherwise public health good.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Eastern Bengal Railway for the four weeks ending 20th May 1882.

Report on Goods Traffic for the four weeks ending 20th May 1882.

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY COMPANY, TRAFFIC SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, SEALDAH TERMINUS.

No. W—30-781, dated Calcutta, the 13th July 1882.

From—W. INNES, ESQ., Traffic Superintendent, Eastern Bengal Railway Company,
To—The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway Company.

I BEG to forward the usual comparative statement of traffic for the four weeks ending the 20th May last, from which it will be seen that the gross weight carried over the railway during that period was 8,70,507 maunds, being an increase of 1,06,060 maunds, or 14 per cent. over the figures for the corresponding period of 1881.

It will be noticed there is a very large increase in cotton, jute, railway materials, tobacco, and sugar, which is, however, considerably counterbalanced by a decrease in grain, including rice, salt, and seeds.

Increases.

Cotton in bundles	6,768	Mds.
Less do. in bales	348	„
Net increase	6,420	„

Demand from Europe has had the effect of raising the price of this staple, consequently holders have disposed more freely of their stock.

Gunny in bundles	1,764	Mds.
Ditto in bales	192	„
Net increase	1,956	„

The increase in this staple is due to higher prices in the market consequent on a greater demand for export.

Jute in drums	63,293	Mds.
Do. in bales	21,993	„
Net increase	85,286	„

It will be seen that there is an increase of 143 per cent. in this staple, which is attributable to the abundant crops of last season.

Railway materials (foreign) ... 97,126 Mds.

This increase is due to materials forwarded for the Bengal Central Railway at present under construction.

Sugar ... 16,580 Mds.

This staple still maintains the improvement formerly recorded. Prices have been more in favour of producers than during the corresponding period of last year.

Tea ... 2,394 Mds.

The new season's teas is now beginning to arrive. The season is somewhat earlier than last year, hence the increase, 6,000 maunds, came from the Darjeeling and Himalayan Railway, and over 3,000 maunds from the Northern Bengal State Railway.

Tobacco ... 12,836 Mds.

The traffic in this staple continues to improve. Stocks are at present small in the bazar, and considerable quantities are arriving, principally from the Northern Bengal State Railway.

Decreases.

Grain, including rice ... 72,345 Mds.

The large decrease is due firstly to a demand having set in for certain grains in the Assam districts where the prices have been better than that offered in Calcutta, and where supplies are being despatched by steamer direct. Secondly, the low rate ruling for rice in Calcutta has induced merchants to keep back supplies.

Salt ... 36,250 Mds.

The very large decrease in the import of this staple from Europe has caused a like decrease over this railway.

Seeds ... 9,744 Mds.

This staple has continued to decline for many months, and has been observable during periods of brisk demand as well as of stagnation in the market. This would point to the supposition that these are giving place to more remunerative crops.

Secy to the Govt. of Bengal.

[First Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 5th August 1882.—The following arrangements for weather signals for the approaches to the Port of Calcutta, and for the port itself, have been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information, in supersession of those published in the notification, dated the 20th November 1874, at pages 1763-64 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 9th December 1874.

Weather Signals for the approaches to the Port of Calcutta.

1. When a severe cyclonic storm (probably accompanied by a storm-wave) is believed to be advancing to the Bengal coast and across Bengal, one or other of the following signals will be hoisted at the flag-staff near the Light-house in Saugor Island, at Mud Point, and at the flag-staff near the telegraph office, Diamond Harbour, on receipt of instructions telegraphed by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal:—

Day signal No. 1, bad weather signal.

A ball indicates the existence of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude in the Bay of Bengal, which will either certainly cross the coast to the south of a line between Chittagong and False Point, or which may approach the Bengal coast, but is as yet too far distant to enable its line of advance to be determined.

Day signal No. 2, danger signal.

A cone indicates the early probable passage northward and to the eastward of Saugor Island and west of Chittagong, of the vortex of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude. It is advisable that no sailing vessels, with or without steam, should put out to sea, or that deep-laden or slow steaming steam-vessels should go to sea. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably haul from north-east through north to north-west, &c.

Day signal No. 3, danger signal.

An inverted cone indicates the early probable passage northward and to the westward of Saugor Island and north of False Point, of the vortex of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude. No vessels should go to sea and masters and pilots of vessels outward-bound, guided by the weather tokens and height of the barometer, should use their discretion in proceeding below Diamond Harbour or Mud Point. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably veer from north-east through east to south-east, &c.

Day signal No. 4, great danger signal.

A drum indicates the approach of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude to the mouth of the Hooghly. Masters and pilots in charge of vessels are cautioned not to put to sea from Saugor Island, or to proceed down from Diamond Harbour, and they should make their vessels as snug and secure as possible.

2. When a small cyclonic storm (usually not accompanied by a storm-wave) is believed to have formed in the Bay, and to be advancing towards the coast, one or other of the following signals will be hoisted, for the information of pilots and mariners, at the staff near the light-house at Saugor Island, at the flagstaff at Mud Point, and at the flagstaff near the telegraph office, Diamond Harbour, on the receipt of instructions telegraphed from the Meteorological office, Calcutta, by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal:—

Day signal No. 5, bad weather signal.

Two cones, the upper one inverted, indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm of small extent in the Bay of Bengal, which will probably reach and cross the coast of the Bay south of a line joining Chittagong and False Point.

Day signal No. 6, warning signal.

Two cones, the lower one inverted, indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm of small extent, which will probably or certainly reach and cross the coast or the Bay north of a line joining Chittagong and False Point, but the probable path of the vortex of which cannot be determined from the land observations.

Day signal No. 7, warning signal.

A ball below a cone indicates the probable passage northwards and to the eastward of Saugor Island and west of Chittagong of a cyclonic storm of small extent and intensity, of the kind which usually forms in the rainy season. Vessels may proceed to sea if the height of the barometer, state of the sea and weather are such as to lead masters and pilots to infer that there is no danger. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably haul from north-east through north to north-west, &c.

Day signal No. 8, warning signal.

A ball below an inverted cone indicates the probable passage northwards and to the westwards of Saugor Island and north of False Point, of a cyclonic storm of small extent and intensity, of the kind which usually forms in the rainy season. As the wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably veer from north-east through east to south-east, &c., and as consequently there will be a heavy swell and strong westerly set in the channel at the Sandheads, it is advisable that only fast steamers in light trim should put to sea, if the weather appearances and state of the sea, &c., admit of it.

Day signal No. 9, danger signal.

A ball below a drum indicates the approach towards Saugor roads of a cyclonic vortex of small extent, of the kind which forms during the rainy season. It is advisable that no vessel other than fast steamers in light trim should put to sea until the wind, direction and force, state of weather and sea, and rise of the barometer, indicate that the storm has either broken up or passed inland. Cyclonic storms of small extent sometimes blow fiercely and raise a high sea near their centres.

3. The following storm warning signals will be hoisted during the prevalence of cyclonic storms in the Bay of Bengal at the signalling stations on the Hooghly previously mentioned, viz. Saugor Island, Mud Point, and Diamond Harbour, between sunset and sun-rise:—

Night signal No. 1, warning or caution signal.

Three lights exhibited on the flagstaff at equal distances indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm in the north of the Bay.

Night signal No. 2, danger signal.

Two lights, in a vertical line, indicate the early approach of a cyclonic storm to the Bengal coast.

4. Signals for the Port of Calcutta.—Storm signals will be only used within the limits of the Port of Calcutta to give notice to the shipping and general public of the early approach of a severe cyclone with its attendant storm-wave. The following are the storm-signals which will be used within the limits of the Port. They will be hoisted on the flagstaff upon the Port Commissioners' office, on the yardarm of the flagstaff near the Government Dockyard, Kidderpore, and on the flagstaff at Seebpore, on the receipt of instructions from the Meteorological office :—

1 Day warning signal.

A Ball indicates that a severe cyclone, of which the centre is in the neighbourhood of Saugor Island, is advancing towards the mouth of the Hooghly, and will probably advance towards Calcutta.

2 Day danger signal.

A Drum indicates that a severe cyclone with its attendant storm-wave is approaching Calcutta.

3 Night warning signal.

Three lights in a vertical plane indicate that a severe cyclone, of which the centre is in the neighbourhood of Saugor Island, is advancing towards the mouth of the Hooghly, and will probably advance towards Calcutta.

4 Night danger signal.

Two lights in a vertical line indicate the early approach of a severe cyclonic storm and its attendant storm-wave to the Port of Calcutta.

* "Summons" includes summons to a witness.
† "Process" includes notices, warrants, attachments, prohibitory orders.

2. All processes should be forwarded to the Clerk of the Court in duplicate, and should reach in time to admit of service being effected and the papers being returned to the Court issuing them before the returnable date of the process. Every process should show the amount claimed in the suit. If the amount claimed be omitted, the fee charged will be at the highest rate leviable under the schedule.

3. Fees are payable in cash. Money remitted by post should be by Government currency notes or by money order payable to the Registrar of the Court, with a post-card accompanying the money-order, stating full particulars as to what it relates to, for conversion into stamp labels, such labels being the only kind of stamps the Court is authorized to receive. A strict adherence to this is essential to obviate references and delay in the service of processes.

4. A sum for return postage must also be remitted.

5. Application for service, when made by the parties or their duly authorized agents, must be on a printed form, which will be supplied by the Court, and should be submitted before 2-30 P.M.

6. The process should give distinctly the abode or place of business of the person to be served, or his agent.

7. Intimation should, if possible, be given when it is unlikely that the party or any one on his behalf will attend at Calcutta, and a sufficient sum to meet all expenses should accordingly be transmitted with the papers. If such party or any one on his behalf does not attend to make the necessary application, every endeavour will be made by the officer of the Court to carry out the order without assistance.

8. In sending decrees for execution under section 223 of the Civil Procedure Code, the Court sending the decree is requested, if the decree be drawn up in a vernacular other than Bengali or Urdoo, to forward a certified copy of the same in English, there being no translating department attached to the Court.

NOTIFICATIONS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

No. 854B.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated Calcutta, the 4th August 1882

UNDER the provisions of section 164 of Act VIII of 1878, the Chief Customs Authority of the Presidency has authorized the introduction of the subjoined form of pass and bond for coasting steamers sailing under general passes:—

GENERAL PASS.

THIS general pass is granted to the Agents of the to enable them to ply the steam-ship Captain of tons burthen, official number , under the provisions of section 164, Act VIII of 1878, on the conditions hereinafter specified, but subject to all local laws, rules, and regulations in force for the time being at any of the ports mentioned herein.

2. This pass permits the discharge and receipt in of cargo brought from or shipped for any of the following ports, viz., all customs and foreign ports in India, and all ports in Burma, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ceylon, and the Straits Settlements, on the conditions hereinafter provided.

3. In this pass, and in the cargo-book and other documents prescribed thereby, the words "dutiable cargo (or goods)" shall include—

(1) All goods received on board at foreign ports;
(2) All goods from foreign ports which have been transhipped at customs ports;
(3) Goods liable to excise duty; bonded goods under removal from one customs port to another; and all other goods which are required to be sent to the Custom-House; and the words "free cargo (or goods)" shall include such goods only as are brought from customs ports, and do not come under the head of 'dutiable cargo (or goods)," as defined above.

CONDITIONS.

IMPORT.

(a.)—A cargo-book in the form marked Q (herewith annexed) is to be kept on board the steamer, showing distinctly and separately the goods brought from each customs and foreign port, and distinguishing clearly, in the case of goods from customs ports, between "free" and "dutiable" goods, and the Master shall deliver to the Customs Officer, chupprasi, or peon who boards the vessel at the boarding station a duly authenticated extract from the cargo-book (in the form annexed and marked R), showing all cargo brought from foreign ports, transhipped at customs ports, or otherwise "dutiable" as defined above.

(b)—On the arrival of the steamer from customs ports only, without having touched at any foreign port, the discharge of all "free" cargo is hereby permitted immediately after arrival by day or night before entry of the vessel at the Custom-House, without the goods being previously entered for home consumption, and without the direct supervision of Customs Officers

A boat-note in the annexed form S is to be given by the ship's officers with every separate boat-load to the manji in charge.

All "dutiable" cargo is to be retained on board until notice has been given at the Custom-House by the agents of its arrival, and a Customs Officer, chupprasi, or peon has received charge of it for conveyance to the Custom-House under the written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

(c.)—A duly authenticated copy of the cargo-book referred to in clause (a), together with all passes granted at the various ports of lading, duly endorsed with the date of receipt and quantity received, shall be furnished to the proper Officer of Customs within 24 hours after arrival within the limits of the port. Goods for which passes are not so delivered to the Customs Officer are to be retained by the agents in their godowns or other place appointed by the proper Officer of Customs until an import Custom-House pass in proper form has been granted for them.

(d.)—On arrival of the steamer, after having touched at any foreign port, in addition to customs port or ports, the discharge of "free" cargo from customs ports may be proceeded with as prescribed in condition (b), but no cargo from any foreign port, and no cargo from any customs port, which was transhipped from a foreign port, or is otherwise "dutiable," as defined above, shall be discharged until the agents have given notice at the Customs-House of its arrival, and Customs Officers, chupprasis, or peons have received charge of it for conveyance to the Custom-House under written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

(f.)—The inward entry of the steamer shall be made within 24 hours after her arrival within the limits of the port, as declared under clause (b), section 11, Act VIII of 1878.

EXPORT.

(g.)—After the steamer's arrival within the limits of the port, cargo for exportation may be received on board without the direct supervision of Customs Officers at any time of the day or night, but no cargo shall be so received unless it is protected by a pass granted by the proper Officer of Customs. Provided, however, that in those ports in which owing to the distance of the Custom-House from the place of shipment or the place of anchorage of the vessel, it is not possible to take out a shipping bill before actual shipment, the ship's agent shall deliver to the proper Officer of Customs, within five days of the date of departure of the vessel, in the form of the cargo-book, a separate account, in form V, of the cargo for each port of destination (supported, if required, by the mate's receipts). The said Officer of Customs will immediately forward this form by post to the Collector of Customs at the port of destination.

(h.)—A cargo-book (in the form annexed and marked Q) shall be kept on board, and in it shall be entered full particulars, as required by the form, of all goods received on board, showing separately and distinctly the ports for which they are shipped.

(i.)—A copy of the cargo-book prescribed in clause (h), countersigned by the agents of the Company, shall be delivered to the proper Officer of Customs within five clear working days after the vessel's departure from each customs port. Such copy to be in the form of separate cargo lists for each and every customs and foreign ports for which cargo has been shipped. The conditions of clause (i) will be dispensed with in ports to which the last part of condition (g) applies, the original accounts of cargo shipped being there taken as the copy of cargo-book.

STORES.

(j)—No stores are to be landed, transhipped, unladen, shipped, or water-borne for shipment without the written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

GENERAL.

(k)—This pass is to remain in force for six months from this date, unless previously revoked by notice in writing delivered in accordance with the provisions of section 164, Act VIII of 1878, and either the pass or the cargo-books before referred to are to be produced on requisition by any duly authorized Officer of Customs. This pass will be held to be cancelled should the vessel ply directly between a customs port and any of the foreign ports specified therein, or proceed to any other foreign port, and a new pass must be obtained on her return to the coasting trade before she can ply under the conditions of the general pass.

FORM OF BOND.

are held and firmly bound to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council in the sum of Rs. to be paid to the said Secretary of State for India in Council, or to his certain attorney, successors, or assigns for which payment to be well and truly made the said bind themselves, and their successors, and every of them, firmly by the presents. Dated this day of 188 A. D.

WHEREAS the above bounden have applied to the Collector of Customs at Calcutta for, and obtained, a general pass for the lading and clearance, and for the entry and unlading, of their steamers, under section 164 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, the particulars and conditions of which pass are set out in the schedule hereto [and have also deposited with the said Secretary of State the sum of Rs. as security for the fulfilment of the conditions of this bond].* Now the condition of this bond is that—

(1.) If the said , their servants, and employés, shall observe and perform all the conditions of the said pass, and

(2.) If the said shall and will, on requisition, pay to the Collector of Customs, , for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State, his successors, and assigns, any duty or penalty erroneously short levied, or that shall not have been levied in consequence of incorrect entries in, or omissions from, cargo-books referred to in the said pass, or the copies thereof furnished to the office of the Collector or customs , and

(3.) If the said shall and will, on requisition, repay to the said Collector of Customs, any sum erroneously paid as refund or drawback in consequence of incorrect entries in, or omission from, the said cargo-books, or copies thereof furnished to the office of the Collector of Customs, , and

(4.) If the said shall, on requisition, produce to the Collector of Customs, , within one month after each and every steamer leaves any foreign port, a certificate in the form annexed and marked T from the Chief Customs Officer of such port, showing all goods shipped there, together with the marks, numbers, description, and contents of the packages;

(5.) And if the said shall, on requisition, produce to the Collector of Customs, , or such person as he shall in writing appoint in that behalf, within one month of arrival of each and every steamer at any foreign port, a certificate in the form annexed, and marked U, from the Chief Customs Officer at such port, showing all goods discharged therefrom , and giving full particulars of marks, numbers, description, and contents of the packages;

(6.) And if the said shall pay to the Collector of Customs before the departure of each and every steamer or vessel all light dues claimed by the said Collector (or Collectors) of Customs;

(7.) And if the said shall take due and proper care that goods are neither landed nor shipped to the detriment of the revenue, and that prohibited goods are not knowingly carried in contravention of the Customs, Arms, or Opium Acts;

(8.) And if the said shall pay to the said Collector of Customs, , immediately on application, any penalty (not exceeding Rs. 1,000) which may be adjudged against the said Company by the said Collector of Customs for a breach of any of the conditions of the said bond or of the said pass;

Then this obligation shall be void, otherwise, and on breach or failure in the performance of all or any, or any part of, the aforesaid conditions, or of the terms and conditions of the said pass, (the* said deposit of Rs. shall be at once forfeited, and) the said bond or obligation shall remain in full force.

*NOTE.—The words within brackets are to be inserted in those cases only in which the Collector of Customs has good reason to believe that the bond itself does not afford sufficient security.

OPIUM.

H. A. COCKERELL, ESQ., C.S.I.

SEALED tenders will be received at this office up to noon of Monday, the 21st August 1882, for removing all the chests of Abkaree and provision opium which may be brought down to the Presidency from the Patna and Ghazipore Opium Factories by railway, during the period of one year from the 1st September 1882, from the East Indian Railway Company's wagons at Howrah, and from the ferry steamer at Armenian Ghât (as may be necessary), to the Government godowns situated within the Custom House premises, and also to the new opium godowns at Coilah Ghât, and there stacking them as the Intendant in charge shall from time to time direct.

2. The tenders should state the rate per 100 chests, all charges to be incurred to be included. The person whose tender may be accepted will have to deposit security to the amount of Rs. 1,000, and supply 70 good English tarpaulins (15′ × 10′) for covering the chests during transit in case of rain.

3. The Board of Revenue does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 312.

The 1st August 1882.

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of Dinagepore, Rajshahye, Rungpore, Bogra, Pubna, Darjeeling, and Julpigoree districts for the cess year 1880-81, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Major, M.S.C.,

Asst. Secy to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Dinagepore, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE Road Cess Act worked smoothly during the year, and the collections for the first three quarters were satisfactory; in the fourth quarter realization fell short of demand owing to Rs. 3,457-1-6 having been paid in October 1881, as the 28th September, which was the last day of payment, fell within the Doorga Poojah holidays.

There were 16 meetings of the Road Cess Committee held during the year, and the members are said to have taken an interest in their work.

Applications were made by several zemindars for grants for the improvement of village roads, and a large part of the expenditure under this head was made through their agency. Some of the village roads were also repaired through the agency of the police and District Engineer.

New trees have been planted on the Rungpore and Moorshedabad roads for some miles, and young trees, planted on various roads in previous years, have been carefully attended to.

All the roads in the district, with the exception of one, have been repaired as far as funds permitted.

The several establishments under the Committee have worked fairly well during the year under report.

Explanatory memorandum to accompany the annual account for the cess year 1880-81.

RECEIPTS.

1. The principal cause of the shortness of collection under this heading was owing to Rs. 3,457-1-6 having been paid in October 1881, as the 28th of September, which was the last day of payment, fell within the Doorga Poojah holidays.

2. The total demand under this heading was Rs. 193, out of which Rs. 156-7 were collected during the year. Rs. 45-10-6 were realised in October, out of which Rs. 36-9 were the remaining demand of the year under report, and the rest realization of arrears of previous years.

EXPENDITURE.

3. Salary for the month of September was paid on the 27th September 1881 on account of Doorga Poojah holidays, hence the expenditure under this heading exceeded the amount of budget allotment.

4. The excess in expenditure under this heading is owing to the payment of a part of the demand for the previous year (1879-80) having been made during the year under report.

5. The excess in expenditure over the allotment of the following roads has been charged against the savings of other roads, keeping the total allotment for works the same as shewn in the budget estimate—

		Rs.	A.	P.
Original works—
No. 3.	Rungpore road (Dinagepore to Khalahatee)...	430	3	4

,, 18.	Kishengunj road ...	58	10	3
,, 39.	Baloorghat to Pharseepara road ...	1	5	9

6. As the amount allotted for this road was not sufficient for its maintenance, nothing was spent on it.

7. As the serais were not used by travellers, no expenditure was necessary under this heading.

UMA CHURN BANERJEE,
Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Rajshahye, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE road cess was levied during the year at the full rate, viz. one-half anna in the rupee. The Cess Act is not an unpopular one, as the people are coming to know that the money levied from them under it is spent entirely on roads for their good.

The attendance at the meetings of the District Road Committee is not unsatisfactory. Most of the members took great interest in the administration of its funds. The working of the Branch Committee at Nattore was satisfactory.

Due attention was given by the Committee to village roads, the sum spent on which amounted to Rs. 3,787. The village road works were satisfactorily executed through headmen and police.

Two thousand eight hundred and eight fruit-trees were planted out on the entire length of the Beauleah to Nattore road. Two other roads were also planted out.

The general condition of most of the bridges and fair weather roads in the district is on the whole good.

The Committee's establishments discharged their duties satisfactorily.

for Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Rajshahye.

Explanatory note to accompany the annual accounts for the year 1880-81.

1. The excess expenditure over budget grant for administration establishment and contingencies has been met from the reserve fund and from the savings of the budget grants for "stationery" and "establishment and contingencies," Provincial rates.

2. The total budget grant for "original works" has not been exceeded by the expenditure incurred thereon. The excess expenditure over budget grant for any one work has been met from the savings of the grant for any other.

3. The same remarks applies to "repairs."

4. The excess expenditure over the budget grant for "establishment," Public works, has been met from the savings of the grant for "original works."

5. The sum of Rs. 100, expended as contribution to the municipality of Beauleah, will be recovered and refunded to the District Road Fund in April next, the Magistrate and the Chairman of the municipality having promised to pay the same in April.

L. HARE,
for Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Rajshahye.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Rungpore, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE state of public feeling as to the Cess Act is satisfactory. All classes acknowledge the benefits conferred by it, but the lower classes attach an undue importance to the repair of their village roads, and are sometimes inclined to undervalue the advantages derived from the more important lines of communications.

Some delay occurs in realizing arrears owing to the large number of notices to be served on co-sharers. The proportion of collection to demand gives a percentage of 100·03—a better result than that attained last year.

Seven non-official members of the Road Committee ceased to be members under the operation of section 115 of the Act. Their places were filled up by the appointment of others, and the attendance was on the whole satisfactory.

There were five meetings of the Branch Committee during the year, all of which were attended by more than half the number of members. With one exception all the members of the Branch Committee took an active interest in the proceedings.

Sums were entrusted, as far as possible, to landholders or non-officials for expenditure on village roads. In some cases these private persons assisted with money and labour. Applications for the repair of particular roads were frequently made and complied with as far as funds allowed.

In addition to 3,843 fruit-bearing trees, chiefly mangoe and jack, planted out on 15 roads in the previous years, 3,449 trees have been planted on four new roads during the year, making a total stock of 7,292 trees in the district.

The present condition of the roads in the district is exceedingly disappointing, as the great majority of them are still quite impassable except for foot traffic owing to the existence of treacherous bamboo bridges thereon.

The different establishments under the Committee have on the whole worked well and satisfactorily.

R. S. GREENSHIELDS,

Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Bogra, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE Cess Act has worked smoothly in this district, the total collections being 96·4 per cent. on the current demand.

Necessary repairs were done to the principal roads, which were rendered fairly passable for general traffic. Improvement to some of the village roads was made by official and non-official agencies. Most of the gabions for the protection of young trees planted on roadsides were repaired and some renewed, and the plants destroyed on the Rungpore road re-planted.

The different establishments under the Committee have done their work well with the exception of the District Engineer, who has not given satisfaction.

MOHES CHANDRA SEN,
Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Pubna, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE new Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880, came into operation from the commencement of the year. The principal change introduced by the new Act was in the realization of arrears under the certificate procedure, which has resulted in rather delaying than otherwise the collections. No complaints connected with the Act have been made except with reference to demands for payment of arrears; and the nature and object of the cess are now becoming thoroughly known.

The full number of members of the District Committee was 28, and the average attendance seven. The Branch Committee consisted of 11 members; their meetings have been regular, and the proceedings shew that the Committee took a proper interest in their work.

The grants for village roads were spent in some sub-divisions by the Branch Committee and in others by the headmen in villages.

Rupees 445 were spent on account of planting trees in the year. With this sum, about eight miles of the Tantibund road, and the same length of the Serajgunge road, section I, were planted with fruit and other trees. Something was also done on two roads in the Serajgunge sub-division, and the trees planted out in previous years on the road to Sara were looked after.

The repairs of the district roads were well done under the direction of the District Engineer.

The different establishments under the Committee have on the whole worked well, with the exception of the sub-overseer in the Serajgunge sub-division with whose work the Chairman was not perfectly satisfied.

TAJUMMUL ALLY,
Vice-Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Pubna.

Explanatory memoranda on the Road Fund Annual Accounts for 1880-81.

IN Government, Public Works Department resolution No. 1786RC, dated 22nd August 1881, reviewing the estimates of receipts and expenditure of the District Road Fund of the districts of the Rajshahye Division for the year 1880 81, the budget allotment for establishment and contingencies of Committee's office is shewn to be Rs. 1,215: in the accompanying annual accounts it is shewn as Rs. 1,515. The increase is due to the transfer to this head of Rs. 300 sanctioned in Commissioner's letter No. 19PW, dated 23rd April 1881.

2. In the Government resolution above cited, the allotment for original works is shewn to be Rs. 29,894 and in the annual accounts it is Rs. 30,546. The increase is owing to the transfer from this head of Rs. 7,336, and to this head of Rs. 7,988 =(29,894—7,336 +7,988). The transfers sanctioned in Commissioner's letters No. 378PWCt., dated 17th November 1880, No. 362PW, dated 7th March 1881, No. 19PW, dated 23rd April 1881, and No. 189PWCt. of 9th July 1881.

3. Under the head of "Repairs" the Government resolution shews Rs. 14,557 and the annual accounts Rs. 16,201. The increase was caused by transfers sanctioned in Commissioner's letter No. 378PWCt. of 17th November 1880, No. 19PW of 23rd April 1881, and No. 189PWCt, of 9th July 1881.

4. The Government resolution shews Rs. 9,162 under "Establishment," and the annual accounts Rs. 10,734. Rs. 1,572 was transferred to this head during the year to meet the expenses of the Divisional Superintendent—vide Commissioner's letter No. 189PWCt. of 9th July 1881.

5. In form C of the schedule of disbursements for September 1881, the transfers shewn in red ink in the column "Budget estimate for the year" are +278—867 against "Original works" These should be (—7,336+7,988) as shewn in the annual accounts. The transfers sanctioned in the latter part of the year were by inadvertence omitted to be shewn in the schedule.

TAJUMMUL ALLY,

Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Darjeeling, and of the Vice-Chairman, Terai Branch Committee, on the Committees' operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE collections of cess fell short of 95 per cent. of the demand for the year.

Five meetings of the District Committee were held at Darjeeling. In the Terai there were altogether five meetings of the Branch Committee. The members of both the Committees are said to have taken great interest in their work.

Five village roads, aggregating 17 miles in length, were repaired during the year at a cost of Rs. 991½.

The planting of fruit-trees was continued on the roads from Phansidewa to Kharibari and Phansidewa to Matigara, and four-and-a-half miles have now been planted with jack and mango trees.

The Terai Branch Committee exercised during the year independent powers under section 165 of the Road Cess Act. Since the close of the year under report, those powers have, however, been withdrawn from them by Government for the better administration of the fund.

The District Committee have hitherto been without any professional staff, and were entirely dependent for carrying on works and repairs upon the exertions of the tea-planters. The Committee have now been able to engage an overseer, who has had considerable experience elsewhere.

D. NORTON,

Vice-Chairman, Terai Branch Road Cess Committee.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Committee, Julpigoree, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1880-81.

THE mass are indifferent with the road cess. Tea-planters and others, who are more or less interested in at least particular roads, think that the cess is not spent to the best advantage.

There were 25 members composing the District Road Committee, of whom seven were official and the rest non-official, and nine meetings were held during the year.

A sum of Rs. 1,000 was allotted for the repairs of village roads, of which Rs. 261 only were expended on surface repairs, which are said to have been carried out in a manner far from satisfactory.

Indian-rubber trees have been planted out on the sides of the Julpigoree and Dalimkote road, and they are growing well. As an experiment, 100 young rain-trees have been planted during the year on the Phoolbari road, and more will be planted should the experiment prove successful.

All the roads in the district were kept open for traffic throughout the whole year as far as the funds admitted.

The several establishments under the Committee have done their work satisfactorily.

PREO NATH BANERJEE,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 27PWCt., dated Darjeeling, the 19th April 1882.

From—LORD H. ULICK BROWNE, Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division,

To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

ANNUALS.

I HAVE the honour to submit in original the district road fund annual reports and accounts of the districts of this division for the cess year 1880-81.

2. The reports from six districts were received in my office within the prescribed date for their submission, but I regret to say that the report and accounts of the Darjeeling Committee were six weeks late, and the accounts had to be returned. The revised accounts were not received till 30th March 1882, and this has delayed the submission of this report.

3. The Chairmen have all prepared their reports in a satisfactory manner, and in accordance with circular No. 973A of 4th September 1880.

WORKING OF THE ROAD CESS ACT.

4. The new Cess Act, No. IX (B. C.) of 1880, came into operation at the commencement of this cess year. All the Chairmen report that it has worked smoothly, and that its objects are now understood and appreciated. The expenditure on village roads, to which greater attention has been given during the year in all the districts, has contributed in a great measure to its popularity, and though there are complaints about the state of the roads during the rains, where the soil is clay and not sand, I am glad to be able to say that during the dry season the general condition of the roads has improved considerably, owing to the repairs being now in many cases promptly executed after the rains cease, and this the cess payers duly appreciate.

Collections and Assessments.

5. The collections were generally easily made in all the districts; but in Pubna there was a slight difficulty in getting in the arrears. In Dinagepore there was a falling off in the collections of the last quarter. In Rungpore the proportion of collection to demand was 100·03—a better result than has been obtained in previous years. In Darjeeling, I regret to say, the collections fell short of 95 per cent. on the demand, owing to the following cause:—In order to prevent the arrears outstanding from 1877-78 being barred by limitation, the cess office had to be fully occupied in issuing notices, &c., for their speedy realization of those arrears, and the time thus taken up told very seriously against making current collections.

Working of the District and Branch Committees.

6. The Chairmen report favourably of the attendance of members of the Sudder Committees, and that fair interest was evinced by them in the disposal of funds and general working; but in Pubna, as will be observed from the returns submitted, nine members never attended any meeting, and the cause of this is not stated. The Branch Committees of Nattore in Rajshahye worked satisfactorily, the members of the Gyabauda Branch Committee with one exception took an active interest in the proceedings; and the Darjeeling Terai Branch Committee held five meetings in the year, and all the members took an active interest in the general administration of the road cess.

Establishments.

7. The establishments of the different Committees are reported to have worked well, except Bogra, where the Chairman remarks that the District Engineer has not given satisfaction.

The District Engineer of Pubna, Baboo Baynee Madhub Chuckerbutty died of cholera and some months passed before another Engineer was appointed. The subordinates of the different Committees, taken as a whole, have worked well and satisfactorily.

In Darjeeling, the tea-planters, and specially Mr. Johnston, have done good service in the supervision of roads and construction of bridges. The Terai Committee have lately obtained the services of an experienced Overseer, and better results may be looked for.

Village roads.

8. In the Dinagepore district, several applications were made by zemindars for the improvement of village roads, and a large proportion of the expenditure on such roads was made through their agency, the Police Department and the District Engineer helping. In Rajshahye the expenditure, through the agency of the police and headmen of villages, amounted to Rs. 3,787, and the Chairman reports the work done to be satisfactory. In Rungpore the expenditure was satisfactory, and it is stated that the advantages resulting from village road grants were considerable, and duly appreciated by the people. In Bogra the improvement of village roads was attended to by both officials and non-officials. In Pubna Rs. 2,993 were spent on village roads, and about Rs. 2,000 more on subsidiary roads communicating directly with large villages. In Julpigoree, out of an allotment of Rs. 1,000, only Rs. 260-13-6 were spent. This unsatisfactory result being due to the work being done by the Engineer establishment; but if the police in leisure hours, and the headmen of villages (or the jotedars who answer to the headmen) are encouraged to take an interest in the work, as is done in other districts, a better result is pretty sure to be obtained. In the Darjeeling district 17 miles of village roads were repaired, at a cost of Rs. 991-9-4.

Planting trees.

9. In Dinagepore young trees were planted on the Runpore and Moorshedabad roads for some miles, and those planted in previous years were attended to. In Rajshahye 2,808 young trees were planted on the Nattore road, and more on other roads. In Rungpore there are now 7,292 fruit trees, chiefly mango and jack, distributed over 19 lines of road, in thriving condition. In Bogra attention seems to have been chiefly devoted to replacing tree gabions that were broken, and to replacing trees that had not thriven. In Pubna Rs. 445 were spent under this head on eight miles of road, and all trees previously planted were cared for. The Chairman remarks that this branch of work has made a satisfactory start. In Julpigoree little or nothing has been done, and only Rs. 52 expended out of an allotment of Rs. 200. As an experiment 100 young rain trees (pethecolobriom soman) have been planted during the year. In the Darjeeling district trees can only be satisfactorily planted in the Terai, and two roads of about 4½ miles have been planted out with mango and jack.

Original Works.

10. Dinagepore.—Under this head the works consisted of the continuation of the metalling and bridging of the Rungpore road. The works on this road have now been stopped, as the railway is being extended to Dinagepore; but as materials had been collected, one bridge of 12 feet span, and one of three openings of 15 feet, were completed. On the Bogra road the Echamutty bridge was completed, with the exception of the roadway planking. On the Moorshedabad road four culverts were built, and a sum of Rs 5,500 was contributed towards the construction of three timber bridges over the drainage canal.

Rajshahye.—The expenditure on this class of works was Rs. 65,377, and nearly the whole of that amount was spent on the Nattore road. One iron screw pile bridge with timber beams and platform over the Narad river at the 7th mile, was erected; and two masonry bridges and several timber ones were either completed or entirely constructed, so that the only gap on this road is at the 20th mile, viz. at Jhallmullia Ghat. A design for bridging this stream was submitted, the estimate amounting to about Rs. 90,000; but as the Committee could not contribute anything towards the construction of the bridge, Government decided it should stand over. About one mile of metalling was done on the Bya road, and the Committee intend to extend it to Nowhatta, about 10 miles out of Beauleah.

Rungpore.—The chief work was the completion of the Alaikoree bridge and diversion, which has been so long in hand. The earthwork of the feeder road from Domer railway station to Ghoramara on the east, and to Chellai on the west, was finished, and materials collected for timber bridges. Some old drain cut bridges were altered, and one new masonry bridge of 30 feet span, at Dalputti, over the same drainage cut, was completed. On the roads leading from Rungpore to Julpigoree and Cooch Behar several timber bridges were commenced, and the metalling of the Tajhat road was completed.

Bogra.—The Sultanpore feeder road on the west of the railway was raised and bridged, and one iron lattice girder bridge of 40 feet span, with masonry abutments and wings, was erected, as also a web girder bridge, aggregating 100 feet of waterway with masonry abutments, piers, and wings. Between Adamdighi and Bogra several masonry culverts were built.

Pubna.—Rs. 31,531 were spent on original works, chiefly on the feeder road from Pubna to Sara; but owing to the district having been without an Engineer for some months, the progress of original works has been greatly retarded. No less than Rs. 7,140 were spent in compensation for land taken up for feeder and other roads.

Julpigoree.—The chief work was the construction of an iron screw bridge, with web girders of six spans of 30 feet each over the Kurla river, which was opened for traffic before the last rains set in. Much attention was given to the construction of the Phoolbaria ghat road, but owing to the unhealthiness of the sal jungles through which it passes, the coolies would not remain on the works, and the earthwork was incomplete at the close of the year. The timber bridges of various spans were nearly all constructed during the year. Several substantial timber bridges were erected on the Boda, Debigunge, and Chellai road.

Darjeeling.—Four permanent bridges and five cane bridges were completed during the year. The most important was a stone and wooden one over the Balasone with a span of 80 feet.

REPAIRS.

11. I am glad to be able to say that prompt attention is now being much more generally given to the repairs of roads directly the rains are over, and by the end of November many of the roads in this division had been put into passable or driveable condition. I have worked to this end for several years, and the attention given to the matter by the Committees and their establishments is beginning to tell. In two districts the Engineers were not inclined to take the trouble of looking to even surface repairs on a number of roads in different directions, and there are still many roads not adequately treated; but this is in many instances more owing to a want of funds than to any other cause, as nearly every district has more roads on its list than the Committee can ever hope to maintain in as an efficient a manner as is desirable. In Dinagepore, with nearly 1,200 miles of road, and Rungpore with 1,300, the greater part of them requiring heavy earthwork to bring them up to a proper height and level, the Committee are obliged to content themselves with only thoroughly doing a few miles of road each year, and merely surface dressing the rest. In Darjeeling 18 hill roads were repaired and maintained during the year, and a good deal has been done to the principal Terai roads.

EXPENDITURE.

12. The total outlay in original works, repairs, and village roads, taken as a whole, has been satisfactory, considering the limited funds at the disposal of the Committees. The balances in hand were in some cases rather large, but there were reasons for that in the shape of works in contemplation when projects should be sanctioned or grants-in-aid obtained or in the shape of other works in hand requiring the attention of the road establishment.

13. The appointment of a Divisional Superintendent of District Road Cess Works has continued to bear excellent fruits during the year. Bad work has been detected on inspection and stopped in time, waste of money in building bridges that would not have answered has been prevented, attention has been called to urgent needs, projects have been promptly dealt with and sanctioned or amended, or where badly and carelessly prepared promptly returned with a note shewing where they were wrong. The appointment has resulted in real economy of the cess payer's money in various ways, and only bad or careless or lazy District Engineers are impatient of a check and control that makes them work properly. As regards Mr. Heyman personally he continues to give continued close personal attention to his duties and to render me efficient assistance in office business connected with the road department.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estate, situate in the district of Furreedpore, will be put up to sale at the Furreedpore Collectorate on the 28th September 1882, corresponding with 13th Ashin 1289 B.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale.

Conditions of Sale.

1*st*.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2*nd*.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force: and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators, who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3*rd*.—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th*.—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

No. 81.

SEALED tenders in the form used in the Commissariat Department (blank forms whereof can be had on application at the Commissariat Office, Madras) will be received by the Executive Commissariat Officer at Madras until 1 o'clock P.M. on the 17th August 1882, and opened by him at the same time and place in presence of those interested, for the supply, by contract, of 149,453lb of either Indian or China black tea (the price of each description to be separately stated) to be delivered at the Commissariat Stores at Madras to the Commissariat Storekeeper-General on or before the 30th day of April 1883 free of all charges whatsoever. No payment will be made on account of such supply prior to the 30th April 1883.

2. Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Secretary, Bank of Madras, acknowledging the payment of a deposit of Rs. (4,000) four thousand, or be accompanied by Government Promissory Notes to the same amount duly endorsed over to the Executive Commissariat Officer, Madras, and in default of both of such deposits the tender will be rejected. Tenders to be sealed and superscribed "Tender for Tea."

3. The deposit of the successful competitor will be retained until he lodges with the Executive Commissariat officer at Madras the sum of Rs. (16,000) sixteen thousand, either in cash or in Government Promissory Notes. If the latter, the notes to be endorsed over to the Executive Commissariat Officer, Madras, for the time being as security for the due fulfilment of his contract. The deposit made with his tender will then be returned to him.

4. The deposits of all, with the exception of that of the successful competitor, will be returned on the decision of Government being received.

5. The successful competitor will be required to sign a contract on the basis of his tender containing the usual provisions in the form used in the Commissariat Department (form whereof can be seen on application to the Commissariat Officer at Madras) and to furnish the requisite security within eight days from the date on which the acceptance of his tender is notified to him. Should the successful competitor fail to sign the contract deed or to furnish the security within the time specified, so much of his deposit will be forfeited as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract, and his tender will be considered as having been rejected. It is, however, to be clearly understood that the forfeiture of the total amount (if necessary) of such deposit for such default shall in no way preclude Government from recovering from the defaulting competitor all such damages as Government may sustain by reason of such default, and that the amount of such deposit is not to be taken as the total amount of compensation payable to Government for such default.

6. The chests containing the tea should be of strong material, and the lead lining thereof sound and strong. Each chest must be bound round with iron hooping and packed in good strong gunny. No broken or damaged chests will be received. Each chest should contain 84lb of China tea, or 80lb of Indian tea, and should be marked 80 or 84lb net, as the case may be. A certain number of the chests will be opened and examined by a committee to ascertain that they contain not less than the weight represented, dependent on which examination they will be taken to contain the net weight marked thereon.

7. The quality of tea to be subjected to the approval of, or rejection by, a committee to be appointed at the request of the Commissary-General by the Officer Commanding the District, and payment will be made for such quantity only as may be approved of by the said committee.

8. Samples of tea can be had on application at the Commissariat Office at Madras.

9. The Government reserve to itself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for so doing.

10. If the contractor makes default in delivering the whole of the tea on or before the 30th April 1883, so much of the security deposited by him as will reasonably compensate Government for such breach of contract will be liable to become forfeited to Government, but, if such contractor deliver a portion of the tea to be supplied according to his contract and makes default in delivering the remainder thereof, he shall be liable to pay to Government such reasonable compensation as Government may be entitled to for such breach of contract, and any such compensation may, at the option of Government, be deducted either from the moneys payable to such contractor for the tea delivered by him or from the security which may be deposited by him.

11. All further information may be had and the form of tenders and contract deed inspected on application at the Commissariat Office at Madras.

12. Every tender not made in the required form will be rejected.

13. No person making a tender shall be allowed to withdraw his tender for the space of ninety days from the date thereof, and, in the event to his doing so, his deposit shall be forfeited to Government.

(By order of the Commissary-General.)

E. A. BRUCE, Major,
Dy. Assistant Commissary-General.

Executive Commissariat Office, Madras,
18th May 1882.

NOTE.—Tender forms can also be had on application to Calcutta Store and Shipping Executive.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1881.

POLICE.

Calcutta, the 1st August 1882.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Police Department for the year 1881.

Read again—

The Reports for the years 1879 and 1880, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

The total budget grant for the year 1881-82 for the Police Department was Rs. 36,95,572, in which were included Rs. 1,63,100 for the Chittagong Frontier police, and Rs. 76,730 on account of the Government contribution to Railway and Municipal police. The actual expenditure incurred during the year was Rs. 36,56,559, as compared with Rs. 36,50,809 in the preceding year. Excluding the Municipal police, but including the Civil police and Frontier force of the Chittagong Hill Tracts and the Railway police, the total strength of the entire force on the 31st December 1881 was 78 superior officers, 3,081 subordinate officers, and 14,588 constables; as compared with the strength of the force on the 31st December 1882, there was a decrease of 16 subordinate officers and an increase of 55 constables.

2. The cost of the force employed on purely police work was Rs. 21,54,600, the cost per head of the total population according to the recent census being 6·2 pies. The cost per head in Bengal proper, including the Chittagong Hill Tracts, was 7·1 pies, in Orissa 7·9 pies, in Chota Nagpore 8 pies, and in Behar only 4·3 pies. The proportion of police to population was in Bengal proper 1 to 3,933, in Orissa 1 to 2,996, in Chota Nagpore 1 to 3,332, and in Behar 1 to 5,879. The proportion to area was 1 to 7·9 square miles in Bengal proper, 1 to 19·5 in Orissa, 1 to 21·3 in Chota Nagpore, and 1 to 11·2 square miles in Behar. The expenditure on the force employed on purely police work exceeded the expenditure during the preceding year by Rs. 17,066. This increase is attributed by the Inspector-General to the introduction of fifth grade sub-inspectors, the amalgamation of the extra and regular forces in Backergunge, the entertainment of men for railway duty, the raising of the pay of the lowest grade of head-constables in Darjeeling, and to the employment of extra men for the magisterial sub-division at Kurseong in that district. The object of the introduction of the fifth grade of sub-inspectors was that a class of investigating officers better than head-constables might be available for the charge of important outposts. Officers of the new grade have been appointed experimentally in five districts, and the separate report upon the subject is satisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor now awaits the further proposals of the Inspector-General for the extension of the scheme. During the past year the number of officers appointed to the new grade was 44, a corresponding reduction being made in the number of head-constables. An outpost was formed during the year at Nawabgunge in the 24-Pergunnahs, while the outpost at Pulta, in the same district, was abolished. The expenditure on account of the batta allowed in certain districts, in consequence of the dearness of provisions, to constables in the two lowest grades in the reserve, amounted to Rs. 9,720; of this amount Rs. 2,064 was expended in Midnapore, Rs. 1,860 in Hooghly, Rs. 1,092 in Howrah, Rs. 2,784 in the 24-Pergunnahs, and Rs. 1,920 in Moorshedabad.

3. The strength of the Municipal police was 371 officers and 5,702 constables, besides 24 chowkidars not enrolled under Act V of 1861. The force was increased during the year by one inspector and one sub-inspector, while it was, on the other hand, reduced by five head-constables, one European constable and 173 constables. The percentage of casualties amongst the Municipal police, though slightly higher than in 1880, was considerably lower than in 1879, the percentage on the whole strength of the force being 20 in 1881, as against 19·7 in 1880 and 24 8 in 1879. It is satisfactory to observe that the decrease in casualties has practically been maintained; in 1877 and 1878 the percentages were 26·6 and 26·2 respectively, with which the percentage of the past year compares very favourably. In connection with the scheme for the extension of local self-government, it was determined to relieve all municipalities, except Calcutta, its Suburbs and Howrah, of the payment of the Municipal police, and proposals received from the Inspector-General, for the reorganization of the force, have since the close of the year received the sanction of Government. Under the new scheme the Municipal force will be amalgamated with the Regular force, and each man will be liable for either Municipal or station duty. In order to effect the amalgamation, the pay of the lowest grades, which in some municipalities is much less than that received by the lowest grade of constables in the Regular police, will be raised to Rs. 6 per mensem, the pay of a constable of the fourth grade. This change is necessary if the forces are to be amalgamated and placed on the same footing, and it will be possible, by a redistribution of the number of officers in the different grades, and by a slight reduction in the total strength of the present Municipal force, to meet the increased expenditure consequent upon the increased pay in the lower grades. The proposed arrangement will, no doubt, have a beneficial effect, and will enable the Inspector-General to relieve at intervals the men told off to the more arduous duties of municipal watch-and-ward, and to employ them on the comparatively lighter duties now performed by the Regular police. The new scheme involves an increase of Rs. 4,96,928 in the annual expenditure incurred by Government on account of the police. The report does not show that much progress has been made during the year in carrying out the suggestions of the Inspector-General for the lighting of municipalities. In Burdwan, however, the lighting has been extended, but more lamps are required. In Berhampore there were only 12 lamps in 1880; the number has now been increased to 133. Lamps have also been set up in Raniganje, and the system of lighting the streets is being introduced into Cutwa. With the release from the 1st April last of the portion of the municipal funds hitherto devoted to police purposes, the Municipal Commissioners will no doubt in many places be able to effect a considerable improvement in the lighting of municipalities during the current year.

4. The reports from individual districts again testify in most cases to improvement in the working of the Chowkidari Act; but in some few districts the results have not been satisfactory. The Magistrate of Chumparun considers that the system, as provided by the Act, requires amendment in matters of detail; that it has not been thoroughly and consistently worked out in any district of which he has had experience; and that the good which exists in the institution of punchayets has not been properly developed and strengthened. Although the local officers in many districts admit that the chowkidars were in arrears as to their pay, yet the general impression appears to be that the men are becoming more efficient, that they are making themselves acquainted with bad characters and that they report crime at the police station more regularly; while, on the part of the punchayets, improvement in keeping of accounts and in the more systematic payment of wages are stated to have taken place. The Inspector-General does not accept these conclusions. He remarks: "It will be observed that general improvement in the working of the Act is reported to have taken place during the year under report. The improvement of the village police is of vital importance to the police administration of the province, and any signs of increased efficiency amongst rural chowkidars must be welcomed by no class of public servants more cordially than police officers, who have all the hard work, created by the application of the provisions of the Act, to perform. It is a noteworthy circumstance that reports of improvement of the chowkidari system only reach me at the time when the annual report is submitted. When districts are inspected, the language of local officers is not that of commendation, but of complaint, with reference to the administration of the village police. I have made a point of enquiring from officers of all classes, intelligent native gentlemen, both official and non-official, as to the general working of the system, and I am bound to state as a fact that none have ever informed me of any improvement which is visible amongst either chowkidars or punchayets, or in the system generally. The question therefore arises, in what respect has the improvement generally reported taken place during the year under review? Has the character and constitution of punchayets improved? Do they accept office more willingly and perform their duties more faithfully? Are the chowkidars better paid? Do they attend more regularly? Do they report crime more readily?" All these queries Mr. Monro answers in the negative, and he concludes by observing: "The only improvement, therefore, to which I can bear testimony is with regard to the payment of chowkidars' wages for periods under three months in Behar districts. In other respects, I cannot point to any improvement which has taken place, and as regards punctuality of payments in Bengal districts for all periods and in Behar districts for terms above three months, the results of 1881 have been decidedly worse than those of 1880." The facts adduced by Mr. Monro seem to prove indisputably that there has not been the general improvement during the past year in the working of the Act which the detailed reports would seem to shew; but though the system may not have yielded better results during 1881 than during 1880, the Lieutenant-Governor is not prepared to say that there has been any actual failure on the whole since its introduction. The great difficulty that has to be contended against is the inefficiency of the punchayets, and Mr. Rivers Thompson is not sanguine that any great improvement in this respect can immediately be looked for. Still he believes that the chowkidars as a body throughout these provinces are more efficient and are better off than they were before the present system was introduced, though the results, as compared with those of 1880, may seem to indicate retrogression rather than progress. At any rate Mr. Monro admits that the condition of those chowkidars who do not come within the scope of the operation of the Chowkidari Act of 1870 is very bad; that the men are underpaid and do not in the majority of cases receive, either regularly or in full, the small stipends to which they are entitled; and that their work is in consequence badly done. He considers that the men of this class should either be abolished altogether, or that they should be replaced by men so paid that they would perform their duties efficiently. Mr. Monro concludes his remarks on the chowkidari system by observing: "The whole subject of the state of chowkidars both under Act VI of 1870 and old regulations might well be dealt with by a Commission during the cold weather." The subject is one of great importance, and after communication with local officers on his approaching tour, the Lieutenant-Governor will give the necessary orders upon the Inspector General's suggestions.

5. In the resolution on the report for 1880, the Lieutenant-Governor remarked upon the steps which were being taken to utilize the services of the ghatwals in the district of Manbhoom, and to ensure their rendering efficient service in return for the lands which they hold for the performance of their duties, Mr. Rivers Thompson is glad to learn that during the past year the system of ghatwali road-posts in the district has worked satisfactorily and that it will be extended. The ghatwali lands are being surveyed, but the survey has not yet been entirely completed. The Inspector-General remarks that the Chowkidari Act appears to be unworkable on its present lines in Chota Nagpore, and he proposes to address Government separately on the subject. The Lieutenant-Governor will await the further communication.

6. No change was made during the year in the Railway police. The force, the entire strength of which was 585, consisted of one superior officer, 83 subordinate officers, and 501 constables. The Committee appointed to meet and enquire into the system under which the police are employed on the East Indian Railway have completed the necessary enquiries, and have submitted their report direct to the Government of India. The health of the Railway police during the year was not good, the admissions into hospital amounting to 128 per cent. of the total strength. The chief disease was malarious fever. No changes were made during the year in the Cantonment or the Salt Preventive Police.

7. The system of road patrols worked satisfactorily during 1881, and new Digwar posts were established in unprotected localities in the district of Hazaribagh. The Grand Trunk Road in Gya and Manbhoom was effectually patrolled during the year, and only one case of highway robbery was reported. It occurred in Bankoora, in which district the ghatwals are reported to be lax and inefficient. In the Backergunge district, in accordance with the scheme sanctioned by Government in 1880, the amount previously expended in hiring boats for the use of the police was devoted to the purchase of boats, and a number of dinghies were substituted for the process-serving boats previously maintained. Two boats which had been employed on river patrolling were withdrawn and were employed in watching the Panka Chur Kayasts, who, as was stated in the previous report, have been brought under surveillance. The total number of patrol boats was 55 as compared with 48 in 1880, and the cost for the year was Rs 26,946 as compared with Rs. 24,239 in 1880.

8. In consequence of the excitement in the Sonthal Pergunnahs in connection with the recent census operations it was found necessary to send a large body of police to that district; the strength of the force employed on this duty and drawn from other districts was 8 inspectors, 3 sub-inspectors, 60 head-constables and 766 constables. The men were for the most part sent to the district in February 1881, and they remained there till all fear of an outbreak had passed away. The Lieutenant-Governor in the last resolution commented on the satisfactory services rendered on this occasion by the special reserve. The special reserve was formerly divided into three companies, which were stationed at Dacca, Bhagulpore, and Moorshedabad. The company at Bhagulpore has now been permanently transferred to Nya Doomka, and in order that all districts may be supplied with a body of properly-drilled police, 50 men from different districts are sent every half-year to be drilled for six months with the special reserve in the Sonthal Pergunnahs. In Midnapore, two parties of private persons were employed as special police under section 17 of Act V of 1861, while in Furreedpore on account of anticipated riots no less than 346 persons were appointed as special police, four of them being appointed as head-constables. This temporary force was distributed over 28 different localities. In 12 instances an extra police force was supplied to private persons on their paying for them. Mr. Monro states that some of these parties were apparently supplied to private individuals for the purpose of preventing a breach of the public peace, and he remarks that enquiries are being made on the subject. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with the Inspector-General in considering that it is most objectionable to place a police force at the disposal of private individuals for such a purpose, and the further report which he promises will be awaited. If extra police are required to prevent a breach of the peace, they should be deputed to the locality where they are required as punitive police, and should be independent of either of the parties between whom ill-feeling may exist. A party of 12 police were deputed to Moharbhunj, one of the Cuttack Tributary Mehals, in consequence of an anticipated disturbance in that State. The force was paid by the Maharajah. The deputation of police under such circumstances is not analogous to the deputation of police on the requisition of a private individual, and is not, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, open to the same objections. Ten parties of punitive police, as compared with six in 1880 and five in 1879, were quartered in disturbed localities; of these, three parties were quartered in different parts of Backergunge and five in the Sonthal Pergunnahs. No change was made in the strength of the Chittagong Frontier force during the year; but since its close a proposal for an increase in the force in consequence of a new outpost, which will probably be established on the Kassalong range, has been received by Government. The proposal is still under consideration. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the report on the conduct of the force is again satisfactory; it is stated to have maintained its character for steadiness and efficiency, and the number of punishments has decreased. These good results will no doubt be perpetuated under the Chittagong Frontier Force Police Regulation for maintaining the discipline of the force, which received the sanction of the Government of India and came into operation towards the close of the past year.

9. The number of fairs held during the year was 193 as compared with 212 held during 1880, and the number of persons who attended them was 3,310,950 as against 3,427,750 in the preceding year. The total number of offences against property, or persons, committed at the fairs was 141, and the total value of the property stolen was Rs. 1,422, of which Rs. 729-12-0 or 51·2 per cent. was recovered. The proportion of offences against property to the total number of people at the fairs was 1 to 25,000 persons—the same as in 1880; and the value of property lost was only slightly above Re. 1 to each 5,000 persons. No serious crimes at fairs were reported, and there were no outbreaks of epidemics. These results are satisfactory.

10. The Inspector-General reports that reading and writing were less extensively practised amongst the regular police during 1881 than during 1880. The number of men under tuition in the two years were as follows:—

Sub inspectors	1	...
Head-constables	80	38
Constables	1,630	928

A slight decrease is also reported in the number able to read and write. The percentage of the regular police who could read and write was as follows:—

	1880.	1881.
Inspectors	99 per cent.	95 per cent.
Sub-inspectors	97 „	95 „
Head-constables	85 „	82 „
Constables	36 „	30 „

Amongst the Municipal police, the percentage of those who could read and write was—inspectors 100, sub-inspectors 94, head-constables 67, and constables 11. Of the Municipal police, one head-constable and 488 constables were under tuition.

11. New stations were constructed at Rampore Hat, Jamalpore in Mymensingh, Giridhi and other places, and magazines were under construction at Ranchi and Maldah. New buildings for the police reserve at Dinagepore were also under construction. The total expenditure during the year on police buildings was Rs. 80,374, of which Rs. 12,841 was met from the Public Works Department budget and Rs. 67,533 from the Police budget. Of the total outlay, Rs. 51,657 was expended in Bengal proper, Rs. 18,286 in Behar, Rs. 5,241 in Chota Nagpore and Rs. 5,190 in Orissa. The construction of good quarters for the accommodation of the police will benefit the general health of the service.

12. The casualties in the regular and Government Railway police amounted to 14·4 of the total strength, as compared with 12·3 in 1880, 15·6 in 1879 and 17·9 in 1878. Of the casualties 0·9 per cent. was due to retirements on pension or gratuity, 5 per cent. to resignations, 3·7 to dismissals, 1·6 to discharges, 0·6 to desertions and 2·6 to deaths. The Inspector-General remarks that the grant of the extra rupee per mensem to a certain number of constables in 1880 has probably to some extent caused the decrease in the number of resignations in Hooghly, but that it has not yet made the service as popular there, as it is in other districts. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, observes that, though there was a decrease in the actual number of resignations, there was an increase in their percentage to the total strength, and he considers it doubtful therefore if the extra allowance has had much effect: in the 24-Pergunnahs, one of the districts in which the allowance is given, the percentage of resignations in 1880 and 1881 was the same, viz. 8 per cent. The Inspector-General remarks that the difficulty of obtaining recruits is every day increasing, and this, though no doubt partly due to the fact that the work is hard, may, he thinks, be chiefly attributed to the fact that labour now commands such a high price that the pay in the police does not offer men a sufficient inducement to enlist, and he is of opinion that if efficiency is to be obtained the question of raising the pay of constables must very soon be considered by Government. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that there has been a rise in the wages of labour, but he does not consider, taking into consideration that the men are provided with free quarters, and that their clothes are supplied to them on a system which admits of their being obtained at a lower cost than that for which the men could themselves get them in the market, that there is any necessity at present to raise either the pay of the constables in the higher grades, or the salary of the constables belonging to the lower grades of the regular police. When it becomes necessary to make an increase in salary, the change should in the first instance be effected by allowing to lower grade constables in other districts the "batta" now given under special circumstances in selected districts. The percentage of deaths was 2·6 as compared with 1·8 in 1880; most of the deaths were caused by either fever or dysentery.

The following table shews the total number of punishments during the past three years:—

	Judicial convictions under the Penal Code.	Under Act V of 1861.	Departmental punishments.
1879	359	215	4,196
1881	355	243	5,053

Under all the heads there was an increase as compared with the figures for 1880, while, as compared with those for 1879, there was also a considerable increase under the last two heads, and only a slight decrease in the number of judicial convictions under the Penal Code. While there was an increase in the number of punishments, it is satisfactory to observe that there was also an increase in the number of men who specially distinguished themselves for good conduct. The number wearing good-conduct stripes at the close of 1881 being 7,238 or 47·5 of the whole strength of constables, as compared with 6,332 at the close of 1880. The amount distributed during the year as good-conduct allowance was Rs. 8,126 as compared with Rs. 6,857 during the preceding year. The total treasure escorted by the police during the year amounted to Rs. 11,91,88,022, and in no instance was any loss reported.

13. The number of suicides reported during the year was 2,354 as against 2,517 in 1880. Of the persons who committed suicide, 815 were men, 1,504 women and 35 children. The number of accidental deaths which were reported during 1881 was 26,266 against 25,988 in the preceding year. Of these 11,466 were caused by drowning, 9,268 were the effect of snake-bites, 1,367 persons were killed by wild animals, 544 by the fall of buildings and in the remaining 3,621 cases the deaths were due to various other causes. Twelve of the cases reported as suicides or accidental deaths proved on enquiry to be cases of murder or culpable homicide, five of these cases occurring in the district of Durbhunga alone.

1875	...	...	120,838	1879	...	...	108,771
1876	...	...	117,559	1880	...	...	108,275
1877	...	...	108,989	1881	...	...	104,153

There was a marked decrease in the number of cases against property as compared with the figures of the two preceding years, the number of such cases reported being only 60,781 in 1881 as compared with 64,696 in 1880 and 71,327 in 1879; there was a decrease of 295 in the number of cases against public tranquillity, 2,584 cases having been reported in 1881 against 2,879 in the previous year; the number of cases against the person shews on the other hand a slight increase, the number of cases in 1880 and 1881 being 16,534 and 16,668 respectively. The number of "other cases," not falling under any of the three preceding heads, was almost the same as the number in the preceding year, 24,166 being reported in that year against 24,120 in 1881. There was not only a falling off in the number of cases reported, but there was also a falling off in the number of true cases. Deducting from the total number of cases reported those declared to be false and those which fall under class VI (public and local nuisances, &c.), the number of true cases in 1881 was 72,548. The following statement shews the number of true cases computed in this manner for the last eight years:—

1874	...	...	84,964	1878	...	...	86,332
1875	...	...	78,851	1879	...	...	79,468
1876	...	...	75,993	1880	...	...	75,386
1877	...	...	77,533	1881	...	...	72,548

The Inspector-General attributes the decrease in crime chiefly to the same causes which led to its decrease in 1880, viz. the prosperous condition of the people in general during the year and the improved criminal and judicial administration. The proportion of true crime to area was 1 to 1·7 square miles, and to population 1 to 683 persons.

similarly entered as false. He suggests that there should be an additional column for "doubtful cases," in which cases could be entered when, though there is a doubt as to their truth, it is not certain that they are actually false, either deliberately or through a mistake of law or fact. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with the remarks made by Mr. Monro on this proposal, and considers that it would be very undesirable to add such a column. The mere fact that a definite decision must be arrived at in each case renders it necessary for the police to go into the evidence more carefully than they would otherwise do, and for the Magistrate to scrutinize the report intelligently when it is received. Were finality not required, there is no doubt that in most cases which were not clearly true or clearly false, the police, instead of continuing the enquiry, would close it and submit the report in the hopes that the case might be put down as "doubtful" instead of being returned to them for further enquiry. No doubt, as the Inspector-General remarks, there may be some diversity of opinion amongst officers when called on to decide under which class of false cases a case should come, but there would be a much greater variation of opinion regarding cases which should be considered doubtful. The principle which Mr. Monro lays down for adoption in regard to doubtful cases is sound, and is in accordance with the views on the subject which he expressed in his preceding report, viz. that when it is doubtful whether a case is maliciously false or not, the complainant should have the benefit of the doubt and his case should be presumed to be true until it can be proved to be false. If officers adopt this principle there should be no difficulty in dealing with such cases. The Inspector-General attributes the small number of prosecutions for false complaints to the fact that a number of the cases shewn as false are doubtful, and that Magistrates will not order the prosecution of a complainant where there is any uncertainty. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Mr. Monro's remark that "it is much better to have few cases declared maliciously false with the complainants in such cases prosecuted than to have many doubtful cases shewn as deliberately false with prosecutions of complainants very sparingly resorted to." The Inspector-General has, during the year, made enquiries regarding the number of cases which were reported by the police to be false and which were afterwards declared by Magistrates to be true, and he has ascertained that they only amounted to 7·7 per cent. of the total number of cases reported to be false. There was a great variation, however, in the percentage in different districts. In Dacca, the percentage of cases sent up as false by the police and in which the Magistrate took a different view from the police, was only 1·8 and in Cuttack 2·7, whilst the percentage in Rajshahye, Purneah, Lohardugga and Singbhoom was 18·3, 26·5, 27·3 and 27·7 respectively. Out of 7,549 cases declared false, prosecutions were instituted in 1,416, or 18·7 per cent; while in 1880, with a total of 8,803 cases declared false, the number of prosecutions was 1,466, or 16·6 per cent.; the number of cases in which convictions were obtained in 1880 and 1881 was 586 and 513 respectively. In a considerable number of districts, and especially in Jessore, Pubna, Tipperah, Maldah and Cuttack, the number of prosecutions was very small. In order to repress the offence of bringing false complaints, it is not necessary that conviction should invariably follow prosecution; the mere fact that a criminal prosecution will invariably follow the institution of a false case would in itself be a powerful deterrent, and Commissioners and the Inspector-General respectively should point this out clearly to district and police officers. The number of cases reported in which no enquiry was made rose from 1,659 in 1879 and 2,389 in 1880 to 3,692 in 1881. The increase during the past two years was due to the power of refusing enquiry in cases of hurt being more freely exercised. The percentage of cases under this head in which no enquiries were made was 28·8 during 1881 as compared with 11·2 in 1880 and 4·8 in 1879. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that the remarks recorded in the resolution on the last report, regarding enquiries into cases of burglary, have received due attention, and that the percentage of such cases not enquired into has fallen from 4·6 in 1880 to 3·4 in 1881. Of a total of 627 cases of lurking, house-trespass, or house-breaking, which were not enquired into, 405 were furnished by three districts—Bhagulpore, Jessore and Pubna. In Bhagulpore the number of cases not enquired into was 218 out of 507 cases reported, in Jessore 143 out of 612 and in Pubna 44 out of 241. The very unsatisfactory result in Bhagulpore was due to a rule issued by the then District Superintendent to the effect that no enquiry need be made when no property was stolen or when its value was small and the complainant did not press for an enquiry. This rule, which was an improper one, has since been withdrawn, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the results shewn in the next report may be more satisfactory. Mr. Rivers Thompson is unable to understand how the results in Nuddea should have been so unsatisfactory when the attention of the Magistrate and the District Superintendent were especially directed to this point by the remarks on the subject in the reports both for 1879 and 1880, and the general remarks on the results in the Presidency Division in the resolution of Government on the report for the latter year. The explanation from the Magistrate, which has been called for by the Inspector-General, will be awaited. Enquiries should also be made regarding the large number of cases in Pubna which were not investigated.

16. The total number of true cases brought under enquiry was 94,462 as against 98,654 in the preceding year, and convictions were obtained in 39,141 cases, or 41·4 per cent. as compared with 40,445, or 40·9 per cent. in 1880. Deducting, however, the cases falling under class VI (public and local nuisances, &c.), the percentage of convictions was only 26·1 as compared with 28·4 in the previous year. The percentage of convictions in cases enquired into by the police was 46·6 as compared with 46 in 1880 and 42·3 in 1879. This result is satisfactory, more particularly when it is taken into consideration that the census operations in the early part of the year interfered to a considerable extent with the police work in every district in these provinces. The Inspector-General reports that the scheme sanctioned by Government, to which allusion has already been made, for the introduction of a better class of men into the force, to supersede head-constables as investigating officers at outposts, is working well so far as it has been extended, and that "the candidates who apply for employment are distinctly of a better class and type than those formerly in the force." The Lieutenant-Governor has already sanctioned Rs. 20,000 for the extension of the scheme, and he will await with interest the report for the current year, when the Inspector-General will have had more opportunities of judging of the detective abilities displayed by the new class of officers.

17. The number of persons arrested during 1881 was 98,576. Of these 60,965, or 61·8 per cent., were convicted as against 63,859, or 62·1 per cent., convicted out of 102,825 arrested in 1880. The number of persons who actually appeared before a court was 95,689 as compared with 99,721 in 1880, and of these 63·7 per cent. were convicted against 64 per cent. in 1880. The percentage of cases in which convictions were obtained to the number of cases investigated was highest in Howrah (82·1), Hooghly (70·1), Darjeeling (66·7), Lohardugga (64·3) and Patna (62·3), and lowest in Rungpore (29), Manbhoom (26·2), Gya (24·6) Sarun (24 3), and the Sonthal Pergunnahs (22·3). In the Gurjhats the highest percentage of convictions (40·5) in cases of serious crime against property was obtained The highest percentage in cases of serious crime against the person (60·3) was obtained in Shahabad, and the highest in cases of minor offences against property (62·8) in Bogra.

18. The unsatisfactory result of the trial of cases committed to the Sessions or High Court has already been dealt with at considerable length both in the resolutions on the reports for 1880 and the preceding year, and in a circular in which the attention of all officers was drawn to the proportion of acquittals to convictions in cases committed to the Court of Sessions, and to the necessity for giving their personal attention to the investigations of the police in heinous cases; it does not, therefore, seem to the Lieutenant-Governor to be necessary to go again into the matter in detail. The same causes which in former years led to unsatisfactory results operated during the past year in a similar manner and with much the same effect. There were 1,337 convictions and 884 acquittals during 1881, the percentage of convictions and acquittals being respectively 60·2 and 39·8 as against 60·6 and 39·4 in 1880. Excluding Singbhoom and Gurjhats, in which the total number of cases tried was small, the percentage of acquittals to the number of cases tried by the Sessions Court was worst in Patna (61·8 , Lohardugga (59·2), Manbhoom (58·8), 24-Pergunnahs (58·4) and Hazaribagh (56·5), and best in Shahabad (18), Rajshahye (16·6), Balasore

(11·7) and Darjeeling (9). During 1881 the District Superintendents conducted the prosecution in 68 cases before the Court of Sessions, as compared with 53 cases in 1880. The Inspector-General points out that it is very difficult for a District Superintendent to spare time to attend personally before the Lower Court, or even before the Court of Sessions, without detriment to his work in the interior. The Lieutenant-Governor can easily understand that this is so, and he considers that it is only in special cases and under special circumstances that it is necessary for the District Superintendent to attend the court in person. It is to the work of the police while investigating the case and to greater care in supplying any links of evidence which may be found wanting while the preliminary enquiry in the Lower Court is going on, that it is necessary to look chiefly for better results in the Court of Sessions. A District Superintendent can exercise personal supervision over the management of a police enquiry and over the form in which the evidence is laid before the Lower Court without attending the court in person: and his presence in the Court of Sessions cannot remedy defects in the original investigation by the police, or in the manner in which the case is committed by the Lower Court, if these defects exist. If District Superintendents attend thoroughly to the conduct of the police enquiry, and Magistrates are careful in making their commitments, the Government Pleader will be able to look after cases at the Sessions.

19. During the year 239 cases were personally investigated by District Superintendents. Mr. Monro observes that some of the Divisional Commissioners think that more might have been done in the way of personal investigation, but he points out that personal investigation of a case involves detriment to the other duties which the District Superintendent has to perform; it renders it necessary to give up to the control of subordinates the proceedings in other cases which he is directing, and it interferes with his work of inspection. The Lieutenant-Governor considers it very doubtful whether the actual presence of the District Superintendent on the spot is of any advantage. The subordinates, if the District Superintendent is making the enquiry himself, will most probably leave everything to him, while his position and status often prevent him from obtaining information which an officer of lower rank, who could mix freely with the people, would obtain. It would be otherwise were evidence of an offence always easily procurable, or were people at once ready to impart all the information they possess; but in the majority of cases this is not so, and indirect enquiries, which a District Superintendent has neither the opportunity nor the leisure to make, are often necessary before the truth can be discovered. The personal supervision, which it has so often been laid down that a District Superintendent should exercise in the investigation of cases, should, as a rule, be directed towards making himself thoroughly acquainted with what his subordinates are doing in each case, to advising them regarding the manner in which they should proceed as to the points on which evidence should if possible be procured, and to seeing that they do not neglect their duty and that cases when sent up are sent up in as complete a form as possible.

20. The number of cases in which property was stolen during 1881 was 31,468 as against 32,952 in 1880. The whole of the stolen property was recovered in 10,327 cases, and a portion of it was recovered in 3,637 cases; the percentage of the cases in which property was recovered being 44·3 as compared with 45·5 in 1880. The total value of the property stolen amounted to Rs. 9,25,632, of which property to the value of Rs. 2,36,909, or 25·5 per cent., was recovered as compared with 30·4 in 1880, 28·9 in 1879, 31·1 in 1878 and 31·1 in 1877.

		1876	1877.	1878.	1879.	1880.	1881.
Class	... Offences against the State and public tranquillity	2,700	2,818	2,785	2,840	2,630	2,427

	Total	95,746	91,361	1,01,818	98,162	99,172	96,604

There was again a satisfactory decrease in the number of cases under class I. In 1880 there was a decrease of cases under this head of 201 as compared with those in 1879, and in the past year there was a still further decrease of 212. The percentages of convictions with reference to cases and persons were respectively 53·9 and 58·7, as against 51·3 and 56·2 in 1880. The result of cases committed to the sessions was again unsatisfactory, though some slight improvement was shown as compared with the results in 1880; out of 604 persons who were committed or who appealed, 164 being convicted as against 107 out of 589 in the preceding year. Under the head of "coining" there was a decrease of 13 cases. In one case in Midnapore, a draftsman, out of employ, forged by hand some currency notes for Rs. 20 each, and, though the imitations were rough, he succeeded in passing some of them. One was presented at the Midnapore treasury and was detected, and the forger was arrested, convicted and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment. There was an increase in the cases under this head in Orissa, which is stated to be due to the increased vigilance of the police in bringing to light cases in which bad or light coin were passed. The most satisfactory decrease in the number of cases in class I was, however, under the head of "riot." Under this head there has been a gradual decrease during the last four years, the number of true cases having fallen from 2,012 in 1878, 1,989 in 1879 and 1,862 in 1880, to 1,716 during the past year. As compared with 1880, there was a decrease of 146 true cases and 79 false cases. There was a decrease in the number of true cases in three Commissioners' divisions only—namely, in Dacca, Burdwan, and Patna, the most marked decrease being in Dacca, where the number of true cases fell from 472 to 360. In Orissa the number of true cases was the same as in 1880, and in the other divisions there was an increase; the increase was, however, very slight except in Chittagong, where the number of true cases rose from 221 in 1880 to 276 in 1881. Excluding pending cases, the percentage of convictions for "riot" was 60·8 as compared with 54·8 in 1880. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe the very decided improvement in the Dacca Division, which has always enjoyed the reputation of being particularly bad in respect of these cases. The number in this division has fallen from 762 in 1878 and 763 in 1879, to 472 in 1880 and 360 in 1881, the latter number being only 12 in excess of the number of cases of the same nature which occurred during the year in the Presidency Division. Most of the riots were of a petty nature, as is shown by the fact that out of 8,203 persons who actually appeared before Magistrates, and whose cases were decided, 7,646 were dealt with by the lower courts. Mr. Monro states that he was unable, in consequence of the absence of officers on special duty in other districts, to carry into operation a scheme which he had in preparation for the suppression of riots in the Eastern districts. He promises, however, that the matter will not be lost sight of and that it will be taken in hand during the cold weather. The Lieutenant-Governor will await the report. The number of riots in which death was caused again increased, the number of cases being 26 in 1881 as compared with 23 in 1880 and 11 in 1879. Of the 26 cases, the number which occurred in the different divisions was: Burdwan one, Presidency five, Rajshahye and Cooch Behar two, Dacca five, Chittagong five, Patna six, Bhagulpore one and Orissa one. In a riot which occurred in the temple of Juggernath at Pooree, a man was killed. The man belonged to a body of religious fanatics who came from Sambalpore in the Central Provinces, for the purpose of burning the image of Juggernath. About twenty of these people forced their way into the enclosure of the temple and attempted to enter the shrine itself, but finding the main door shut, they rushed about the enclosure endeavouring to discover an entrance in some other direction. There were at the time about a thousand pilgrims present, and in the confusion which took place, one of the fanatics fell, or was knocked down, on the stone pavement and died from the effects of the fall. An official account of the attack and a description of the religious tenets of the sect, compiled from the reports submitted to Government, has already been published. The persons, who belonged to a sect known as Kumbhupatias, from their custom of clothing themselves with bark, were tried, convicted and were each sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment.

22. The following table shows the number of cases of each kind under class II, "serious offences against the person," as compared with those of the previous year :—

Head of offence	Year	Number of cases.	Number of cases in which a conviction was obtained.
Murder	1880 ...	265	100

The total increase in the number of cases under this class was 240. Of this the greater portion was under the head of "hurt by dangerous weapons," under which there was an increase of 164 cases. The percentage of convictions under class II to cases and persons was 41·1 and 45·1 respectively, as compared with 42·7 and 47 in 1880. Under the head of "murder" there was an increase of 31 cases, the number of cases being 296 as against 265 in 1880. There were three cases of murder by dacoits, one in each of the districts of Midnapore, Jessore and Dinagepore. Under the head of "murder by robbers" there was a serious increase, the number of cases having risen from 8 in 1880 to 17 in the past year. Of these murders, three were committed in Darjeeling and five in Patna; in nine other districts there was one case in each. Of 19 persons put on their trial in connection with these offences, eight were convicted, eight acquitted and the cases against the other three were pending at the close of the year. This result is very unsatisfactory. Murders by poison increased from 12 to 19, of which 10 occurred in the Dacca Division. The result of the trials of these cases was most markedly unsuccessful; of 26 persons put on their trial, only two were convicted as compared with 17 acquitted; the cases against the other seven had not been disposed of at the end of the year. There were 257 other murders as compared with 243 in 1880. Of these, 15 were committed in Backergunge, 15 in Mymensing, and 14 in the 24-Pergunnahs. The result of the trials in these cases also was unsatisfactory; out of 625 persons put on their trial, only 160 were convicted as against 300 acquitted; the cases against the other 165 were pending at the end of the year. There was a decrease in the number of cases of administering stupefying drugs, which is satisfactory. As compared with 38 cases in 1879, there were only 22 in 1880 and 19 in 1881. It is stated that very few of the offences were committed by professional poisoners. Convictions were obtained in four cases only, but two of the most important cases were pending at the close of the year. The Inspector-General has done much to check the commission of offences of this class. Every known poisoner has been looked up, and lists of those within each station have been furnished to the police of the stations within which they reside. On the commission of an offence enquiry is at once made into the recent movements of the "professionals," and this procedure has been found to render it much more difficult for them to commit offences without detection. The system appears to

23. Under the head of "serious offences against person and property, or against property only," there was an increase of 98 cases, the number of true cases in 1881 being 19,051 as compared with 18,955 in 1880. There was a satisfactory decrease in the number of cases of dacoity, due probably to the fact that most of the old gangs of dacoits have been broken up. There has been a steady diminution in the number of cases of dacoity for the last four years, the number of cases in each year from 1878 to 1881 having been respectively 188, 171, 135 and 117. Of the latter number, 12 were cases in which the offence was committed during previous years, but which came under investigation during the past year, only 105 dacoities having been actually committed within the year. In Midnapore 10 dacoities were committed as against 15 in 1880, in Dinagepore 9 and the same number in Mymensingh and Gya, while in Maldah there were 6. The value of the property stolen was Rs. 33,031 as compared with Rs. 61,071 in 1880; of this property to the value of Rs. 1,750 only was recovered as against Rs. 12,455 in the preceding year. This is unsatisfactory. The result of the judicial trials for dacoity shows, as Mr. Monro remarks, that whatever may have been the success of the police, so far as their efforts to prevent the crime are concerned, they have failed in regard to the obtaining of convictions. The result of the trials were successful in Rungpore, where 12 persons were convicted and 5 acquitted, in Rajshahye where there were 9 convictions and one acquittal, in Bogra where 5 persons were convicted out of 6 placed on their trial and in Cuttack where there were 3 acquittals to 6 convictions. The results were very bad in Purneah (only 6 convictions to 30 acquittals), Midnapore (5 to 23) and Moorshedabad (4 to 26), and still more so in Lohardugga, Backergunge and Mymensingh, in which there were respectively 19, 19 and 46 acquittals, without a single conviction. In Maldah the offences appear to have been committed by some of the old dacoits, as some of them were arrested and reconvicted, and the effect was so marked that during the last seven months of the year not a single dacoity was committed in the district, though six had been committed during the first five months of the year. This result is very creditable to the Maldah police.

24. The Inspector-General states that the development of railways in these provinces has brought with it a new cause of anxiety with reference to the spread of dacoity, and he believes that the men brought to Lower Bengal as labourers on lines under construction take to dacoity on their way home in order to increase their earnings. Special measures have been adopted in the employment of police to watch the large bodies of men who go to every district in which a line of railway is under construction. In connection with the question of dacoities in Dinagepore, the Inspector-General observes that the district is too large for the police administration to be managed from head-quarters, and adds that he believes that there would be an improvement were the sub-divisional system extended to Dinagepore. A scheme for opening out two sub-divisions in the district, with head-quarters at Thakoorgram and Putnitolla respectively, received the sanction of Government some years ago. The sub-divisions were not, however, opened, and the scheme was allowed to remain in abeyance. The local officers will again be consulted on the subject. The number of cases of robbery of all kinds fell from 168 in 1880 to 147 in 1881. There was a slight increase in the number of cases of robbery of the more serious kinds, while the number of cases of ordinary robbery fell from 124 to 95. The value of the property stolen was Rs. 8,306, and of that recovered Rs. 1,441. It is reported that the District Superintendent of Midnapore suspects that robberies are committed on the Grand Trunk Road between Midnapore and Jellasore in Orissa; the District Superintendent does not consider the paiks stationed along the road to protect pilgrim traffic are honest, and he is organizing an effective control for the road. Mr. Monro remarks that he does not think that there is much robbery, though there is considerable pilfering from pilgrims of which no complaint is made, as a police enquiry would involve delay, and it would be necessary either for the whole party of pilgrims to wait till it was completed, or for the person aggrieved to remain behind the band with which he was travelling, which he does not generally care to do. Probably there are not many cases of robbery on the road. If there was any frequent commission of offences of this nature, the fact could scarcely have failed to have been brought to the notice of the authorities. As it is, the District Superintendent's suspicions do not appear to be based on any definite information. The decrease in the number of cases of lurking house-trespass, or house-breaking, was very slight, the number of cases reported during the year being 18,447 as compared with 18,509 in 1880. The number of true cases enquired into (those not enquired into being excluded) was 16,706 as against 16,777 in the preceding year. Convictions were obtained in 1,321 cases only, 1,899 persons being convicted and 1,263 acquitted.

25. There were 11,096 true cases under the head of "Minor offences against the person," as compared with 10,874 in 1880. The total number of cases reported during 1881 was, however, less than that reported in the preceding year, and the Inspector-General believes that to the stricter application of circular I of 1877 and the consequent decrease in the number of cases declared to be false is to be attributed the apparent increase in the number of true cases. Regarding cases under this head Mr. Monro remarks: "The result of trials has fallen off both as regards persons and cases, which I cannot satisfactorily account for. I observe that 640 cases were compromised, but even making allowance for this, the result should not have fallen off, seeing that a large number of cases of hurt were not enquired into. The orders of Government on this subject of non enquiry in such cases have now had full effect. * * * It is possible that non-investigation by the police of hurt cases has had the effect of producing a falling off in the result of cases tried, for such a falling off is visible in almost every division, and is unaccountable otherwise than on the above supposition." Out of 8,357 cases of hurt reported. the police refused to make an enquiry in 2,371 cases. It is possible, as the final results include cases into which the police refused to enquire and which the complainants nevertheless insisted on bringing into court, that the result of the trials may have been worse than it would have been had the police enquired into every case, as probably many cases came up for trial and were dismissed, which, had the police enquired into them, would not have come into court at all. It is, however, unnecessary to discuss this question with a view to determining whether the police have refused in too many cases of this kind to make an enquiry, as under the new Criminal Procedure Code "hurt" will be a non-cognizable offence. The number of true cases of wrongful restraint was only 10 in excess of the number in 1880, the number in 1881 being 2,766 as compared with 2,756 in the preceding year.

26. There has again been a very satisfactory decrease in the number of minor offences against property, the number of cases having fallen from 38,859 in 1880 to 35,673 during the past year—a decrease of 3,186 cases. The decrease was chiefly under the head of "theft." Including burglaries, the decrease amounted to 3,281 cases. The Inspector-General, regarding this decrease, remarks—"These results still further illustrate the remark which I made last year, that the effect on crime of a prosperous year is chiefly visible as regards offences committed by casual criminals, such as thefts. More hardened offenders of the house-breaking type are not so much affected by a year of good crops and general plenty." In these observations the Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs. The number of true cases of theft was 23,025 as compared with 24,799 in 1880, while the number of cases of cattle theft fell from 1,617 in 1880 to 1,469 during the past year, and the number of cases of receiving stolen property from 1,913 to 1,776. In remarking upon burglaries, the Inspector-General refers to a case in which a gang of weavers of Muradnuggur station in Tipperah, having been compelled to abandon their trade, took to stealing as a regular profession, and carried on their depredations for some time: they were subsequently detected and arrested, as well as a similar gang that had been carrying on depredations in an other part of the country. In connection with this subject, Mr. Monro remarks: "It cannot but be regretted that the pressure of foreign trade upon native industries should have this disastrous effect of converting probably honest weavers into organised gangs of thieves. A similar instance has not come under my notice, but it might be worth while to institute some enquiry as to whether he "decay of the weaving trade in Eastern Bengal has in any other district driven the formerly prosperous weavers into crime." The Inspector-General of Jails will be asked to report whether the jail statistics furnish any indication of an extension of crime in the direction indicated in Mr. Monro's remarks.

27. Under class VI, which contains cases not shown in the first five classes, there was a slight decrease, the number of true cases instituted in 1881 being 22,015 as compared with 22,109 in the preceding year. The number of cases was, however, higher than during any of the five years preceding 1880. It is satisfactory to observe that under this class there has been some improvement as regards the results of trials, both in respect of cases and persons. The percentage of convictions in cases and persons was respectively 86·7 and 89·7 as compared with 84·1 and 89·5 in 1880. The number of true cases of vagrancy increased from 935 in 1880 to 1,042 in 1881, the number of persons tried being 1,015 and 1,187 respectively. The Inspector-General observes that it is difficult to say if there was really an increase in the actual number of cases, as different officers show the cases in different ways; and he points out as an example that the number of cases under this head in Bogra was 54, 52 of these cases really representing one case in which 52 up-country budmashes were arrested, while the number in Pooree was only 11, though in that district in three if not more cases three gangs of Burwars were concerned, numbering from 60 to 70 men. It would, the Lieutenant-Governor considers, be desirable were the Inspector-General to make enquiries regarding the procedure adopted in the various districts in showing these cases in the returns, with a view to such instructions being issued as will ensure uniformity being shown in the statements submitted by different officers. Each separate individual should be shown as a separate case, as the information is really required regarding the number of men there are of the vagrant class, and not regarding the number of cases tried by the court. Notwithstanding the very clear directions of Government that these cases should, if possible, be tried in the villages in which the accused persons reside, there was an apparent neglect to adopt this procedure in Howrah, Nuddea, Bogra, Pubna, Patna, Gya, Shahabad, Mozufferpore, Durbhunga, Sarun, Chumparun and Manbhoom. It may be possible, as was the case in Pooree, where the entire number of cases were tried in court, that there was some special reason which rendered it necessary to adopt that course instead of following the instructions of Government, and much time taken up in making references would be saved were district officers, when submitting their reports, to state the reasons which rendered it necessary to deviate from the instructions already laid down. It was found necessary, after the report for 1880 had been submitted, to call for explanations of the neglect of Government orders, and in some cases no sufficient explanation was forthcoming, though in others it was shown that the course adopted was the only one open. The Inspector-General should now call for explanations from the Magistrates of all the districts above mentioned, and submit them for the information of Government. No explanation need be called for from the Magistrate of Pooree, as it is understood that the persons who were tried in that district belonged to wandering gangs and were not residents of the district. It is observed that the cases of this description were not disposed of with proper despatch. In several districts the delay which occurred was apparently quite unnecessary and unwarranted.

28. Mr. Monro brings to the notice of Government the difficulty which the police experience in carrying out the orders regarding the maintenance of a strict supervision over bad characters. He points out that the number of men now under surveillance, exclusive of Darjeeling, amounts to 59,369, and that it is the duty of the police to make periodical and personal enquiries in the village where each of these men resides regarding his habits, means of livelihood and movements, and that these enquiries have to be made either once a month, or once in two, three, six, or, in minor cases, once in twelve months, besides enquiries made at irregular intervals. The police cannot, he states, spare time to pay all the required visits, and the result is that many of the entries in the registers of bad characters kept at police stations regarding enquiries completed are fictitious. The Lieutenant-Governor admits that the duty throws on the police a very great burden, which cannot always be fully discharged. The duty is nevertheless an important one, and there are throughout the present report remarks which show the benefit which has been derived from this supervision of bad characters. It is one therefore which must continue to be performed, though the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to be favoured with an expression of the Inspector-General's opinion whether it is possible to devise any improvement of the system by which the duty might be rendered less onerous. Were the village chowkidars more useful or more trustworthy, reports from them at certain intervals, supplemented by occasional personal and local enquiries on the part of the police, would relieve the police materially; but the chowkidar, as the body of men to which he belongs is at present constituted, cannot be relied upon in a matter of this kind, and he would probably, in almost every instance, be a friend, if not a connection, of the man whose movements had to be watched. Until some improvement in the chowkidari system is introduced, the police must themselves take the principal part in supervising bad characters. Something might, perhaps, be done by lengthening the periods of inspection, opportunity being taken to make supplementary enquiries whenever a police officer has, on any other account, to visit any village in which a bad character resides.

29. The number of cases under the Excise Act fell from 2,994 in 1880 to 2,414 during the past year. Two causes are assigned for this decrease: first, the fact that in consequence of the extension of the outstill system illicit distillation has decreased; and secondly, that the prosecution of licensed vendors for unimportant breaches of their licenses has not been insisted on. There were only 359 cases of illicit distillation, and of these 148 occurred in the district of Beerbhoom, and were the result of the illicit manufacture of puchwai by the Sonthals. Most of the other cases were due to prosecutions for the illicit possession or sale of country spirits (669), opium (327), ganja and bhang (345), fresh tari (317) and fermented tari (204) It is satisfactory to observe that rewards are now more promptly paid. Of the number of cases tried, convictions were obtained in 1,768; out of 3,111 persons who appeared before a Magistrate, 2,540 were convicted and 571 acquitted.

30. There was a decrease in the number of salt cases during the past year, the number being 993 in 1881 as compared with 1,198 in 1880. There was a decrease in these cases in the 24-Pergunnahs, accompanied by an increase of consumption. The decrease is attributed to the fact that the illicit manufacture of salt is carried on during the months of January, February, March and April, and that during this time in 1881 not only was the weather unsuited to the manufacture of salt, but during the months of January and February the police were constantly visiting villages in connection with the census operations. There has been in most saliferous districts, greater activity on the part of the police, and as the Inspector-General observes, "officers have kept before them the importance of detecting real breaches of salt laws likely to injure the revenue, instead of wasting their time in attempting to secure convictions in cases of trivial importance." The result of the cases, though, like that of cases under most other heads, inferior to that of the preceding year, has on the whole been satisfactory. According to the Inspector-General there is reason to believe that the Arms Act was at first worked injudiciously amongst the Sonthals It has been clearly pointed out to Magistrates that where arms are required for the protection of either person or property, no difficulties should be thrown in the way of persons desiring to obtain licenses, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that no obstacles are now placed in the way of the Sonthals obtaining licenses to possess such weapons as they really need for their protection.

31. During the past year there was a decrease in the number of non-cognizable offences, the number being 4,855 below the number of cases in 1880. There was a decrease under almost every head, the only heads under which there was an increase being extortion, criminal breach of trust by public servants, nuisance, offences under Ferry Acts, Abkari Acts, Police, Salt, Vaccination, and Municipal Acts and under other specific laws. The police were employed in 6,065 or 5·8 per cent. of these cases as compared with 5,977 or 5·5 in 1880. The number of cases transferred to the cognizable from the non-cognizable side was 2,956 as against 2,989 similarly transferred during the preceding year. Of 109,015 persons summoned to appear before the courts, 81,519 appeared; the percentage of persons convicted to those who were summoned and to those who appeared was 43·6 and 58·4 respectively, as compared with 43·2 and 59·7 in 1880. There was a slight increase in the number of cases in the Patna, Orissa, and Chota Nagpore Divisions; in all the rest there was a decrease. The Inspector-General is disposed to assign the decrease in the number of cases in the Burdwan Division to the fact that, though the year was a prosperous one, and the harvest good, the fall in prices did not allow of the people realizing a sufficient amount to permit of their being "able to indulge in their litigious propensities." If this reason is correct, it probably accounts for the decrease of cases in the other divisions also.

32. Mr. Monro reports that the greatest attention has been paid during the past year to the watching of criminal tribes and professional criminals, and with the most satisfactory results. The Bediyas (who apply to themselves the term "Shikari," which Mr. Monro thinks is synonymous with Zingari, Zincali, Zigeuner) have caused no trouble, and not a single man of the tribe has been convicted beyond the limits of the district within which they live; nor, at those times of the year at which formerly every Bediya who was not incapacitated from movement by old age or some physical infirmity was usually away from the village in which he resided, was there a single Bediya absent, unless it was for the purpose of paying a legitimate visit to some neighbouring hât. More boats are apparently required in order to enable the police to exercise proper supervision over the Punka Chur Kayasts. Separate proposals on this subject should be submitted for the orders of Government. The Burwars still continue their depredatory incursions into Bengal. The report on the subject of the incursions made by the members of this tribe into Bengal, which was called for, was received towards the close of the year, and the Lieutenant-Governor has again urged upon the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the necessity of putting into force against this tribe the provisions of the Criminal Tribes Act of 1871.

33. The progress made in photographing criminals has been small, as the Inspector-General reserved the major part of the amount allotted for this purpose for photographing Burwars. The Inspector-General is now, he states, in correspondence with New York photographers regarding an inexpensive method of taking likenesses. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to hear the result of the correspondence.

34. There was a marked improvement during the past year in regard to the punishment of reconvicted offenders, and it has, Mr. Monro reports, benefited to a large extent the honest and non-criminal classes. The total number of offenders reconvicted was 1,432, and of these one conviction was proved against 1,059, two convictions against 243, three against 74, four against 40 and five against 10, six or more previous convictions being proved against each of the other 6 persons. A list of 114 cases is submitted, in each of which the punishment was, the Inspector-General considers, inadequate. The Lieutenant-Governor is not prepared to say that the punishment was inadequate in every case, as it is impossible, without examining the records, to ascertain what the peculiar circumstances in any given case were which led the Magistrate to pass an apparently lenient sentence; but looking to the figures given in the statement, Mr. Rivers Thompson has no doubt that in many of the cases the punishment was insufficient. District officers should be careful to supervise thoroughly the work of their subordinates in this respect in order to satisfy themselves that the sentences passed are exemplary.

35. The general conduct of the police is favourably reported on, though some deterioration in the work of the force in Dinagepore and Monghyr was noticeable. The Orissa police are stated to be an apathetic body, but steps have been taken to infuse fresh blood into them.

36. Mr. Monro concludes his report by observing that the result of police operations has been on the whole satisfactory. In this view the Lieutenant-Governor concurs. Crime has diminished, and serious offences, such as drugging and dacoity, have decreased; the supervision and watch kept over bad characters has also tended to reduce crime, and to restrain the depredations of wandering and criminal tribes, and there has been an improvement in the treatment of excise and salt cases. The judicial results of the cases brought to trial was again unsatisfactory, though it was not very different from the results obtained during the preceding year. Mr. Monro held the appointment of Inspector-General during the year, with the exception of an interval of 2½ months, during which Colonel W. R. Gordon officiated for him. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to record his high appreciation of the thoroughness of Mr. Monro's police administration in these provinces. Every branch of the large department under him has received close and watchful supervision. The names of those officers favourably mentioned in the report have been noted, and a copy of the remarks will be communicated to the Appointment Department for record; the names of the subordinate officers mentioned in paragraph 57 of the report, as having obtained special rewards for their services, have also been noted.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police and the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution and of paragraph 66 of the report, be forwarded to the Appointment Department of this office for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 5th August 1882.

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
	BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN. 1	Burdwan, Aug. 5 '82	0·08	Weather—hot and cloudy with every appearance of rain, but no good fall of it. Amun very backward. Rain much wanted. Cholera prevalent in the head-quarters sub-division.
	Raneegunge ...	5·02
	Culna ...	0·73
	Cutwa ...	3·67
2	Bankoora „ 5 „	0·27	Weather—sultry and cloudy, with strong sun at intervals. The prospects of the crops still continue fair, but the want of rain is nearly general, and if there be none soon, even the low lands will suffer. The high lands are already suffering seriously. Public health good. Some cases of cholera are reported here and there.
	Bishenpore ...	0·25
	Khatra ...	2·57
	Maliara ...	0·63
3	Beerbhoom, „ 5 „	1·26	Weather—cloudy and hot. Transplanting of rice checked for want of rain. Price of rice rising. Cholera still reported.
4	Midnapore, „ 5 „	1·69	Weather—hot. Rain much wanted in many parts of the district. General health good.
5	Hooghly, „ 5 „	1·08	Weather—hot, with occasional showers. Amun crop is suffering from want of rain, which is much required all over the district. There are several sporadic cases of cholera in the district. Fever prevalent in Jehanabad sub-division.
	Howrah, „ 7 „	1·85*	Weather—two hot days and the rainfall is rather short of what is needed. More rain is wanted, especially in the Oolooberiah sub-division, for the transplanting of amun rice seedlings, otherwise prospects continue good.
	Oolooberiah ...	0·49
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN. 6	24-Pergunnahs, Aug. 7 '82	1·3*	Weather—hot and cloudy. More rain wanted. Prospects of jute, sugarcane and early rice continue satisfactory. Transplanting of amun has been retarded in parts of the district by want of sufficient rainfall. Public health generally good.
7	Nuddea, „ 5 „	Not shewn	Weather—very sultry and generally clear. Prospects of rice crop not very favourable. Rain is greatly wanted, especially in Chooadanga and Meherpore. Fever on the increase. Cholera said to have broken out again in station Tyhatta.

	Ranaghat ...	1·29
	Bongong ...	0·70
8	Khoolna „ 5 „	0·84	Weather—cloudy and hot, with a little rain. Prospects of rice crops are reported to be favourable, but cultivation has been retarded by the want of rain. Public health good.
9	Jessore, „ 5 „	0·92	Weather—hot and cloudy. All the crops of this season, except indigo, are suffering from the want of sufficient rain. The aus is not expected to yield half the average outturn. If there be no sufficient rain in a fortnight, the amun paddy will be greatly injured. General health normal. Sporadic cases of cholera reported in Narail, where the river is rising.
	Jhenida ...	0·85
	Magurah ...	0·16
	Narail ...	0·48
10	Moorshedabad, „ 5 „	0·78	Weather—very hot and close. Very little rain fell throughout the week, but it is cloudy and rainy this afternoon (5th). Bhadoi is being harvested, but much loss has been done to low land crops by the rise of rivers, especially in thana Dewanserai. Prospects of amun unsatisfactory owing to want of rain. Transplanting is at a stand-still. Fever prevails in Gokurn and Rangamati.
RAJSHAHYE AND COOCH BEHAR DIVN. 11	Dinagepore, Aug. 4 '82	0·07	Weather—dry for the season. Bhadoi has suffered considerably from want of rain. Transplanting of amun delayed for the same reason. What has been transplanted has suffered in some places. Price of rice from 20 to 28 seers per rupee.
12	Rajshahye, „ 5 „	0·25	Weather—sultry and cloudy. There is apprehension of much injury to the crops for want of rain throughout the district. The price of rice is rising. Fever prevails in some parts of the district. It is specially bad at Durgapore in Putia.
	Nattore ...	Nil
13	Rungpore ...	...	Report not received.
14	Bogra, „ 5 „	0·92	The weather continues dry and hot. Rain fell on three days only. Clouds come and go, but very little rain falls. The transplanting of the amun crop has been stopped for want of rain, which is now urgently required. The aus crop is being reaped with good outturn. Health generally good. Fever, however, has been reported from the Bogra, Sherpore, and Panchbibi thanas, and nine cases of cholera from Khetlal.
15	Pubna, „ 5 „	0·80	Weather—generally sunshiny and hot. Rain much wanted. No great damage done as yet.
	Serajgunge ...	Nil
16	Darjeeling, „ 5 „	1·29	Very little rain has fallen in the Terai. Weather warm both there and in the hill portion of the district. More rain wanted for all standing crops in the Terai and for transplanting haimanta paddy. Hill crops doing well. Bhoota and potatoes are being harvested.
17	Julpigoree, „ 5 „	1·75	Weather—unusually hot and dry during a greater part of the week. More rain wanted for the late rice, the transplanting of which is not progressing. Other crops favourably reported.
	Cooch Behar, „ 5 „	1·85	Weather—very hot and close. Rain much wanted for the transplanting of late rice. Cutting of early rice going on. Prospects of jute good. Price of rice Rs. 2-4 per maund. Public health good.

Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN. 18	Dacca, Aug. 5 '82	0·60	Weather—hot and oppressive. Complaints of injury to amun rice from falling of the rivers. Jute harvest progresses.
	Manickgunge ...	0·41
	Munshigunge ...	2·81
19	Furreedpore, „ 5 „	1·40	Weather—hot and generally fine till the night of 4th, when much rain fell. A great deal more rain is wanted, and the crops will suffer seriously if it holds off much longer. Some of the rivers are said to be slowly rising, but others appear to be still falling. Boro paddy has been reaped, and the aus harvest is beginning. Public health generally good.
	Madaripore ...	2·31
20	Backergunge, Aug. 3 „	2·64	Weather—sultry. Occasional showers. Rain wanted in some places. General prospects of rice crop still good. Fever prevalent. Cattle-disease in south of district.
21	Mymensingh, „ 4 „	0·70	Weather—dry and very hot for the time of year. More rain is much wanted. The crops on the high lands are suffering from the unusual drought.
CHITTAGONG DIVN. 22	Chittagong Aug. 8 '82	6·29	Weather—seasonable. The rain has done much good to standing crops. Cultivation of amun going on steadily. Prices stationary. Cholera and small-pox still continue.
23	Noakholly, „ 3 „	3·50	Weather—sultry. Rain scanty. Much more rain is wanted. Aus paddy is being harvested. Transplanting of amun paddy continues.
24	Tipperah, „ 4 „	2·04	Weather—unusually dry: more like October than August. No damage yet done, but more rain is wanted for transplanted rice.
	Brahmunbaria ...	0·28
	Chandpore ..	5·50
25	Chittagong Hill „ 1 „ Tracts.	2·38	Weather—excessively hot and sultry in first part of the week; occasional showers during the past three days. Joomiahs complaining everywhere of want of rain. More rain also wanted for plough paddy. Early joom crops and sugarcane fairly good.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 2 „	2·65	Weather—too sultry for the season. More rain wanted. Transplanting of amun commenced. Prospects of aus good. Sugarcane doing well. Public health good.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN. 26	Patna Aug. 5 '82	Nil	Weather—hot and sultry. Rain is beginning to be much wanted. Transplanting of rice seedlings going on to a limited extent in Behar sub-division only. Bhadoi crop is stunted for want of rain. Cholera still prevalent in the sub-division of Behar.
	Behar ..	4·01
	Dinapore ...	0·10
	Barh ...	1·26
27	Gya, „ 5 „	1·88	Weather—cloudy. Prospects of bhadoi favourable. More rain wanted for the transplanting of paddy. Cholera and fever still prevalent in some places.

	Jehanabad ...	1·45
	Aurungabad ...	0·40
28	Shahabad, „ 5 „	0·05	Weather—excessively hot. Rain urgently wanted throughout the district both for the bhadoi crops and for the transplanting of paddy seedlings. Cholera abating.
	Buxar ...	0·33
	Sasseram ..	0·15
29	Durbhunga, „ 5 „	0·36	Weather—very hot, cloudy with showers. Good rain reported from parts of the district. Rain very badly wanted Rice is withering. Prices rising slightly. Cholera has nearly disappeared.
30	Mozufferpore, „ 5 „	0·60*	Weather—very hot and close. The want of rain is severely felt throughout the district. Bhadoi crops are still fair in parts of Hajeepore and Mozufferpore sub-divisions, but in Seetamurhee sub-division they are in a very critical state. The growth of transplanted paddy is retared, and the seedlings that remain to be planted out are losing vigour.
	Hajeepore ...	0·33
	Seetamurhee ...	0·09
31	Sarun, „ 5 „	0·18	Weather—very hot and close. There has been slight rain this morning (5th). Rain badly wanted for all crops. Makai (Indian-corn) in some places withering for want of moisture, and transplanting of paddy is at a stand-still. Serious damage is apprehended if sufficient rain does not fall during the coming week. Cholera and small-pox slightly on the increase in the Sewan and Gopalgunge sub-divisions, but not so in the Sudder, where fatal cases are few Prices rising.
	Sewan ...	0·70
	Gopalgunge ...	0·74
32	Chumparun, „ 5 „	0·92	Weather—hot and sultry with occasional showers. Transplanting of paddy is retarded for want of rain. Rain is very much wanted all over the district, the fall up to date being far below the average Some cases of cholera and fever still reported.
BHAGULPORE DIVN. 33	Monghyr, Aug. 5 '82	0·34	Weather—very sultry. More rain wanted in the Sudder and Begooserai sub-divisions, but prospects so far are good.
	Begusarai ...	1·37
	Jamui ...	5·07
34	Bhagulpore „ 5 „	0·32	Weather—very hot Very little rain. Rice seedlings are withering from the continued drought. Much damage has been done, and unless there is a good rainfall soon, the rest will be also destroyed. Autumn crops are doing well, but would be improved by rain.
35	Purneah, „ 5 „	1·73	Weather—very hot and sultry. The want of rain is greatly felt everywhere. The bhadoi is nearly ready for harvesting, but the ears are parched, and the outturn will be light. Transplanting is at a stand-still, as the fields are dry. Food-grains are rising in price.
	Kissengunge ...	0·66
	Arrareah ...	1·89
36	Maldah, „ 5 „	Nil	Weather—hot and close. The crops are suffering for want of rain. Common rice is selling at 15 seers a rupee in the Sudder station General health fair.
37	Santhal Perghs, „ 5 '82	0·49	Weather—hot and dry. Prospects of crops unsatisfactory for want of rain, except in Deoghur sub-division. Cholera continues.

ORISSA.
Orissa Divn. 38	Cuttack, Aug. 4 „	2·72	Weather—cloudy. Beali rice is in ear in some places. Sarad rice doing well. The Jajpore rivers were again in flood during the week, but no damage to crops has been reported. Common rice selling at from 21 to 28 seers per rupee. Cholera prevalent both in the interior and in town.
39	Pooree, „ 3 „	2·36	Weather—seasonable. Weeding, puddling and transplanting operations going on. Sugarcane and cotton thriving well Common rice selling at from 20 to 32 Calcutta seers for the rupee. Public health good, and crop prospects so far excellent.
40	Balasore, „ 4 „	5·02	Weather—rainy all through the week. Aus paddy is in the ear. Aman paddy is doing well. Prospects good. General health good.
CHOTA NAGPORE. South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazaribagh, Aug. 4 '82	1·40	Weather—seasonable. Bhadoi crops promise well. More rain wanted for transplanting. Public health generally good.
42	Lohardugga, „ 5 „	2·11	Weather—seasonable. Prospects continue excellent. A heavy fall of rain in Palamow sub-division will enable the khurreef paddy to be transplanted. Prices easy. Sporadic cases of cholera reported from two thanas. Fever rather prevalent
43	Singbhoom, „ 4 „	5·70	Weather—clear and cloudy, sunshine and rain alternating. Prospects so far most favourable. All crops doing exceedingly well. Cholera reported from two or three villages in the west of the district. Several fresh cases of small-pox in Chyebassa. General health otherwise good.
44	Manbhoom, „ 5 „	1·34	Weather—hot, with occasional showers A good fall of rain on the evening of
	Govindpore ...	1·39	4th. More rain wanted for transplanting. Indian-corn and other autumn crops promise well. Cholera, small-pox, fever and cattle-disease still reported.

Published for general information.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

o overcast, g gloomy, t thunder, p passing temporary showers, d drizzling rain.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

[Second Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 5th August 1882.—The following arrangements for weather signals for the approaches to the Port of Calcutta, and for the port itself, have been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information, in supersession of those published in the notification, dated the 20th November 1874, at pages 1768-64 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 9th December 1874.

Weather Signals for the approaches to the Port of Calcutta.

1. When a severe cyclonic storm (probably accompanied by a storm-wave) is believed to be advancing to the Bengal coast and across Bengal, one or other of the following signals will be hoisted at the flag-staff near the Light-house in Saugor Island, at Mud Point, and at the flag-staff near the telegraph office, Diamond Harbour, on receipt of instructions telegraphed by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal:—

Day signal No. 1, bad weather signal.

A ball indicates the existence of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude in the Bay of Bengal, which will either certainly cross the coast to the south of a line between Chittagong and False Point, or which may approach the Bengal coast, but is as yet too far distant to enable its line of advance to be determined.

Day signal No. 2, danger signal.

A cone indicates the early probable passage northward and to the eastward of Saugor Island and west of Chittagong, of the vortex of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude. It is advisable that no sailing vessels, with or without steam, should put out to sea, or that deep-laden or slow steaming steam-vessels should go to sea. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably haul from north-east through north to north-west, &c.

Day signal No. 3, danger signal.

An inverted cone indicates the early probable passage northward and to the westward of Saugor Island and north of False Point, of the vortex of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude. No vessels should go to sea and masters and pilots of vessels outward-bound, guided by the weather tokens and height of the barometer, should use their discretion in proceeding below Diamond Harbour or Mud Point. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably veer from north-east through east to south-east, &c.

Day signal No. 4, great danger signal.

A drum indicates the approach of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude to the mouth of the Hooghly. Masters and pilots in charge of vessels are cautioned not to put to sea from Saugor Island, or to proceed down from Diamond Harbour, and they should make their vessels as snug and secure as possible.

2. When a small cyclonic storm (usually not accompanied by a storm-wave) is believed to have formed in the Bay, and to be advancing towards the coast, one or other of the following signals will be hoisted, for the information of pilots and mariners, at the staff near the light-house at Saugor Island, at the flagstaff at Mud Point, and at the flagstaff near the telegraph office, Diamond Harbour, on the receipt of instructions telegraphed from the Meteorological office, Calcutta, by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal:—

Day signal No. 5, bad weather signal.

Two cones, the upper one inverted, indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm of small extent in the Bay of Bengal, which will probably reach and cross the coast of the Bay south of a line joining Chittagong and False Point.

Day signal No. 6, warning signal.

Two cones, the lower one inverted, indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm of small extent, which will probably or certainly reach and cross the coast or the Bay north of a line joining Chittagong and False Point, but the probable path of the vortex of which cannot be determined from the land observations.

Day signal No. 7, warning signal.

A ball below a cone indicates the probable passage northwards and to the eastward of Saugor Island and west of Chittagong of a cyclonic storm of small extent and intensity, of the kind which usually forms in the rainy season. Vessels may proceed to sea if the height of the barometer, state of the sea and weather are such as to lead masters and pilots to infer that there is no danger. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably haul from north-east through north to north-west, &c.

Day signal No. 8, warning signal.

A ball below an inverted cone indicates the probable passage northwards and to the westwards of Saugor Island and north of False Point, of a cyclonic storm of small extent and intensity, of the kind which usually forms in the rainy season. As the wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably veer from north-eat through east to south-east, &c., and as consequesntly there will be a heavy swell and strong westerly set in the channel at the Sandheads, it is advisable that only fast steamers in light trim should put to sea, if the weather appearances and state of the sea, &c., admit of it.

Day signal No. 9, danger signal.

A ball below a drum indicates the approach towards Saugor roads of a cyclonic vortex of small extent, of the kind which forms during the rainy season. It is advisable that no vessel other than fast steamers in light trim should put to sea until the wind, direction and force, state of weather and sea, and rise of the barometer, indicate that the storm has either broken up or passed inland. Cyclonic storms of small extent sometimes blow fiercely and raise a high sea near their centres.

3. The following storm warning signals will be hoisted during the prevalence of cyclonic storms in the Bay of Bengal at the signalling stations on the Hooghly previously mentioned, viz. Saugor Island, Mud Point, and Diamond Harbour, between sunset and sun-rise :—

Night signal No. 1, warning or caution signal.

Three lights exhibited on the flagstaff at equal distances indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm in the north of the Bay.

Night signal No. 2, danger signal.

Two lights, in a vertical line, indicate the early approach of a cyclonic storm to the Bengal coast.

4. Signals for the Port of Calcutta.—Storm signals will be only used within the limits of the Port of Calcutta to give notice to the shipping and general public of the early approach of a severe cyclone with its attendant storm-wave. The following are the storm-signals which will be used within the limits of the Port. They will be hoisted on the flagstaff upon the Port Commissioners' office, on the yardarm of the flagstaff near the Government Dockyard, Kidderpore, and on the flagstaff at Seebpore, on the receipt of instructions from the Meteorological office :—

1 Day warning signal.

A Ball indicates that a severe cyclone, of which the centre is in the neighbourhood of Saugor Island, is advancing towards the mouth of the Hooghly, and will probably advance towards Calcutta.

2 Day danger signal.

A Drum indicates that a severe cyclone with its attendant storm-wave is approaching Calcutta.

3 Night warning signal.

Three lights in a vertical plane indicate that a severe cyclone, of which the centre is in the neighbourhood of Saugor Island, is advancing towards the mouth of the Hooghly, and will probably advance towards Calcutta.

4 Night danger signal.

Two lights in a vertical line indicate the early approach of a severe cyclonic storm and its attendant storm-wave to the Port of Calcutta.

NOTIFICATIONS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

No. 854B.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated Calcutta, the 4th August 1882

UNDER the provisions of section 164 of Act VIII of 1878, the Chief Customs Authority of the Presidency has authorized the introduction of the subjoined form of pass and bond for coasting steamers sailing under general passes:—

GENERAL PASS.

THIS general pass is granted to the Agents of the ... to enable them to ply the steam-ship ... Captain ... of ... tons burthen, official number ..., under the provisions of section 164, Act VIII of 1878, on the conditions hereinafter specified, but subject to all local laws, rules, and regulations in force for the time being at any of the ports mentioned herein.

2. This pass permits the discharge and receipt in ... of cargo brought from or shipped for any of the following ports, viz., all customs and foreign ports in India, and all ports in Burma, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ceylon, and the Straits Settlements, on the conditions hereinafter provided.

3. In this pass, and in the cargo-book and other documents prescribed thereby, the words "dutiable cargo (or goods)" shall include—

(1) All goods received on board at foreign ports;
(2) All goods from foreign ports which have been transhipped at customs ports;
(3) Goods liable to excise duty; bonded goods under removal from one customs port to another; and all other goods which are required to be sent to the Custom-House; and the words "free cargo (or goods)" shall include such goods only as are brought from customs ports, and do not come under the head of "dutiable cargo (or goods)," as defined above.

CONDITIONS.

IMPORT.

(a.)—A cargo-book in the form marked Q (herewith annexed) is to be kept on board the steamer, showing distinctly and separately the goods brought from each customs and foreign port, and distinguishing clearly, in the case of goods from customs ports, between "free" and "dutiable" goods, and the Master shall deliver to the Customs Officer, chupprasi, or peon who boards the vessel at the boarding station a duly authenticated extract from the cargo-book (in the form annexed and marked R), showing all cargo brought from foreign ports, transhipped at customs ports, or otherwise "dutiable" as defined above.

(b.)—On the arrival of the steamer from customs ports only, without having touched at any foreign port, the discharge of all "free" cargo is hereby permitted immediately after arrival by day or night before entry of the vessel at the Custom-House, without the goods being previously entered for home consumption, and without the direct supervision of Customs Officers.

A boat-note in the annexed form S is to be given by the ship's officers with every separate boat-load to the manji in charge.

All "dutiable" cargo is to be retained on board until notice has been given at the Custom-House by the agents of its arrival, and a Customs Officer, chupprasi, or peon has received charge of it for conveyance to the Custom-House under the written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

(c.)—A duly authenticated copy of the cargo-book referred to in clause (a), together with all passes granted at the various ports of lading, duly endorsed with the date of receipt and quantity received, shall be furnished to the proper Officer of Customs within 24 hours after arrival within the limits of the port. Goods for which passes are not so delivered to the Customs Officer are to be retained by the agents in their godowns or other place appointed by the proper Officer of Customs until an import Custom-House pass in proper form has been granted for them.

(d.)—On arrival of the steamer, after having touched at any foreign port, in addition to customs port or ports, the discharge of "free" cargo from customs ports may be proceeded with as prescribed in condition (b), but no cargo from any foreign port, and no cargo from any customs port, which was transhipped from a foreign port, or is otherwise "dutiable," as defined above, shall be discharged until the agents have given notice at the Customs-House of its arrival, and Customs Officers, chupprasis, or peons have received charge of it for conveyance to the Custom-House under written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

(f.)—The inward entry of the steamer shall be made within 24 hours after her arrival within the limits of the port, as declared under clause (b), section 11, Act VIII of 1878.

EXPORT.

(g.)—After the steamer's arrival within the limits of the port, cargo for exportation may be received on board without the direct supervision of Customs Officers at any time of the day or night, but no cargo shall be so received unless it is protected by a pass granted by the proper Officer of Customs. Provided, however, that in those ports in which owing to the distance of the Custom-House from the place of shipment or the place of anchorage of the vessel, it is not possible to take out a shipping bill before actual shipment, the ship's agent shall deliver to the proper Officer of Customs, within five days of the date of departure of the vessel, in the form of the cargo-book, a separate account, in form V, of the cargo for each port of destination (supported, if required, by the mate's receipts). The said Officer of Customs will immediately forward this form by post to the Collector of Customs at the port of destination.

(h.)—A cargo-book (in the form annexed and marked Q) shall be kept on board, and in it shall be entered full particulars, as required by the form, of all goods received on board, showing separately and distinctly the ports for which they are shipped.

(i.)—A copy of the cargo-book prescribed in clause (h), countersigned by the agents of the Company, shall be delivered to the proper Officer of Customs within five clear working days after the vessel's departure from each customs port. Such copy to be in the form of separate cargo lists for each and every customs and foreign ports for which cargo has been shipped. The conditions of clause (i) will be dispensed with in ports to which the last part of condition (g) applies, the original accounts of cargo shipped being there taken as the copy of cargo-book.

STORES.

(j)—No stores are to be landed, transhipped, unladen, shipped, or water-borne for shipment without the written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

GENERAL.

(k)—This pass is to remain in force for six months from this date, unless previously revoked by notice in writing delivered in accordance with the provisions of section 164, Act VIII of 1878, and either the pass or the cargo-books before referred to are to be produced on requisition by any duly authorized Officer of Customs. This pass will be held to be cancelled should the vessel ply directly between a customs port and any of the foreign ports specified therein, or proceed to any other foreign port, and a new pass must be obtained on her return to the coasting trade before she can ply under the conditions of the general pass

FORM OF BOND.

are held and firmly bound to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council in the sum of Rs. to be paid to the said Secretary of State for India in Council, or to his certain attorney, successors, or assigns for which payment to be well and truly made the said bind themselves, and their successors, and every of them, firmly by the presents. Dated this day of 188 A. D.

WHEREAS the above bounden have applied to the Collector of Customs at Calcutta for, and obtained, a general pass for the lading and clearance, and for the entry and unlading, of their steamers, under section 164 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, the particulars and conditions of which pass are set out in the schedule hereto [and have also deposited with the said Secretary of State the sum of Rs. as security for the fulfilment of the conditions of this bond].* Now the condition of this bond is that—

(1.) If the said , their servants, and employés, shall observe and perform all the conditions of the said pass, and

(2.) If the said shall and will, on requisition, pay to the Collector of Customs, , for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State, his successors, and assigns, any duty or penalty erroneously short levied, or that shall not have been levied in consequence of incorrect entries in, or omissions from, cargo-books referred to in the said pass, or the copies thereof furnished to the office of the Collector or customs , and

(3.) If the said shall and will, on requisition, repay to the said Collector of Customs, any sum erroneously paid as refund or drawback in consequence of incorrect entries in, or omission from, the said cargo-books, or copies thereof furnished to the office of the Collector of Customs, , and

(4.) If the said shall, on requisition, produce to the Collector of Customs, , within one month after each and every steamer leaves any foreign port, a certificate in the form annexed and marked T from the Chief Customs Officer of such port, showing all goods shipped there, together with the marks, numbers, description, and contents of the packages;

(5.) And if the said shall, on requisition, produce to the Collector of Customs, , or such person as he shall in writing appoint in that behalf, within one month of arrival of each and every steamer at any foreign port, a certificate in the form annexed, and marked U, from the Chief Customs Officer at such port, showing all goods discharged therefrom , and giving full particulars of marks, numbers, description, and contents of the packages;

(6.) And if the said shall pay to the Collector of Customs before the departure of each and every steamer or vessel all light dues claimed by the said Collector (or Collectors) of Customs;

(7.) And if the said shall take due and proper care that goods are neither landed nor shipped to the detriment of the revenue, and that prohibited goods are not knowingly carried in contravention of the Customs, Arms, or Opium Acts;

(8.) And if the said shall pay to the said Collector of Customs, , immediately on application, any penalty (not exceeding Rs. 1,000) which may be adjudged against the said Company by the said Collector of Customs for a breach of any of the conditions of the said bond or of the said pass;

Then this obligation shall be void, otherwise, and on breach or failure in the performance of all or any, or any part of, the aforesaid conditions, or of the terms and conditions of the said pass, (the* said deposit of Rs. shall be at once forfeited, and) the said bond or obligation shall remain in full force.

*NOTE.—The words within brackets are to be inserted in those cases only in which the Collector of Customs has good reason to believe that the bond itself does not afford sufficient security.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Ninth Sale of Opium, the provision of 1880-81, will be held at the Government Opium Sale-room, No. 2, Bankshall-street, on Tuesday, the 5th September 1882, at 11 A.M., and will comprise 4,700 chests, viz.—

	Chests.
Opium manufactured at the Patna Factory ...	2,350
Do. do. do. Ghazipore Factory ...	2,350
Total ...	4,700

2. The general conditions of the sale now advertised will be the same as usual. They may be ascertained by reference to the Notification issued on the 22nd November 1881, and published in the Government and Exchange Gazettes, or on personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue.

3. The latest dates for deposit and clearance will be the 11th and 20th September 1882 respectively—that is to say, no Bank of Bengal Receipts, Government Promissory Notes, or other public securities that may be tendered for deposit in redemption of Promissory Notes given by purchasers in the sale-room will be received after 3-30 P.M. of Monday, the 11th September 1882, and no Bank of Bengal Receipts in full payment of lots will be accepted after 3-30 P.M. of Wednesday, the 20th September 1882.

4. Including the quantity above advertised for sale, the following quantities, more or less, of the Opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazipore Factories will be brought to sale during the next twelve months about the dates specified below. The Board of Revenue, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

OPIUM.

H. A. COCKERELL, ESQ., C.S.I.

SEALED tenders will be received at this office up to noon of Monday, the 21st August 1882, for removing all the chests of Abkaree and provision opium which may be brought down to the Presidency from the Patna and Ghazipore Opium Factories by railway, during the period of one year from the 1st September 1882, from the East Indian Railway Company's wagons at Howrah, and from the ferry steamer at Armenian Ghât (as may be necessary), to the Government godowns situated within the Custom House premises, and also to the new opium godowns at Coilah Ghât, and there stacking them as the Intendant in charge shall from time to time direct.

2. The tenders should state the rate per 100 chests, all charges to be incurred to be included. The person whose tender may be accepted will have to deposit security to the amount of Rs. 1,000, and supply 70 good English tarpaulins (15′ × 10′) for covering the chests during transit in case of rain.

3. The Board of Revenue does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read—

Note by Mr. T. C. Hope, Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, on the Iron Industry in India.

Despatch to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 175, dated 1st July 1881, recommending the purchase of the Bengal Iron Works.

Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 40, dated 25th August 1881, sanctioning the purchase.

Report on the Bengal Iron Works, by Ritter C. von Schwarz, dated 26th October 1881.

Telegram from the Government of Bengal in the Public Works Department, dated 5th April 1882, reporting conclusion of negotiations for purchase.

Letter to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, No. 494, dated 19th April, regarding temporary charge of the works, and calling for report on condition and utilisation of works.

Letter from the Government of Bengal, No. 2343E, dated 14th July 1882, furnishing reports by Ritter C. von Schwarz, with memorandum by the Chief Engineer.

RESOLUTION.—The Government of India have, for some time past, had under special consideration the importance of developing the iron industry in India. The advantages which such development would afford to both the State and the public,—by cheapening the cost of railway construction and maintenance, and of works for improving the water-supply; by substituting metal for more perishable materials in buildings; by reducing the home charges and their concomitant loss by exchange; by creating for the population non-agricultural employment; and by increasing the means for profitable investment of capital,—are too well known to require lengthened exposition.

2. Regarding the capabilities of the Indian iron measures to fulfil all that is required of them, no doubt can reasonably be entertained. Moreover, they lie, for the most part, in convenient proximity to either ample supplies of coal or forests available for use in the preparation of the ore. In Assam, Kuch Behar, Burma, and the Kumaon ranges the prospects are promising to a greater or less extent. In Lower Bengal, the Raniganj district, Sonthalia, and Chutia Nagpur; in the Central Provinces, Sambalpur and Chanda; in Central India, the ranges near Gwalior; and in the Punjab, numerous localities, are found to be specially endowed with all the requisites for successful production. In quality the ores are mostly found to be extremely pure; and where the proportion of phosphorous and other impurities is large, recently invented processes have removed all obstacle to their successful elimination.

3. Under the circumstances above described, it may be accepted as proved that India possesses the means of supplying all her wants in respect of cast-iron, wrought-iron and steel, and that such supply could be produced remuneratively on a strictly commercial basis. The establishment of iron works to be owned and worked by the State is open to grave objections, both economic and practical, and being likewise unnecessary, need not be discussed at length. Nothing appears to be necessary in order to attract private enterprise to so eligible an opening except the collection and diffusion of sufficient information, and the grant of such facilities as the State may legitimately and reasonably afford to a young and growing industry.

4. Private enterprise in this matter, however, must evidently be on a large scale, and not confined to one locality alone. The distances in India are so great, and the railway system now so extended, that the cost of conveying material to the spot where it is needed is an important factor in every calculation. It has been proved that, unless mills were established in four different localities, the cost of sending old rails and tyres to be worked up afresh would exceed that of obtaining new ones from England. A similar conclusion has been formed as to the gain by substituting iron sleepers for wooden ones. Raniganj, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces appear to be the localities in all of which extensive operations would be necessary in order to meet early necessities of the case. Whether these localities should be occupied by different Companies or by one is a matter of detail, but the aggregate capital required would obviously be large. The amount required might perhaps be beyond the local resources of the Calcutta or Bombay money market, and the investment uncongenial to those in Europe with whom those markets are connected in their ordinary mercantile transactions. England must likewise be looked to, and those capitalists in England whose knowledge and resources are specially directed to the iron industry.

5. Towards the development of the industry in the Raniganj district, the attention of the Government has in the first instance been directed, in consequence of the fact that a private Company was established a few years ago near Barrakur, but after a short time fell into difficulties from causes which need not be related, and was obliged to suspend operations. After carefully investigating the causes of failure, the Government of India came to the conclusion that the only way in which the works could be, at any early date, placed in the hands of experienced persons having an adequate command of capital, was by an intermediate purchase on the part of the State.

6. The "Bengal Iron Works" have consequently been purchased for the sum of Rs. 4,30,761. His Excellency the Governor-General in Council is now pleased to announce that they will be retransferred for that sum, together with any further indispensable outlay, to any parties who may establish satisfactorily that they are in the possession of sufficient skill and resources, and bonâ fide prepared to carry on the manufacture of iron and steel upon a scale commensurate to the probable needs of that portion of British India which is within reasonable distance of the works. His Excellency in Council will further be prepared to enter into an engagement, if so desired, to take annually for ten years, at fixed prices to be previously agreed upon, not less than a certain weight of the Company's manufactures. This weight will be determined with reference to the average requirements of the Government for railways and other public works in the territory to the north and east of the East Indian Railway from Calcutta to Mogul Serai. With a view to facilitate the formation of a judgment on the prospects of the enterprise, the reports by Ritter C. von Schwarz, which are specified in the heading to this Resolution, will be made public, and further explanations or information will, as far as practicable, be afforded; but it must be distinctly understood that the Government decline to be responsible for the accuracy of any calculations or estimates so put forward.

7. In order to ascertain more fully the capabilities of the Chanda district of the Central Provinces, Ritter C von Schwarz was some months ago deputed to the locality, and has submitted a very full and able report, which is also now made public, under a similar reservation. The Government of India are now engaged in ascertaining the probable demand for iron and steel within a suitable radius of Chanda, and in comparing the merits of that locality with those of others in the Central Provinces. Any information which may become available will be published in due course. Similar investigations will be pursued in the Punjab and other parts of India, as circumstances may permit.

8. In view of the importance of fully developing at the earliest possible date the resources of India in coal and iron, and of the necessity of unity and vigour of action to this end, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the Department of Public Works of the Government of India shall be the initiating Department in relation to the utilisation of these minerals, subject to the customary general control of the Department of Finance and Commerce in matters of contract and expenditure, and to the usual consultation of the Revenue or Political Department on any matters in which they may be respectively concerned. Those Departments, on the other hand, as also all Local Governments and Administrations, should, by the collection of information or otherwise, co-operate with the Department of Public Works towards the attainment of the end in view.

ORDERED that this Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations, and to the Public Works, Revenue and Agricultural, and the Political Departments of the Government of India; and that it be published, together with the reports of Ritter C. von Schwarz, in the Gazette of India.

Report on the reopening of the Bengal Iron Works for the production of 80 tons castings per 24 hours.

WHEN in 1875 the Bengal Iron Works Company first opened, English pig-iron was selling in Calcutta at Rs. 60 per ton, whilst the cost of production of the pig-iron made at the Company's works was Rs. 65. Within two years this was reduced to Rs. 40; but meanwhile, or at least by 1878, English pig-iron was quoted in Calcutta at Rs. 29 per ton. The Company being unable to further force down the cost price of their pig-iron the failure of the undertaking became manifest, and resulted in the closing of the works in 1879. At this present time English pig-iron of the quality which used to be produced at the Bengal Iron Works is selling in Calcutta at Rs. 35 per ton: therefore still Rs. 5 below the cost price arrived at by the Company.

As since the closing of the works the prices of the raw materials (iron ores, coal, and limestone) have not fallen, and as, on the other hand, the cost of labour has risen, the success of the reopening of the Bengal Iron Works depends on decreasing the cost of production through improved arrangements in some directions and a simplification of working procedure in others. To arrive at the desired result the following measures are proposed:—

1. The substitution of certain machinery for certain manual labour formerly employed, and the introduction of certain simplified, yet improved, methods of working—both having for their object a saving of material and cost of labour.
2. Arrangements for increasing the capabilities of the works for the quantity of production, by means of which, in an indirect way, the cost of labour, of management, wear and tear, &c., is diminished, as the expenses on these are distributed over a larger amount of produce.
3. Arrangements for utilising the collateral produce of the works.

In the following pages the proposed improvements will be treated of, viz. of what they consist and how in the present case they can be introduced expeditiously, cheaply, and effectively.

It is evident that in the main the present arrangements will be maintained as much as possible, and that our task will consist more in completing these than in carrying out essential alterations.

I.—Alterations in the Blast-furnaces.

1. The height of each blast-furnace and their hoist is to be increased by 6 feet, viz. making their total height from bottom to top 61 instead of 55 feet, and the inner diameter of the furnace hearth to be increased from 5 feet to 6 feet.

2. The total square section of the nozzles should be raised from 20 to 35 square inches, the wind pressure from 5 to 8 inches mercury, and the number of the twyers should be doubled, viz. the 3, as at present, should be increased to 6.

These alterations will increase the production capacity of the furnaces, which in general depends on the dimensions of the furnaces.

Next to the dimensions of the furnace, it is the square section of the nozzles, the wind pressure, and the temperature of the same, which when raised increase the productive capacity of the blast-furnace; nevertheless these must remain in a certain ratio to one another, and must be kept within certain limits, dependent on the inner dimensions of the furnace.

The doubling of the twyers has for its object a more effective distribution of the wind, which becomes more necessary as the square section of the furnace before the twyers is to be enlarged.

3. The water-twyers should be made of bronze instead of cast-iron (as at present), water-boxes for cooling the hearth should be introduced, the angle of inclination of the boshes should be enlarged to 80°, and the inner form of the furnaces rounded off, so as to avoid all sharp angles and sudden transitions, in order to secure a uniform descent of the melting column and to avoid a derangement of function through a blocking up of the melting column.

It may be mentioned here that the blast-furnace No. 1 of the Bengal Iron Works, although its inner dimensions had been theoretically correctly chosen, was within scarcely two years so much burnt away inside and got so much out of shape that it had to be laid cold, which drawback was caused by nothing else than the sharp transitions between shaft and boshes, the steep angle of inclination of the boshes, and the total absence of water cooling of the hearth.

Blast-furnaces of a correct inner form should work at least from eight to ten years without any appreciable interruption. The object of using bronze instead of cast-iron for the water-twyers is to achieve greater durability of the same, which, as experience has shewn, is in this case of special importance, as through faulty twyers water enters the blast-furnace, which it is well known deranges its function, and may even cause dangerous explosions. Besides, the bronze twyers when used up have still the value of their metal, whilst old cast-iron twyers are of little value as material.

4. It is further recommended to introduce, in connection with the blast-furnaces, Lürmann's arrangement for drawing off the slags instead of the obsolete system employed in the Bengal Iron Works, to allow the slags to flow over the dam-plate by means of the cinder notch. It would lead me too far to set forth all the advantages of this system: a full description of it may be seen in the technical works of Dr. John Percy, Dr. Wedding, and others. Suffice it to say that this system may be seen already in use in most blast-furnaces of England, Germany, and America.

5. The adoption is recommended of "Parry's cup and cone" for the furnace top and of all other arrangements for collecting, cleaning, and conducting the blast-furnace gases to the hot-blast ovens and steam-boilers. "Parry's cup and cone" serves for closing the furnace top for the purpose of drawing off the gases, and at the same time also to facilitate a uniform and correct serving of the blast-furnace with the raw materials, namely, iron ore, coke, and limestone.

The apparatus combines simplicity with usefulness, and has also the advantage over all other apparatus of the same kind that it renders possible so to serve the blast-furnace that the workmen are in no way oppressed either by heat, dust, or by the poisonous gases always given off by the blast-furnace when under serving.

Parry's cup and cone was first applied to a blast-furnace at Ebbev Vale in South Wales, and has thence successfully spread to England, Germany, and America.

In connection with Parry's cup and cone, an arrangement is proposed for leading off and cleansing the blast-furnace gases from dust, consisting of sheet-iron pipes, in which, at the bends, dusting-chambers are inserted.

The action of the dusting-chambers is to suddenly increase the section of the gas-conduit, whereby the velocity of the gases is reduced and the opportunity is given to the impurities to settle or precipitate themselves.

The most suitable form of this arrangement is the so-called "S apparatus:" it is made of sheet-iron riveted so as to be airtight.

The bottom in one part does not join the sides (vide sketch in the margin), but is bent in a slanting form, so that a connection exists between the inner space and the outside air in the manner of the communicating tube.

The lower part of the apparatus is filled with water, which serves as a separation between the gas and the atmosphere. The here precipitated dust of the gases may from time to time be removed with a shovel through the opening C. The water serves at the same time as a safety-valve, as in case of too high a pressure in the gas-pipe it is forced out.

This cleansing apparatus has been successfully applied to all the new blast-furnaces in the east of France, and has already been copied in Germany, England, and Austria.

The apparatus for burning the gases have to be applied separately to each furnace and each boiler.

Their arrangement aims chiefly at mixing thoroughly the furnace gases with the air necessary for burning them, and to conduct this mixture over a lighting fire, in order that the gases may be kept constantly burning and the danger of their being extinguished be prevented, as in this case an explosive mixture of air and gases would be evolved.

Blast-furnace gases consist chiefly of carbonic oxygen gas (CO) (vide "Report on the Bengal Iron Works," page 2), which, to reach the desired effect, has to be completely burnt to carbonic acid (CO_2). An arrangement answering the foregoing requirements may be seen in several new iron works in England and Germany. It was first introduced in Neustadt in Hanover, and is constructed on a principle of Faber du Faur.

6. It is also recommended to connect with each blast-furnace a reserve apparatus for heating the wind (vide "Report on the Bengal Iron Works, page 3").

7. It is further advised to introduce apparatus for utilising the blast-furnace slags in the fabrication of cement, artificial stones, and "slag wool." (For particulars on this subject, please see "Report on the Bengal Iron Works," page 2).

II.—Apparatus required for preparing the Raw Materials.

1. Three ore-crushers for the mechanical breaking up of the iron ore and limestone. (For particulars please see "Report on the Bengal Iron Works," pages 2 and 3.)

2. Belgian coke ovens with a coal washing apparatus.

The Barrakur coal has the following chemical composition:—

Fixed carbon	65	per cent.
Carbon combined on hydrogen	6·60	„
Hydrogen	4·94	„
Oxigen and nitrogen	9·32	„
Sulphur	0·44	„
Moisture	3·65	„
Ashes	10·05	„

This coal with so high component parts of carbon and hydrogen, although its percentage of ashes is rather high, must be considered as well suitable for metalurgical purposes.

The coke made of this coal at the local coal-mines has 16 to 18 per cent. of ashes, and sells at more than double the price of the coal from which it is made.

Although the contents of fixed carbon in this coal is 65 per cent., and that of ashes 10·05 per cent. (therefore the percentage of unvolatile matters about 75), the coke produced from it is only 50 per cent., this shortcoming being due, not to the quality of the coal, but to the primitive arrangements for making the coke. The arrangement consists in open kilns, where the access of atmospheric air is not to be despised; but on the other hand under such conditions a considerable portion of the fixed carbon, the most valuable component of the coal in regard to the production of coke, is driven off along with other volatile substances as carbonic oxygen gas (CO). The outturn of coke is therefore poor, and the quantity of ashes considerably increased.

It may here be observed that a large proportion of ashes in coke reduces its value very much for purposes of its use in the blast-furnace. Ashes consist chiefly of silicic acid ($S_i O_2$), which being almost infusible requires a larger addition of limestone to melt it, and as a matter of course occasions a greater consumption of fuel. Besides, with coke rich in ashes, a smaller quantity of carbon is distributed through a larger volume of matter, whereby the pyrometric effect of every description of fuel is diminished. In the Bengal Iron Works the production of one ton pig-iron used to require the consumption of 36 cwts. of coke and 32 cwts. of limestone—a very unfavourable condition of working. It will therefore be necessary to introduce a more favourable system of coke-making, namely, first to wash the coal, that is, to free it as much as possible from the substances producing the ashes, and then to "distil" it in closed furnaces.

For the treatment of coal in making coke, the Belgian coke-furnaces (system François and Rexroth) would give in one case the best results. These furnaces yield 95 per cent. of the non-volatile components of the coal, and they are particularly suitable for India on climatic grounds, as the coke is removed from the furnace by a machine, by which the workmen are spared the enormous radiating heat. There is also a saving of coke through the quickness of the operation of removing it, as under a slow process some of it is lost by combustion.

These coke-furnaces require no special firing; they heat themselves with their own gases, which are led in channels around them, and having done their duty to the furnaces, they are collected into a common channel—say for 25 furnaces one—and are then utilised for heating steam-boilers.

With this system of furnaces, the Barrakur coal may be made to yield coke containing from 6 to 8 per cent. ashes only, instead of 16 to 18 per cent. as now, which would raise its value as a fuel for the blast-furnace by 20 per cent., and the consumption of coke per ton of pig-iron would be reduced from 36 to 28 cwts.

It should also be mentioned that the refuse of coal in the washing-basins, a sort of coal-mud, may be utilised for heating the drying-furnaces in the foundry and for other subordinate heating purposes. (Please see "Report on the Bengal Iron Works," page 3, Drying-furnaces.)

III.—Blowing-engine.

It is recommended that a second blowing-engine of the capacity of the present be acquired.

The amount of wind which must be forced into a blast-furnace depends on the quantity of coke which is burnt in it in a given time, and upon the percentage of carbon in this coke.

It must here be remembered that the whole of the carbon in the coke must be reduced to carbonic acid (CO_2) to produce the desired effect in the blast-furnace.

The present blowing-engine may be estimated at a maximum effect of 5,980 cubic feet air per minute; but this is only half the requirements, which can be shewn to be 11,344 cubic feet per minute. Therefore, if the two blast-furnaces are to turn out 80 tons of pig-iron per 24 hours, a second blowing-engine of the same effect as the present one is required. The calculations to the above will be found in Appendix No. 1 (page 31).

2. The steam-boiler establishment belonging to the blowing-engines also will have to be proportionally increased to 440 horse-power, as the present one is only sufficient to yield 100 horse-power. For calculations please see Appendix No. 2 (page 33).

It must be mentioned here that the Bengal Iron Works Company never worked the two blast-furnaces at the same time, which is chiefly due to the insufficiency of their boiler establishment, being only able to furnish the motive power for the production of 20 tons of pig-iron per 24 hours, although the blowing-engine, blast-furnaces, hoist and chimney, &c., are corresponding to 40 tons production for 24 hours.

3. With the employment of a second blowing-engine the dimensions of the blast-conduit and regulator of blast will have also to be proportionally enlarged.

IV.—Storeyard for Iron Ore, Limestone, and Fuel.

To keep up a sufficient stock of the raw materials in a proper way a better arrangement for their deposit is required. How this is to be managed may be seen from the annexed plan No. 1 (vide mixing plans and filling bank).

Under the circumstances before us, a large stock of the raw materials is not required, as they are to be had in the immediate neighbourhood of the iron works, and there is no fear of interruption in their regular delivery. Without regard to the dead capital lying on large stores, there is a difficulty in controlling them. They take up a large space and cause other inconveniences.

As regards iron ores and limestone, a store for three months is ample; of coal not more than a monthly store should be kept, as coal loses, through long exposure to the air, greatly in its value, in consequence of the evaporation of the valuable carburetted hydrogen gases, especially during the dry season.

V.—Alterations in the Foundries.

1. It has already been pointed out in my "Report on the Bengal Iron Works" (page 3) that the casting direct from the blast-furnace, namely, without remelting the pig-iron in the cupola furnace, is recommended.

To attain this it is advisable to remove the standing foundry No. I close to the blast-furnaces (vide plan No. 1). This can be easily done, as the foundry shops mentioned only consist of a roof of corrugated sheet-iron supported by pillars and rolled beams. Most of the pillars are of wood, and should be replaced by cast-iron pillars. As, however, the foundry shop No. I alone would not be sufficiently large for the production of 80 tons sleepers per day, and the foundry No. II, being built of stone, cannot be removed, the enlargement of foundry No. I and the erection of a new one (vide plan No. I) will become necessary.

2. The foundry shop No. II can be especially arranged for making pipes. The necessary alterations in the drying-furnaces and the other arrangement for casting and tiering pipes have already been treated of in my "Report on the Bengal Iron Works" (pages 3 and 4).

3. The cupola furnaces attached to the foundry remain as a reserve in order to remelt the pig-iron produce from the blast-furnaces on Sundays and holidays (as the working of the blast-furnaces cannot be stopped on such days) and to utilise the scraps of the foundries.

A slight alteration in their construction is recommended according to a principle invented by Fauler in Freyburg (Bavaria). To explain this invention in detail would lead too far. Suffice it to say (a) that it has proved practicable since the last five years; (b) that its virtues lie in the saving of 15 per cent. of fuel; and (c) that it can be cheaply introduced in the present arrangement of the cupola furnaces.

4. It is further recommended to use moulding-machines for making sleepers.

These machines serve to lift the pattern out of the sand strictly vertical, which can never be correctly accomplished by hand, in consequence of which much labour and time is lost in repairing the mould.

These machines are especially adapted where many castings of one pattern are required, which is therefore suitable in our case.

5. The introduction of an apparatus to gain the "wash-iron" out of the used sand of the foundry and the pigbed shed of the blast-furnaces is advised.

This apparatus is an inexpensive arrangement, by which the greater part of the spilled cast iron can be regained; it renders two per cent. of the production of castings, namely about 1½ tons "wash-iron" per diem.

VI.—Alteration in the Chief Water-supply.

In consequence of the proposed enlargement of the foundry and the blast-furnaces, the cooling apparatus for the latter, and the erection of coke-furnaces, &c., the present arrangement for water-supply will not be sufficient.

Besides this, the present way of supplying water is so complicated a one that it can bear being simplified by this opportunity. It consists now in pumping out the water from the Barrakur river by means of a large pumping-engine erected on its banks, and leading it through cast-iron pipes of 10-inch diameter for a distance of about 1¾ miles to a tank near the iron works. From there the water is pumped up to a height of about 10 feet into a second smaller tank, from whence it is led by means of pipes to wells situated near the blast-furnaces and the foundries. Here it is pumped for the third and last time into the high-water reservoirs, from whence at length it is led to its destination. To avoid this round-about way it is recommended to erect a high-water reservoir for about 15,000 cubic feet contents on the border of the large tank, and to lead it from thence directly to its destination.

As the required quantity of water is rather large, and the difference between the water levels of the tank (from where the water is to be pumped out) and the high-water reservoir (where it is to be pumped in) will be not more than about 30 feet, centrifugal pumps are recommended.

VII.—Buildings and Out-houses.

1. The greater part of the out-houses belonging to the works were built of mud walls with thatched roofs, and are now in a tumble-down condition, leaving only the stones lying about, which will do for rebuilding them.

2. For native workmen it is recommended to make a bathing-tank, which can be easily done by enlarging the present one.

3. The erection of huts for about 600 coolies is also advised.

4. A boundary wall round the works should also be erected in a substantial way, so that it answers the purpose. Although it is rather expensive, most of the iron works are provided with one, as the damage caused by running away of workmen, unbidden visitors, and stealing, justifies the greater expense of a wall.

This wall must be about 7½ feet high, and must be provided with sharp objects (the simplest ones being blast-furnace slags) built in on the top, in order to prevent the scaling of the wall.

VIII.—European Workmen.

With regard to European workmen for iron working in general, I refer to the "labour question" treated of in my report on Chanda (page 10). To start the works in order to produce 80 tons castings per 24 hours the following European workmen have to be brought out from Europe:—

1. One blast-furnace foreman.
2. Four first-men for the blast-furnaces.
3. Four second-men ditto
4. Four third-men ditto
5. Two workmen for the coke-furnaces.

IX.—Amount of Production.

The cast-iron parts for one sleeper (broad gauge railway) weigh, including jaws, about 188lb. The sleepers lie at a distance of one yard (centre to centre) from each other: this gives a consumption of 148 tons of cast-iron per running mile railway.

Therefore, with the proposed arrangements (which allow the production of about 80 tons of sleepers per 24 hours), it would be possible to yield the requirement of sleepers for about half a mile of railway per day.

Approximate estimate for the improvements and repairs of the Bengal Iron Works for production of 80 tons of cast-iron sleepers and other castings per 24 hours (vide plan No. 1).

Appendices.

APPENDIX No. 1.—The quantity of air required per minute is calculated by the equation

$$Q = 1{\cdot}1\ Ap. \quad \ldots\ldots\ldots\ldots \text{No. 1,}$$

where Q is the quantity of air in cubic feet to be introduced in the blast-furnaces per minute;
A is the consumption of coke per 24 hours expressed in tons;
p is the proportion of carbon in the coke.

If, as proposed, Belgian furnaces with washing apparatus will be used for the manufacture of coke from the Barrakur coal, the proportion of carbon in the coke will be $p = 92$, and the consumption of coke per 24 hours will be $A = 112$ tons; the outturn of pig-iron with this fuel by the two blast-furnaces being assumed at 80 tons per 24 hours.

By substituting these values in equation No. 1 we get—$Q = 1{\cdot}1 \times 112 \times 92 = 11{\cdot}344$ cubic feet of air required per minute for both blast-furnaces together.

The effect of the present blowing-engine in the Bengal Iron Works is calculated by the equation where 9′ is the quantity of air in cubic feet which can be delivered by the blowing-engine per minute; f the inner section of each cylinder in square feet: in the present instance $f = 23$;

$$9' = \alpha f.v.n. \quad \ldots\ldots\ldots\ldots \text{No. 2,}$$

v the speed of the piston in feet per minute, the maximum in the present instance being assumed at 200;
n the number of cylinders: in the present instance $n = 2$, and;
α the working effect of the blowing-engine inclusive wind-conduit, which may be assumed to be in this case 0·65, namely 35 per cent of the theoretical effect being lost through leakage in the wind-conductors, especially in the hot-blast ovens.

Substituting these values in equation No. 2, we get the maximum effect of the present blowing-engine $9' = 0{\cdot}65 \times 23 \times 200 \times 2 = 5{,}980$ cubic feet per minute; that is to say, about half of what is required, which, as found before, is 11,344 cubic feet per minute.

APPENDIX No. 2.—The necessary motive power for the two blowing-engines is calculated by the equation

$$N = \frac{1}{G\alpha} \times 0{\cdot}0045 P.Q. \quad \ldots\ldots\ldots \text{No. 3,}$$

where N is the requisite number of horse-power to drive the two blowing-engines, G the working effect of the steam-engine,—in our case 0·75 per cent.;
α the working effect of the blowing-engines and wind-conduit;—as before 0·65 per cent.;
P the pressure of the wind on the nozzles;—in our case $P = 4$lb per square inch; and Q the quantity of air in cubic feet per minute; as previously calculated = 11,344.

These values substituted in equation No. 3, we get $N = \frac{1}{0{\cdot}75 \times 0{\cdot}65} \times 0{\cdot}0045 \times 4 \times 11344 = 420{\cdot}5$ horse-power, being the requisite motive power for the two blowing-engines. Besides the blowing-engines, there is required the necessary motive power for driving the hoist and the feeding-pumps for the boilers, which consume about 20 horse-power: therefore altogether a steam-boiler establishment of 440 horse-power will be required to serve the whole machinery belonging to the blast-furnaces.

The standing steam-boiler establishment consists of 7 "egg-ended boilers," each of which having a total length of 28 feet and 5 feet diameter, representing a "fire surface" (the part of the boilers in contact with the fire) of 230 square feet per boiler.

Considering the construction of these boilers, a "fire surface" of 16 square feet can be calculated for each horse-power: therefore a real effect of about 100 horse-power can be furnished by the seven standing boilers together ($\frac{230 \times 7}{16} = 100$).

But as this motive power answers only for the production of 20 tons pig-iron per 24 hours, the erection of a second steam-boiler establishment is required to furnish the necessary effect of 440 horse-power.

It must be observed that two steam-boilers must be kept as a reserve in case those in use require cleaning or repairing.

RITTER C. SCHWARZ.

BARRAKUR, 16*th June* 1882.

The Manufacture of Wrought-iron and Steel at the Bengal Iron Works.

FOR the manufacture of wrought-iron and steel, and especially for the production of rails, beams, girder, and ship-plates, etc., on a large scale, the introduction of the basic Bessemer process is recommended. With this process the contents of phosphorus in the pig-iron (produced from the Barrakur iron ores) can be reduced from 1·36 to 0·04 per cent, and therefore a quality of wrought-iron and steel produced which is suitable for the production of steel rails, rolled beams, etc. (An analysis of the pig-iron produced by the Bengal Iron Work Company is shewn in my Report on the Bengal Iron Works, page 3.)

The spiegeleisen (specular cast-iron) for the production of steel in the Bengal converter cannot be obtained from the Barrakur iron ores on account of their impurities and their too small contents of manganese: "spiegeleisen" has therefore to be imported.

It is of great importance in the basic Bessemer process to procure a suitable basic fire-proof material for the inner lining of the converter, as imperfect material for this purpose would cause costly interruption of the work by the wearing out of the lining too quickly. Besides, the making of basic fire bricks is very expensive, and the renewing or repairing of the inner lining of a Bessemer converter is a disagreeable and tedious labour, as the workmen have to suffer great heat and the work has to be done carefully and exactly.

Dolomite (magnesium limestone) has proved the best material in practice for the purpose, and such is to be found near Ramlallpur, about seven miles south of Raneegunge, and near Purda (lat. 22° 59′ 15″: long. 86° 37′ 45″).

Dolomite of an excellent quality also occurs in the stream beds near Darjeeling, where it is rolled down from a range of hills composed of dolomite, which occurs just beyond the British boundary in Bhutan; the same rock also occurs east of Buxa in British territory (Mem. G. S. T., Vol. XI, page 83).

The following is an analysis of this dolomite:—

Carbonate of lime (Co. O. Co_2)	60·5
„ of magnesia (Mg. O Co_2)	38·7

Although this dolomite will be rather expensive to procure, it may pay to use it for the converter lining for the reasons explained. The pig-iron has to be remelted in cupola furnaces, as it is not sufficiently pure and regular for this process to be led directly in a liquid state from the blast-furnaces into the converter.

Amount of production.—It is a general rule to produce as large a quantity as possible in a Rail's rolling-mill, in order to distribute the high expenses for workmen and establishment combined with such an undertaking over a great amount of production.

As we are not depending here on vegetable fuel, but all raw materials are to be had in unlimited quantities, it is the manual aptitude and practice of the workmen serving the rolling-mill and the converting department which furnishes the basis for the quantity of production. In England and America the most astonishing results in this direction have been attained. The average outturn of a single Rail's rolling-mill is there 440 tons of finished rails per 24 hours; but exceptionally also 600 tons have been turned out in the same time when making "double headers" of 80lb per yard.

It is very doubtful whether such results can be attained here: therefore the annexed calculations of the cost of production are for security based on a production of 200 tons of finished rails per 24 hours.

It must be mentioned that in a Rail's rolling-mill, also rolled beams, rolled sleepers, girder, and ship-plates, and other rolled iron or steel goods of the stronger kind, can be produced if the necessary cylinders (rollers) are provided.

To provide the necessary pig-iron for the production of 200 tons of finished rails per diem, it is not advisable to use the existing blast-furnace establishment, this being only constructed for a production of 40 tons per diem for both blast-furnaces, whilst about 200 tons of pig-iron are wanted.

These blast-furnaces should be put in thorough order for making pig-iron for castings only, for which purpose they were originally built. For the production of the pig-iron for the rolling-mill, it is recommended to erect a new blast-furnace establishment consisting of two blast-furnaces on the declivity of a small hill, which is at a distance of about 1,000 yards from the existing establishment. The railway siding can be prolonged uphill to a length of about 1,000 yards, rising to a maximum height of 50 feet, in order to form a viaduct from which the raw materials can be thrown over for the purpose of concentrating the stock in a comparatively small space (vide Report on the Bengal Iron Works, page 1).

Each of these new blast-furnaces can be constructed for an outturn of 100 tons of pig-iron per 24 hours, giving at the same time better results than the existing blast-furnaces would yield with regard to the consumption of fuel and cost of labour, management, wear and tear, etc, for well-known reasons.

This establishment should be constructed in such a manner that an increase of it by a third or fourth blast-furnace could be accomplished (if the requirements of the Rail's rolling-mill should be augmented) without interfering with the original system, and without disturbance to the work of the existing establishment.

The scraps of the rails yield a suitable material for the manufacture of wire, as is done in Cleveland. A Bessemer establishment producing daily 200 tons of rails can in this wise turn out 20 to 25 tons of wire in the same time.

The slag of the basic Bessemer process, owing to its contents of phosphate of lime, can be used as manure, as is the practice in Germany.

The puddling and welding process.

For the production of bar, hoop, and façon iron of the smaller kind, the introduction of the puddling and welding process is recommended. The contents of phosphorus in the pig-iron can be reduced in the puddling-furnace from 1·36 to 0·25 per cent., and thus renders a material suitable for the manufacture of bar-iron of the so-called "refined" quality.

The existing blast-furnaces can be arranged for the outturn of about 80 tons of white pig-iron per 24 hours, which would yield the necessary material for the production of about 62 tons of small bar-iron, façon-iron, etc. It may be mentioned that for the production of small façon-iron (double T V iron, bridge-rails, etc.), a small contents of phosphorus is necessary in order to enable the iron to fill out the complicated shapes of the calibres of the rollers; the circumstances in our case are therefore especially adapted for this purpose.

Railways and Tramways.

As the iron ores of Barrakur are to be had in unlimited quantities in the immediate neighbourhood of the works, and as they can be obtained by simple surface digging, the erection of a tramway for their transport is not necessary; they can be cheaper transported by carts.

Limestone occurs in Pachete and Hansapathar, at a distance of about eight and ten miles from the works. For the making of 200 tons rails and 80 tons castings per diem (as proposed), about 320 tons of this limestone would be required daily: it is therefore advisable to construct a tramway for its transport. This tramway, however, would have to cross the Damuda river, and this can be done by means of a "causeway," as a bridge over that river (at least for the present) would be too expensive.

The river can in this wise be crossed for seven and a half months in the year, and a store of limestone for the remaining four and a half months (during the rainy season) has to be kept at the works.

The transport of coal to the works, and that of finished goods from the works, is managed by the East Indian Railway (Seetarampore–Burrakur line), with which the works are connected by means of a siding.

Conclusion.

The local circumstances with regard to the quantity and quality of the raw materials at the Barrakur Iron Works are specially adapted for the production of rails, rolled beams, girder, and ship-plates, and other rolled goods of the stronger kind on a large scale, and for the production of ordinary castings, as railway-sleepers, pipes, pillars, &c., as well as for the manufacture of bar and façon iron of "refined" quality.

The raw materials are to be had in unlimited quantities, and cheap enough to produce iron and steel goods of the above kind at competition and profitable prices if the manufacture of them is conducted on modern principles.

With the proposed improvements and arrangements, namely,—

(1) Putting the existing blast-furnace establishment and foundries into thorough order for the production of castings,

(2) The erection of a new establishment for making rails, etc.,

the daily outturn of the whole works would be—

(1) 80 tons ordinary castings (principally railway-sleepers), and

(2) 200 tons rails, beams, and other rolled goods of the stronger kind.

The production of puddled bar and façon iron, if desired, could be begun on a much smaller scale than the production of rails, and would still pay. The two existing blast-furnaces could be arranged—one for the production of grey pig-iron for castings, and the other for the manufacture of white pig-iron for the puddling process. In this wise there could be turned out daily—

(a) 20 tons of ordinary castings, and

(b) 18 tons of bar and façon iron.

The cost of this arrangement would be about 5 lakhs (five lakhs) of rupees in all. Owing to the geographical situation of the works, and considering the railway freight for iron goods prevailing in India, the most profitable sale districts for iron and steel goods made at Burrakur would be Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and they could also be sold in Central India and Punjab at competition prices.

The 20th June 1882.

REPORT ON THE BENGAL IRON WORKS.

Parts of works.—The works consist essentially of two blast-furnaces, each capable of producing 20 tons of grey pig-iron for castings per 24 hours, and of a casting establishment of two separate buildings, with all necessary machinery, finishing, and repairing workshops; also of offices, store-rooms, scale-houses, water-reservoirs, dwellings, &c.

Situation.—The situation of the works may be described in general to have been well chosen, as the principal raw materials, namely, the iron ores, coke and limestone are found in the immediate neighbourhood and in sufficient quantities. It would, however, have been better if the works had been built on the Burrakur river, which is at a distance of about 1¾ miles, as the water required for them is not to be found in the present situation, but must be led to them from that river.

This shortcoming has rendered necessary the establishment of a special and expensive pumping engine with boilers, and a water conduit of about 8,500 feet in length, consisting of 10-inch cast-iron pipes. This water conduit alone may have cost Rs. 50,000, which might have been saved if the works had been built immediately on the river.

Raw materials.—The iron ores are brown hematite, and consist of 47 per cent. of metallic iron on an average, or 78 per cent. of hydrate sesquioxide of iron ($2Se_2\ O_3$, $3\ H\ O$): the impurities are 12 per cent. silicic acid ($S_1\ O_2$) and 6 per cent. aluminia ($Al_2\ O_3$), the rest being protoxide of manganese (Mn O), phosphoric acid ($P\ O_5$) and traces of sulphur. The iron ores are found close to the iron works and on the surface of the ground; there is, therefore, no expensive mining arrangements necessary; they can be delivered at the iron works for 12 annas per ton, inclusive of all costs.

The coke is made likewise near the works, as the coal mines are near. The coke is well burnt, but contains a good deal of ashes. It costs when delivered at the iron works from Rs. 8 to Rs. 10 per ton, according to quality.

The limestone is obtained from a distance of above five miles. It consists of 71½ per cent. of cacium carbonate ($Ca\ O\ Co_2$), 17 per cent. other alkalies, and 11½ per cent. silicic acid ($Si\ O_2$). This limestone, on account of the heavy contents of silicic acid, cannot be considered very satisfactory for the blast-furnace process; in fact, through the 12 per cent. silicic acid in the ores the heavy percentage of ashes in the coke (consisting also chiefly of silicic acid) and the 11½ per cent. of the same in the limestone itself, the consumption of limestone is so heavy that it reduces the value of the great contents of the iron in the ore.

In general, however, the above raw materials are good enough, and their prices so exceedingly low as to have justified the establishment of an iron work in that place for their utilisation.

Blast-furnaces.—The blast furnaces are on a well approved Scotch system and the engines belonging to them, such as the blowing engine, hoist, water-pumps, &c., are well built and well preserved. There is, however, this shortcoming, that there is no suitable arrangement for concentrating the stock of the principal iron materials (ores, coke, and limestone) in a comparatively small space. With the great quantities required of these materials, there should have been built behind the furnaces a viaduct, at least 45 feet high, on which to convey these materials and throw them over. With the present arrangements they are spread over a large space, which occasions a considerable expense for bringing them to the blast-furnace, and other inconveniences.

Blowing engine.—The blowing-engine is double cylindrical, vertical, of approved construction, and in good preservation. For the adjustment of the blast there is a small receiver.

Hoist.—The hoist for the ores, coke, and limestone is a costly, well constructed machine, in good preservation, and is worked by a horizontal double-cylinder steam-engine. It may be observed that for this purpose a so-called "water cask elevator," of a very cheap construction, would have done as well. This arrangement has been introduced in many European iron works with success, where in winter time its working is not hindered by the formation of ice; it is therefore suitable for India.

Steam-boilers and chimney.—For the working of the machinery of the blast furnace, there are seven cylindricial boilers, each about 26 feet long and 5½ feet in diameter; these are all built in with masonry connectively, instead of each one or two having their own bed.

The chimney is 120 feet high, and is reported to be of an average width of 10 feet; in shape it is square (instead of round or octangular), which is for well known reasons objectionable; it is also not provided with any anchorage, and is therefore cracked in several places.

Before the works can be started again this chimney would have to be repaired and provided outside with proper iron anchorage.

Hot blast-ovens.—For the heating of the blast, there are provided two Whitwell apparatus, one for each blast-furnace. The addition of a third apparatus as a reserve would be very desirable, as without it, when one of the apparatus would require repairs or to be cleaned, which frequently occurs, the blast-furnace connected with it would have to be worked with cold blast, which requires more fuel and occasions irregularity in the work.

Blast-furnace gases.—With reference to the blast-furnaces of the establishment, it is inconceivable why the utilisation of the valuable gases evolved as fuel has been entirely neglected, and were allowed to escape. The gases from a blast furnace consists chiefly of about 30 per cent. carbonic oxygen gas (Co), 3 to 4 per cent. heavy carburetted hydrogen gas (C_2, H_4), and about 60 per cent. nitrogen, the rest being carbonic acid, water, steam, &c. This gas mixture, when purified, is powerful enough and in sufficient quantities to heat all the boilers and the hot blast-ovens belonging to the blast furnaces from which the gases have been taken. In the present instance 30 tons of coal would have been daily saved. The necessary arrangement for catching, purifying, and distributing the blast-furnace gases could be easily and cheaply applied, and is urgently recommended to be introduced, before the works are started again.

Bast-furnace slag.—Neither is there any arrangement for the utilisation of another subsidiary product, namely, the blast-furnace slag. Blast furnace slags can be converted into cement, artificial stones, and into so-called "slag wool." It consists of about 38 per cent. silicic acid (Si O_2), 22 per cent. aluminia (Al_2 O_3), 31 per cent. lime (Ca O), the rest being magnesia, gypsum, and other unimportant constituents.

To make the cement, the hot liquid slag is run into water, when it is granulated; the granulated mass is then ground into powder, and this again mixed with one to two per cent. of pure limestone or chalk and burnt; the result is a cement of a superior quality.

For the production of artificial stones, the granulated blast furnace slag is mixed with a little lime cream; it is then pressed in the desired moulds and dried.

"Slag wool" is produced by leading water steam, of a pressure of about two atmospheres, under a right angle, into a thin ray of slag; the produced slag wool looks like cleaned cotton and its used for the packing of steam pipes, the wadding of ice cellars, and in general as an insulator against heat.

Ore crusher.—There is no machine provided in the iron works for crushing the iron ores and the limestone; this used to be done by coolies. An ore crusher, a simple and inexpensive machine, would have done this work cheaper and certainly more effectively.

Pig-iron.—The product of the blast furnace was 40 tons of grey pig-iron for castings per 24 hours for both blast-furnaces The pig-iron was run into sand and allowed to get cold; it was partly sold in this shape and partly remelted in the foundry.

The following is an analysis of it:—

Iron metallic	90·58 per cent	Silicon	4 13 per cent.
Carbon combined ...	0·14 „	Phosphorus	1·36 „
„ graphite ...	2·70 „	Sulphur	0 12 „
Manganese	0·97 „

Foundry.—The buildings holding the foundry are too far situated from the blast-furnaces to allow of the pig-iron to be transferred to the buildings direct in a liquid state, for being cast in the moulds without being remelted in the cupola furnace.

It is an old erroneous notion that the pig-iron taken direct from the blast-furnace furnishes castings of an inferior quality than when remelted in a cupola furnace. The only disadvantage which can be alleged against the direct casting, namely, want of uniformity in the casting, can be cancelled by suitable arrangements and manipulations during the process of casting. To explain and to prove this would lead us too far. Suffice it to mention that the process of direct casting from the blast-furnace without the intervention of the cupola furnace has lately been practised with success in several English and German iron works, and for a long time in Austria and Sweden.

The remelting of the pig-iron should be resorted to only for the purpose of utilizing the Sunday production of the blast-furnaces and the scraps of the foundry, or for the production of special qualities of cast-iron for certain purposes, such as pottery castings or ornamental objects. In general, the remelting of the pig-iron serves only for the convenience of the management of the works, or to remedy irregularities; for when the blast-furnace is irregularly worked, unequal qualities of pig-iron are produced, which of course render the direct casting process impossible. Through careless or incorrect management in working the blast-furnace, sometimes too much carbonised and sometimes too little carbonised pig-iron is turned out, both unsuitable for castings; but through alloying both together they can be profitably used for castings by means of the cupola furnace.

Cupola furnaces.—For remelting of the pig-iron the Bengal Iron Works have four cupola furnaces of the approved system, "Ireland." The blast is effected by a ventilator, and a Roots blower, the latter decidedly preferable to the former. The defect about the cupola furnaces is the absence of a lift for pig-iron and coke. These materials were carried to the furnace top by coolies upon a staircase. Two simple water-cask elevators (one for each couple of furnaces) would remedy this shortcoming at a small expense.

Foundry shops.—The foundry workshops are in two separate buildings—one for light, the other for heavy castings; the latter is therefore provided with five cranes. Connected with the foundry is a workshop for finishing the castings. This workshop contains lathes of varying dimensions, two drilling machines, one planing machine, one pipe-testing machine, with all appurtenances, and also a movable crane for serving all this machinery. To work the whole of the workshop machinery there is a horizontal steam-engine with boilers, which also works the Roots blower of the foundry. For working the ventilator of the other foundry there is a portable steam-engine.

The clay and sand required for the foundry are prepared in a separate building. This preparation is done by two mortar mills driven by a portable steam-engine.

Drying furnaces.—For drying off the casting cores and clay moulds, there are well built drying furnaces. All that may be objected to in these is that they are not arranged for being fired with inferior cheap fuel.

Fuel of an inferior quality offers a double advantage in this instance—the first, that a cheaper kind of fuel may be used; the second, that it gives a more uniform heat, which is essential for drying-furnaces. When drying-furnaces are heated with good coal, there is a danger of the objects to be dried lying nearest the fuel to become over-heated ("burnt") before the more distant objects have been sufficiently dried; indeed, experience has shewn that that fuel is most suitable for drying-furnaces which can just barely maintain itself in a burning state, even with a good draught. Many iron works in Germany and in France have therefore found it profitable to prepare the coke from the coals themselves, as the subsidiary products of coke-making, namely, the escaping gases and the residue in the washing apparatus, can be utilised, the former for heating steam-boilers, and the latter for heating the drying-furnaces.

Socket pipes.—The way and manner in which socket pipes were prepared in the foundry was obsolete and defective; these used to be cast horizontally—a process which rendered the labour difficult and the outturn small and faulty. Socket pipes must be cast vertically, if their production is to be profitable. To explain the two systems and the reasons of the superiority of one over the other would be too long and out of place here. I will only add that the arrangement for casting vertically can be easily added to the present one.

Arrangement for tiering pipes.—The arrangement for tiering the pipes is equally unpractical and unsuitable for large operations. This arrangement also may be altered without great expense.

Out-houses.—All those out-houses, such as offices, scale-houses, store and dwelling-houses and others, which were solidly built, are now in good preservation; but those which were built of inferior material are already dilapidated, and impart to this part of the group of buildings a somewhat ruinous appearance.

SUGGESTIONS.

From what has been reported it may be seen that the Bengal Iron Work are worth reopening; and if their management be entrusted to experienced and conscientious professional men, they should turn out a prosperous investment. The situation is well chosen; the raw materials are near and cheap; and the railway is also near for the conveyance of manufactured goods.

The superiority and good condition of all the machinery and the solidity of the chief buildings prove that the undertakers were imbued with the best intentions to render the establishment good, solid, and durable; only it appears that the technical management was entrusted to men of deficient professional experience.

The greatest part of the shortcomings, however, mentioned in the report may be remedied without great costs. Strictly speaking the existing arrangements have to be completed rather than altered, and this should be done before the works are started again.

The chief condition of success in an iron work is its continuous and full function. The production must be driven to a maximum, so that the expenditure on management, interest of capital, &c., which are exceptionally high in India, should be as much as possible distributed over a high production.

MORAR;
26th October 1881.

RITTER C. VON SCHWARZ.

REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL PROSPECTS OF IRON WORKING IN THE CHANDA DISTRICT.

RAW MATERIALS.

Iron ores.

The most important and, at the same time, best situated deposits of iron ores in the Chanda district are the specular iron ores at Lohara, longitude 79° 47½′ E., latitude 19° 22′ N., and the magnetities at Peepulgaon, longitude 79° 34′ E., latitude 20° 23′ N.

The following is the chemical composition of these iron ores:—

	Lohara ores.	Peepulgaon ores.
Metallic iron	69·00 per cent.	69·00 per cent.
Oxygen in combination	29·57 „	26·29 „
Manganesesquioxide	0·10 „	.....
Silica	0·84 „	4·21 per cent.
Alumina	0·43 „	.....
Lime	0·05 „	0·50 per cent.
Sulphur	0·01 „	.....

Each of these deposits forms a continuous accumulation of compact iron ore, constituting a hillock, and is prolonged deep under the general level of the country. The ores are found in such quantities in these places that an iron work producing 80 tons of rails daily might be fed from each deposit for about 100 years without resorting to the deeper-lying ores at greater expense. Besides these two deposits there are other places in the Chanda district where iron ore is found, namely, Lankachen, Ratnapur, Dewalgaon, Ogulpet, Metapur, Gunjwahi, Joonona, Kandeshwa, and others; the ores in these places, however, being either of a poorer quality and containing more impurities, or not being so advantageously situated as those of Lohara and Peepulgaon, deserve, at least for the present, no consideration.

The iron ores of Lohara have in their few impurities all the component parts necessary for the formation of such blast-furnace slag which has the proper chemical composition in regard to the ash contents of the fuel, so that 3 per cent. only of flux will be required for smelting these ores in the blast-furnace by means of charcoal.

As specular iron ores are easier treated in the blast-furnace than magnetites (as is well known to every professional iron-worker), I hold it to be correct on this ground, and on others (explained on page 5), to take up for working, first of all, the iron ores of Lohara (see Appendix No. 1, page 27).

Vegetable fuel.

For the reduction of these iron ores in the blast-furnaces the forests of the Chanda district offer sufficient vegetable fuel, and at prices sufficiently cheap for the production of iron and steel of the best quality, in large quantities, and at competition prices.

The forests of the Chanda district cover an area of 3,325 square miles, of which, however, at present, owing to considerations of carriage, only that part should be exploited as fuel for the reduction of the ores which lies within a circumference of about 20 miles radius round the place which has been chosen as the most suitable for the erection of an iron work.

This part of the forest covers about 520 square miles, capable of yielding 16,000 tons of dry wood per square mile in its present condition.

According to information from the Conservator of Forests, Central Provinces, from this quantity must be deducted about 30 per cent. for reserved trees, which, owing to the valuable quality of their wood, or owing to other reasons, may not be made into charcoal so that about 11,000 tons of wood per square mile may safely be counted upon as available for reducing to charcoal.

The weight of the various woods of the Chanda forests is, on an average 50 lb per cubic foot (see Appendix No. 9, page 29); therefore 30 per cent. greater than of the woods (chiefly fir and pine) used in Sweden and Styria for charcoal; the Chanda charcoal being thus specifically heavier is, weight for weight, far more valuable for the smelting of iron ores (see Appendix No. 2, page 27).

According to an estimation of the Conservator of Forests, Central Provinces, the area of 520 square miles of forest, lying round the site of the projected iron works, may yield 32,000 tons of charcoal yearly and be regenerated in forty years.

The same authority maintains that the production of charcoal on a large scale, and carried on systematically, improves forests; this, although apparently paradoxical, has been proved by experience in those parts of Sweden and Styria where vegetable fuel is used on a large scale in the production of iron. The reason for this is not far to seek. The products of the forest being in greater demand and more valuable, the science of forestry has been called in to shew the way to a more correct system of conserving and increasing the contents of forests. The improved and cheaper means of transport, rendered necessary for an Iron Work near a forest, render also cheaper the carriage of building timber and other forest produce, whereby they become cheaper; saw-mills and other wood-working machines may be advantageously connected with an iron work establishment, as this can furnish cheaply the necessary steam-power and supervision.

Coal.

Whilst there is sufficient charcoal in the Chanda forests for the production of pig-iron, the coal of the Warda-Godavery Valley is good enough for the refining process, namely the conversion of the pig-iron into finished iron or steel if the necessary arrangements are made, suitable for this quality of fuel. Judging from borings and outcrops, the sources may be estimated to contain 2,525 millions of tons, of which 1,714 millions are available. The most important seams are those of Wun, Pisgaon, Ghugus, Bunder, and Warora.

Of all these coal-fields, however, the Warora seam only is now worked, and produces monthly about 7,000 tons of coal, of which 5,000 tons are bought by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

Owing to the small demand of coal the working of this mine is limited; if more use were made of it, the working expenses would be proportionally reduced. It is to be regretted that the quality of this coal is not so satisfactory as the quantity.

An analysis of the Warora coal shows—

	Large coal.	Slack coal.
Fixed carbon	45·6 per cent.	35·5 per cent.
Volatile matters (combustible) ...	26·0 „	26·4 „
„ „ (not combustible) ...	14·0 „	13·0 „
Ashes	14·4 „	24·0 „

The reasons why this coal must be described as of inferior quantity, as regards its fitness for pyrotechnic uses, are—

(1) its insufficient contents of fixed carbon ·
(2) its insufficient contents of hydrogen, not combined with oxygen;
(3) its large contents of ashes.

All attempts to reduce this coal to coke, suitable for the blast furnace process, have failed, owing chiefly to its deficient proportion of fixed carbon and (not with oxygen combined) hydrogen. It is well-known (although not theoretically proved) that it is generally the hydrogen which imparts to the coal the caking quality necessary for its reduction to coke, but numerous trials have shewn that the Warora coal when heated does not cake, but crumbles to pieces, which pieces give indeed coke, but of a quality suitable only for forge fires, or for lime-burning, and not for blast furnaces (see Appendix No. 3, page 27).

The coal of Warora is good enough, however, for producing all the pyrometric effects necessary for puddling and heating furnaces, and to provide the glow furnaces for Bessemer ingots and sheet iron with the necessary heat. This coal is also good enough for the cementation process (production of blister steel) and the temper process (the production of malleable iron); but it is not suitable for the open-hearth process and for the production of crucible steel in the (reverbatory) flaming furnace, as these processes require a very high temperature. Of the other coal fields of the Warda-Godavery basin, the coal of Pisgaon (Berar) appears to me the most hopeful, owing to its large contents of fixed carbon. Its analysis is as follows:—

	Large coal.	Slack coal
Fixed carbon	65·1 per cent.	36·3 per cent.
Volatile matters	19·2 „	32·2 „
Ashes	15·7 „	31·5 „

The large coal of Pisgaon contains, therefore, 20 per cent. more fixed carbon than the large coal of Warora; notwithstanding the superiority of this coal, no arrangements have yet been made to work the seam.

Limestone

For the reason explained on page 1, the reduction of the iron ores of Lohara in the blast furnace will require 3 per cent. only of limestone as a flux. Excellent limestone for this purpose is to be had in the neighbourhood of Warora; its analysis is as follows:—

Carbonate of lime and magnesium	95·0 per cent.
Silica	2·5 „
Alumina and oxide of iron	2·5 „

Fireproof material.

More important than the supply of limestone is the supply of suitable and cheap fireproof material. English fireproof bricks would cost, delivered in Chanda, Rs. 16 per 100. Now, the requirements of an iron work, producing about 80 tons finished iron or steel per day, would be 300,000 tons per year, giving thus an expenditure of Rs. 48,000 yearly for firebricks alone; but—

(a) fire-clay of a good quality is found along with the coal in the Warora Colliery; the following is an analysis of this fire-clay:—

Moisture	4·10 per cent.
Organic matter	4·30 „
Silica (sand)	2·40 „
Silica (in silicates)	63·20 „
Alumina (Al_2O^3)	18·80 „
Oxide of iron	0·50 „
Iron in pyrite	1·87 „
Carbonate of lime	1·80 „
Alkalis and sulphur	2·03 „
Loss	1·00 „

This clay is not so good as first-class English fire-clay, but is good enough for most parts of the iron-melting furnaces.

(b) Near Chanda is also found steatite (Mg. O Si O_3), which, mixed with one-fifth part fire-clay, is well known to give very refractory firebricks.

Fire-proof bricks could be made at the Iron Works for Rs. 2-8 per 100, and about four-fifths of the whole requirement could be covered by these bricks; only for certain parts of the blast furnace and the gas furnaces, it would be necessary to import English firebricks, namely, one-fifth of the whole amount.

AMOUNT OF PRODUCTION.

The amount of iron or steel which can be produced yearly with these raw materials will depend on the quantity of charcoal which the forests near the Iron Work can furnish without irretrievable injury to them; this has been estimated at 32,000 tons per year (vide page 2), and with this charcoal may be turned out 25,000 tons of finished iron per year. In case it may be found desirable in the future to considerably enlarge the iron work, recourse may be had to the more distant forests situated south and south-east of Chanda (see plan No 1) for charcoal for the production of pig iron. In this case it will be advisable to erect other blast furnaces near these forests, with the view of reducing the iron ores of the contiguous deposits and of conveying the pig iron thus obtained to the other Iron Works, situated nearer the sources of mineral fuel, for the purpose of converting it into finished iron. By these means the whole 3,325 square miles of forests in the Chanda district might make it possible for 260,000 tons of iron or steel being produced yearly.

BEST SITUATION FOR AN IRON WORK.

For the production of one ton of finished iron or steel the following quantities of the available materials are necessary :—

	Tons.
Iron ores	1·80
Charcoal	1·30
Mineral coal from Warora	3·00
Limestone	0·03

From these proportions it may be seen that the quantity of fuel is more than double that of ore. On this account, and as besides, for well-known reasons, the carriage of ores, even weight for weight, is cheaper than the carriage of fuel, and store of them easier kept, an Iron Work should always be built as near as possible to the sources of the fuel.

It may also be remarked that the carriage of charcoal is dearer than the carriage of mineral coal.

A suitable place for the Iron Work would be Durgapur on the Fraee stream. This place is surrounded by forests, has enough water even in the driest season, has a firm ground for building and heavy machinery, cheap stone and lime; has also the advantage of being situated somewhat high, and is therefore more within the influences of the breezes, which would keep the Iron Work cool.

This place could also be cheaply put into communication with Lohara and Warora by means of a tramway, as there are neither hills to cross nor expensive bridges to make. The suitability of this place, however, is best proved, I think, by the annexed plan, No. I, and attention should also be drawn to the important fact that this place, on the Fraee stream, is the only one between Lohara and Warora on which a sufficient supply of water all the year round may be relied upon.

In further support of the preference of this place on account of its water-supply, it may be mentioned that the want of this convenience has caused to the Bengal Iron Works Company an extra expenditure of nearly Rs. 50,000 (see Report on the Bengal Iron Works, page 1).

RAILWAYS.

Under the present circumstance, the best means of connecting the iron mine of Lohara and the Warora Colliery with the Iron Work would be a portable tramway. This would cost, everything included, about Rs. 12,000 per mile. The whole length of the tramway would be 55 miles (see Plan No. 1); the total expenditure would therefore be Rs. 6,60,000

The building of an ordinary railway would, for the present, not answer; it would cost about nine times as much as the tramway (the Warda-Warora Coal State Railway was built at an expenditure of Rs. 1,06,000 per mile) and would hardly pay any interest on the capital expended, especially as the extension of such a railway eastwards can hardly be expected to be undertaken for a long time.

Nevertheless, should an ordinary ("pucca") railway become necessary in the future in consequence of an enlargement of the Iron Work, or through other reasons, the tramway being portable, could be transferred elsewhere and advantageously utilised as a way for transport of charcoal and other forest produce.

Besides, the proposed tramway, traversing the best and thickest parts of the Chanda forest, could at once be utilised for transport of forest produce; combining also the best cultivated and best populated stretch of the Chanda district, it would advantageously connect this with the main railway at Warora.

This tramway line has been proposed after consulting and with the approval of the Conservator of Forests for the Central Provinces and the Deputy Commissioner of the Chanda district. This, and the reasons developed on page 1, are further grounds for first taking in hand the iron ore deposits of Lohara. A modification of the tramway project could take place only if the often spoken of railway extension between Chanda and Warora were definitely resolved upon.

CAST-IRON GOODS.

There is no doubt that, with such excellent raw materials as the Chanda district possesses, an excellent quality of cast-iron may be produced; and it follows also that only such cast-iron goods should here be turned out in which a good quality of iron is of importance, and which are, therefore, sold at higher prices.

Heavy castings.

For the production of such heavy castings as plumber blocks, steam-engine fly-wheels, and other heavy parts of machinery, also of weights, railings, columns, lamp-posts, &c., the raw material of the Chanda district is too valuable.

Pottery castings.

It is further unsuitable for the fabrication of cast pottery and objects of art, as all such things have to be run fine, delicate forms have to be filled, and smooth surfaces given to the castings; for all such goods phosphorus in the cast-iron in necessary, which is not found in the ores of the Chanda district.

Cast-iron railway wheels.

An article very much in use, and the manufacture of which would be particularly suitable to our circumstances, would be cast-iron railway wheels.

It is a strange fact that for a long time, and almost exclusively, cast-iron wheels have been used on the railways on the American continent, not only with goods and passenger wagons, but also with locomotives, whilst in Europe they are generally used with goods wagons, never with passenger wagons, and by no means with locomotives.

Considering the enormous extension of railways in America,—the mileage being greater than that of England, Germany, Austria, France, and Russia taken together—it might be correctly presumed that the Americans have good experience in this matter.

When the great difference in the price of a cast-iron wheel and a wheel of wrought-iron and steel is considered in conjunction with the enormous quantity used, the subject becomes of some importance.

On the other hand, it may be assumed that the Engineers in Europe, to whom the use of cast-iron wheels is no secret, have also good reasons for abiding by wrought-iron and steel wheels. The fact of cast-iron wheels being, on European railways, limited to goods wagons, would point to a want of confidence in the safety of such wheels against brittleness, whilst the confidence in America in the freedom from brittleness can only be due to the wheels being made of a more reliable quality of cast iron and under a corresponding manipulation.

To enter into the details of manufacturing this article would be out of place here; let it suffice to say that in this matter the greatest care has to be used in the choice of the materials, as well as in the fabrication, if the article is to be free from flaws and reliable in every respect.

Before putting in use, each wheel should be subjected to the most rigid tests for solidity, strength, sufficient hardness in the flanges and general manufacture.

The material used in America for cast-iron wagon wheels is grey pig-iron, obtained from rich and pure red iron ore melted with charcoal, corresponding therefore exactly with our circumstances.

The usual duration of such wheels is of that degree that they are allowed to run 60,000 miles in full confidence before they are subjected to new tests as to their further utility.

At the Philadelphia Exhibition four such wheels were shewn which had run 450,000 miles without having suffered in substance or appearance.

Malleable castings.

Another speciality, suitable for the present circumstances, is the production of malleable castings. For this article also pig-iron of the best quality (reduced with charcoal) is adapted. To explain it in a few words, the cast articles are embedded in material giving off oxygen, and are slowly heated, whereby the carbon is driven out of the cast-iron to a certain degree, the final product being one of steel-like nature. As a decarbonising means in our case the manganese ores of Malugher and Ramtek (see plan No. 1) can be made use of. The fabrication of malleable iron has lately been brought to great perfection in certain parts of Europe and America. The following articles might be here produced:

ploughshares, scythes, hay-forks, rakes and other agricultural implements; also stirrups, horse-bits, keys, small wheels, certain parts for guns, rifles, and other weapons, double eyes and other parts of machinery, and in general such articles of complicated shapes in which great strength is not required, articles which it would be difficult to make of forage-iron. It is scarcely necessary to mention here that most cast-iron articles may be turned out direct from the blast-furnace, without remelting in the cupola furnace.

Subsidiary Products.

The subsidiary products of the blast-furnace, as the gases and slag, can and should be utilised,—the former for the heating of the boilers and hot-blast ovens; the latter for the fabrication of cement, artificial stones, and slag wool (vide Report on the Bengal Iron Works, page 2).

The Bessemer Process.

From the purity and uniformity of the ores and fuel treated of, it may at once be concluded that the product of the blast furnace will also be pure and uniform, and that it will therefore be possible to allow the pig-iron to run in a fluid state direct from the blast furnace into the Bessemer converter, whereby the cost of remelting would be saved, as is successfully done in Carinthia, Styria, and Sweden, where the working is carried on under conditions similar to those in our case.

The finishing process of rolling the Bessemer ingots into rails, tyres, plates, &c., requires no particularly high temperature, and can therefore be effected with Warora coal of second quality, viz. slack coal at Rs. 2 per ton.

Spiegeleisen.

The "spiegeleisen" necessary for the production of steel in the Bessemer converter cannot be obtained from the iron ores of Chanda, as, notwithstanding their purity, their contents of manganese is very slight; "spiegeleisen" would therefore have to be imported.

"Spiegeleisen" contains from 5 to 15 per cent. manganese; it would lead us too far to explain why this ratio of manganese is necessary for the production of "spiegeleisen;" suffice it to saythat hitherto the existence of "spiegeleisen" free of manganese has not been proved (see Appendex No. 4, page 28). For the production of (ingot iron) "flusseisen" (a product containing only 0·05 to 0·10 per cent. of carbon) in the Bessemer converter, it is not required to add "spiegeleisen." Girder plates, boiler plates, rod, angle, and square iron, and rolled beams of the stronger kind, wagon axles, and iron rails could be turned out cheaply in the Bessemer process, as these descriptions of goods can be made of (ingot iron) "flusseisen," and the cost of "spiegeleisen" is avoided.

The scraps remaining when making rails are generally used up in the open-hearth process, in the cupola furnace, or in the Bessemer converter, where they are melted down with the pig-iron. It has already been shewn (page 3) that under the present circumstances the open-hearth process cannot be used; the other usual resources for utilising the scraps of rails is rationally resorted to only where no better alternative remains. These scraps, however, yield particularly suitable material for the manufacture of wire and thin hoop-iron, a process which has been in vogue for some years with success in Cleveland, and has lately been initiated in other Bessemer Works. A Bessemer establishment, producing daily 72 tons of rails, can in this wise turn out daily 8 tons of wire or of hoop-iron.

The Puddling and Welding Process.

It has already been mentioned (page 3) that the Warora coal can be advantageously used in the puddling and heating (welding) process; but it should be mentioned also, with regard to the purity and richness of the iron ores that a modification of this process has come into use in America, consisting in the adding of iron ores for furthering decarbonisation, whereby the time of finishing the puddling process is shortened, the loss of iron, which used to be about 10 per cent. is reduced to 2 per cent., and there is a corresponding saving in coal and labour. The puddling process has lately been much dinimished in Europe, owing to the undoubted success of the Thomas Gilchrist dephosphorising method applied to the Bessemer process, as by this method, the cheaper pig-iron containing phosphorus can be worked, which was before possible only in the puddling furnace; but the latter will still maintain itself—

1*st*, where there in an object to manufature fine kinds of iron, or rolled iron goods of complicated form, as wire, fine hoop-iron, thin sheet-iron, thin angle and U-iron, &c, because the reduction of the 14-inch thick Bessemer blocks of compact material to small dimensions or complicated forms is combined with much and costly manipulation;

2*nd*, for turning out certain qualities of iron and steel, which cannot be produced in the Bessemer converter, for instance blister and Brescian steel.

The Direct Process.

It will not be out of place here to bring to notice a new process of iron and steel-making directly of ores, namely, the "Landore Process," which, if not at present, may, under the condition of the projected iron work, deserve consideration in future.

This process consists in melting a certain amount of grey pig-iron of the best quality in an open-hearth furnace, and adding to the thin fluid metal bath so obtained iron ores till the matter has been decarbonised. It is the oxygen in the iron ore which is here the decarbonising factor, the metallic iron being reduced and dissolved in the metal bath.

This adding of iron ore is continued till the whole of the pig-iron has been decarbonised (which is experimentally ascertained), when "spiegeleisen" or "ferromanganese" is added, as in the Bessemer converter, for the production of a given quality of steel.

It is scarcely necessary to prove that for this process iron ores of the best quality are required; in Landore these are imported from Mokta in Algeria; they contain 62 per cent. metallic iron and have no injurious impurities. Now, these ores cost delivered in Landore, about Rs. 13 per ton, whilst the iron ores of Lohara contain 69 per cent. of metallic iron (7 per cent. more), and would cost, delivered at the iron work in Chanda, Rs. 3¼ per ton.

It should be, however, pointed out that the process under explanation requires a very high degree of heat, as the metal bath has to remain perfectly liquid even in a decarbonised state; the metal bath must also be covered with a layer of slags, 3 inches thick, as a protection against the flame hovering over it, which would act injuriously upon the ores floating on the surface of the bath till they are dissolved.

This cover of slags acting as a bad conductor of heat, a temperature of 1900° centigrade, is required to work the Landore process successfully. It may be doubted whether so high a temperature can be obtained with Warora coal (being poor in carbon), even with the assistance of Siemen's regenerators, but it might be obtained with the Pisgaon coal, which has 20 per cent. more carbon than the Warora coal.

Should therefore in due time the Pisgaon seam be opened out, this process would have a chance of giving excellent results with the Lohara ores. This process has been in use in the Landore Works already 12 years with ever-increasing results: by this time there are 24 furnaces at work, producing together about 2,000 tons of steel per week. The steel turned out with this process is well known for its uniformity and durability, and is therefore preferred in the English arsenals to all other brands. It is due chiefly to the difficulty of finding so pure and rich ores, and to their high cost, that this process has not been more generally adopted (see Appendix 5, page 28).

Articles for Export.

The natural resources of the Chanda district offer not only the prospects of supplying India with a considerable portion of her iron and steel requirements, but also of producing articles for exportation to England—articles which are not made in England, but are imported in considerable quantities from the Continent of Europe.

Ferromanganese.

Such are Ferromanganese, a mixture of metallic iron with 30 to 75 per cent of metallic manganese, and a few per cents. carbon; it is used as an addition in the Bessemer and open-hearth processes, and also in the cast-steel crucible for the production of certain kinds of steel of special hardness for bandages, cutting tools, manganese steel, &c.

The price of this article is very high, and fluctuates according to the quantity of manganese it contains,—from £15 to £25 per ton delivered at Sheffield. The best part of this article England imports from Hörde in Germany, and Terrenoire in France. The raw materials required for the production of ferromanganese are pure charcoal pig-iron (granulated), and manganese ore containing iron.

There are three systems for the manufacture of ferromanganese, namely, in the crucible, the open-hearth, and the shaft furnace. To explain all these methods would lead too far; suffice it to say that for our conditions the production of ferromanganese with the shaft furnace (Système "Terranoire") would be most suitable.

There is in Ramtek (see Plan No. 1) manganese ore of the following chemical composition :—

	Per cent.
Metallic manganese	54·60
,, iron	6·50
Oxygen in combination	26·50
Silica	6·00
Lime	1·20
Combined water a. div. impurities	5·20

This manganese ore, with the pig-iron obtained from the Lohara ores by means of charcoal, would yield a material for the production of ferromanganese of an excellent quality.

Another manganese ore is found in Malaghar (see Plan No. 1), Wún district, containing 26 per cent. metallic manganese; it is of an inferior quality, and, although nearer, it cannot compete with that of Ramtek.

Brescian Steel.

A second export article to England would be the so-called "Brescian or Milan Steel." This is a kind of puddling steel, made of a pig-iron free from phosphorous and sulphur, and is an article of commerce in great demand and much esteemed.

In former times, Brescian or Milan steel was only made, as its name indicates, in the districts of Milan and Brescia, and was made with charcoal in the old charcoal hearth. The demand for this article, however, in England and on the Continent of Europe was greater than those districts could satisfy, and Corinthia and Styria are now supplying the greatest part of it.

As material for this product serves pure, white and grey charcoal pig-iron, which are converted in the pudding furnace by means of brown coal or turf into raw steel. It is then rolled by means of the welding process into square bars from ½ to ¾ inch thick. The bars are quickly cooled in water, broken, sorted according to the appearance of the breach, and packed in cases for export to England, France, and Germany.

The price of Brescian steel delivered in Sheffield is £18 per ton.

THE LABOUR QUESTION.

The disproportionally heavy cost and disadvantages arising from climate and social circumstances connected with the maintenance of a European staff of workmen point to the advisability of having recourse, as much as possible, to native labour; on the other hand, there is in the native a deficiency of practical professional training and a lower degree of physical and moral strength. Professional training can, however, be imparted to the native, and I believe he can be made to learn the work required at a blast furnace and rolling mill, if he be treated at it with gentleness and patience, if he be strictly controlled, if he be not worked too hard, and if his religious and other prejudices be respected; his physical strength will rise with better diet obtained by means of better wages.

The usual 12 hours of daily attendance ruling in Europe would have to be reduced to 8 hours. It would also be advisable to promise rewards to the European workmen for every native trained sufficiently to replace a European.

There are some branches of iron-work which natives will learn very quickly, such as the manufacture of wire, hoop-iron, malleable iron, ferro-manganese, blister steel, and other operations requiring less physical strength, but more quickness of movement or manual cleverness.

WATER-POWER.

No suitable place can be found in the Chanda District where there is natural water-power available for the driving of the machinery of an iron-work.

The only stream in this district which might be made to furnish water-power is the Winganga, called Prenhita after its union with the Wurda stream north of Bemballa (see plan No. V). This stream has numerous cataracts, which, if concentrated by a canal six miles long, would give a fall of 40 feet.

The quantity of water amounts during the dry season to about 100 cubic feet per second which with the 40-feet fall, would give theoretically an effect of about 250 horse-power.

Through the application of a Jonval turbine (the most suitable motor for our conditions), this water-power might be made to furnish a real effect of 350 horse-power; the use of this water-power for the iron-work is, however, not suitable, and this for the following reasons:—

(1) In the rainy season this stream rises often 50 feet, when the machinery worked by it would have to be stopped, a contingency which an iron-work could not endure, as the laying cold and re-heating of the furnaces are connected with very great expense of money and time, and with other inconveniences which it would be too long to explain here.

(2) The locality of the available water-power is too much out of the way, so that the saving of fuel would be more than counter-balanced by the greater cost of carriage of the raw materials and the manufactured goods.

(3) Water-power is in general of less value for an iron-work because the necessary steam-power for the driving of the machinery may be produced, in most cases, with the gases drawn from the furnaces, that is to say, no extra fuel is required for heating the boilers. The gases of a blast furnace (of a production of 30 tons of pig-iron per day) supply about 150 horse-power; the gases of a furnace for Bessemer ingots furnish 130 horse-power, a pudding furnace gives 20 horse-power; and a heating furnace for bar-iron 25 horse-power.

The water-power of the Winganga may become of good use for other industries in the future, when the communications of the district will have been developed.

A short stoppage of a paper, cotton, rice, or saw mill is no great loss, as the time of the inundation can be usefully employed for repairing the machinery, taking stock, &c., which operations, by making a virtue of necessity, could be always reserved for the season of the freshets.

For such establishments water-power has also more value, as it can be assumed that each of its horse-hower is equal to one cwt. of coal per 12 hours.

COST OF RAW MATERIALS.

Iron ore.

The cost of quarrying the iron ore at Lohara and carrying it to the tramway may be estimated at annas 14 per ton, the carriage by tramway from Lohara to the Iron Work, 38 miles, at anna 1 per ton per mile; we have therefore—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cost of the ore at the quarry, per ton	0	14	0
Carriage from Lohara to the Iron Work, 38 miles, at 1 anna per ton	2	6	0
Total cost of one ton of ore delivered at works ...	3	4	0

Charcoal.

According to information received from the Conservator of Forests of the Central Provinces, charcoal may be had at the place of production for Rs. 3-13-10 per ton; but it may be presumed that with a larger demand the rates of labour and contingencies will rise and increase the present price of charcoal by 30 per cent.; it will therefore be safer to estimate the cost per ton at Rs. 5-0-6 (see Appendix No. 8, page 28). The transport of charcoal will also best be effected by a portable tramway.

Owing to the larger bulk of this article, and the somewhat greater precautions required to be taken in its carriage, it will cost about 50 per cent. more than that of the ore, namely, annas $1\frac{1}{2}$ per ton per mile.

It should be observed that, according to the information furnished by the Conservator of Forests, Central Provinces, the 32,000 tons of charcoal (which will be required annually) will cause a deboisement of 11 square miles of forest yearly; with regard to the situation of the forest to the Iron Works it will therefore be necessary to shift the charcoal tramway once every $3\frac{1}{2}$ years. Assuming the charcoal tramway to be 20 miles, the cost of its shifting every $3\frac{1}{2}$ years will be $20 \times 3{,}000 =$ Rs. 60,000 (Rs. 3,000 per mile), which must be distributed over the cost of carriage of the charcoal. Now, tons $32{,}000 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ (years) = 112,000 tons; therefore the cost of shifting of tramway per ton of charcoal will be $\frac{\text{Rs. } 60{,}000}{\text{tons } 112{,}000} =$ annas 9.

The average distance over which the charcoal will have to be carried is 15 miles. The cost of carriage of the charcoal will therefore stand per ton—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Net carriage	1	6	6
Proportion of shifting of tramway every $3\frac{1}{2}$ years ...	0	9	0
Total ...	1	15	6

The total cost of one ton of charcoal delivered at the Iron Works will therefore be—

	Rs.	A.	P.
At the place of production	5	0	6
Total cost of carriage (annas $2\frac{1}{2}$ per ton per mile) ...	1	15	6
Total ...	7	0	0

It will be observed that in this calculation only the actual expenses have been taken into account, and not the value of the trees to the Forest Department; but it should be remembered that, in an indirect way (explained on page 2), the Forest Department will be sufficiently compensated by an iron work situated near its forests.

Coal.

The prices of coal in Warora are Rs. 5 per ton large coal and Rs. 2 per ton slack coal; its carriage to the Iron Work per tramway would be $\frac{3}{4}$ annas per ton per mile.

The carriage of the coal is taken 30 per cent. lower than that of the ore, as it will chiefly be done by return train; all other goods will be carried to Warora from the iron works, and the coal to the iron works from Warora. These other goods will be those made in the iron work, but also forest produce and the agricultural produce of the well-cultivated part of the country situated on the Winganga stream, which agricultural produce is sure to be increased through the tramway connecting this district with the main railway at Warora. The total cost per ton of coal delivered at the iron work will therefore be—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Large coal, cost at Warora	5	0	0
Carriage from Warora, 17 miles, at 9 pies per ton ...	0	13	0
Total ...	5	13	0
Slack coal, per ton at Warora	2	0	0
Carriage from Warora to the iron works, 17 miles, at 9 pies	0	13	0
Total ...	2	13	0

Limestone.

The cost of limestone delivered at the iron works will be the same as that of slack coal, namely, Rs. 2-13-0 per ton.

WAGES.

Skilled labour.

In the beginning at least skilled labour will have to be done by Europeans (see page 10); for certain subordinate operations only suitable natives may be found, as for instance foundrymen, engine-drivers, masons, carpenters, and other auxiliary workmen.

The cost of professional work done by Europeans must be assumed as double that in Europe.

Native labour.

A strong native coolie costs at present in the Chanda district annas 2½ per day, but wages must be expected to rise to annas 4. If the native labourer be assumed to do, in a given time, only half the work a European would do, he would still cost less than half. Unskilled work, such as loading and unloading the work at the cranes, carriage, masonry, carpentry, locksmith's work, and all auxiliary work can be done by natives, and may be estimated at half the cost for which it is done in Europe.

MANAGEMENT, WEAR AND TEAR, &C.

The cost of these is estimated at 35 per cent. higher than in Europe. This agrees with the experience gained in other large establishments of the kind in India. There will, however, be an economy in respect of fireproof materials, which forms the greatest item in the question of wear and tear, as the raw material is found near the iron work and can be worked up exclusively by coolies.

APPENDICES.

No. 1.—The proportion of the pig-iron to the slags in the blast furnace should not exceed that of 5 : 1. The reason of this is that the pig-iron, which accumulates in the lowest part of the blast furnace requires to be protected from the decarbonising effect of the blast streaming out of the tuyeres. This protection is offered by a sufficiently thick layer of slags, which, being specifically lighter, floats on the surface of the pig-iron bath like oil on water, keeping off every injurious action of the air hovering over it. As a rule, the quantity of slags is twice and three times as large as that of the pig-iron. In the smelting of the Lohara ores, the decidedly rare case presents itself of the ores being too pure and the blast surface slags consisting of the impurities of the ores, the ashes of the fuel and of the flux, representing 16 per cent. only of the quantity of pig-iron. To complete, therefore, the deficiency of 4 per cent., the ores of Lohara require an addition of 12 per cent. of an inferior ore, which is to be found in the neighbourhood of the projected Iron Work.

The reason of the difficulty in treating magnet iron ores lies in general in their low melting point, combined (notwithstanding their proportionately smaller contents of oxygen) with a difficulty in reduction. On this account it easily occurs that magnetites begin to melt in the blast surface before the oxygen has been driven out, bringing about the unpleasant consequences well known to iron-masters. Magnetites can therefore not be worked with a blast of high temperature in order to reduce them, as much as possible, with carbonic oxygen gas (CO), that is to say, at a lower temperature.

Therefore, also, for the smelting of magnetite ($Fe_3 O_4$) proportionately larger consumption of fuel in the blast furnace is required than in the smelting of specular iron ores ($Fe_2 O_3$), a kind of red iron ore, although the latter requires more carbon for its reduction than the former.

No. 2.—The reasons why specifically heavier charcoal, weight for weight, is more valuable than specifically lighter charcoal are the following :—

(1) A larger quantity of fixed carbon is comprised in a smaller space, whereby, as is well known, the pyrometric effect of every decription of fuel is raised.

(2) The larger the specific weight is of charcoal, the greater is its resistance to being crushed, and this consideration is very important in regard to the use of charcoal in the blast furnace. In general, the dimensions of a blast furnace should be as large as possible, as thereby fuel, labour, and wear and tear are spared, but their limit is determined by the height of the furnace from which all the other dimensions depend. The height of a blast furnace again depends on the mechanical resistance "capacity" of the fuel to be used, which "capacity" should be great enough to enable it to bear, in the lower parts of the furnace, the whole weight of the smelting column which fills the furnace (namely, the ore, fuel, and flux) without being crushed. Coke furnaces are worked most economically, because their height reaches 70 feet, and their outturn of pig-iron can be raised to 75 tons per day. The charcoal blast furnaces of Styria and Sweden have a maximum height of 45 feet, and produce 20 tons of pig-iron, but the charcoal of Chanda will allow of a blast furnace 52 feet high capable of turning out daily from 30 to 35 tons of pig-iron.

No. 3.—Coke for the blast furnace process should not be smaller than half a fist; it is better when the pieces are more than the size of a fist, and this on the following grounds:—

(1) To facilitate their onward motion, together with the ore and flux, which is necessary for the promotion of the chemical reactions between the fuel, ore, and flux as they sink in the blast furnace, which chemical reactions are possible only when the materials remain in constant touch with one another.

(2) To render possible the withdrawing of the gases rising from the lower parts of the blast furnace, which evidently would not take place if all the interstices between the materials which fill the blast furnace were choked up with small particles of coke.

No. 4.—It may not be out of place here to meet an objection arising from an opinion still often entertained, that for the purpose of producing "spiegeleisen," manganese ores may be added to iron ores devoid of it by introducing it into the blast furnace in proper quantities along with the iron ore.

The question may be raised in our case, as manganese ore is found not far from the iron work (see plan No. I, page 10). All such attempts have failed in practice, owing to the difficulty of reducing manganese ore. It is found that the iron ore is reduced (the oxygen driven out) and carbonised; therefore ready for the melting process, when the manganese ore, which had been put in simultaneously with the other, has scarcely commenced giving off its oxygen; in other words, has scarcely commenced to be reduced.

The natural consequence then results that the manganese ore (reaching the melting zone almost unchanged) is fused in this condition, and forms a good part of the blast-furnace slags without amalgamating itself with the pig-iron.

The simultaneous reduction of oxide of mangenese and oxide of iron can only take place when the particles of both are most intimately mixed, which is the case in iron ores containing a large percentage of oxide of manganese.

An alloy of metallic iron and manganese, the so-called ferromanganese, can be obtained by certain manipulations (see page 9); but as ferromanganese cannot replace "spiegeleisen," this process is not worth further consideration in this place.

No. 5.—The direct process of Siemen's is, under the conditions before us, not suitable, because this process depends also upon the open-hearth furnace, as the iron blooms (the end product of the Siemen's rotator furnace) have to be dissolved in the pig-iron bath of the open-hearth for the conversion into steel. These blooms are therefore used in the same manner as the iron ores in the Landore process.

Should, however, in future the open-hearth process become practicable (through opening of the Pisgaon coal mine—see page 3), it is then the Landore direct process would be preferable, as, in our case, the iron ores of Lohara would cheaply replace the iron blooms of Siemen's rotator.

No. 6.—For the reasons explained in page 27, an addition of 12 per cent. of poorer ores will be necessary for the Lohara ores. Such poorer ores are to be found in Joonona, about 19 miles from the iron work, therefore about 20 miles nearer than those of Lohara; but as the former have to be carried by cart to the iron work, the price of Rs. 3¼ (delivered at the works) remains unaltered.

No. 7.—The estimate includes the cost of the tramway for the transport of the charcoal to the iron work. The length of this tramway would be 20 miles, and its price Rs. 2,40,000. In the first seven years, however, the charcoal might be carried on the other tramway, viz. that connecting the iron work with Lohara and Warora, and the building of the charcoal tramway might be deferred till the necessary rails, sleepers, &c., can be made in our own iron work.

No. 8.—Cost per ton of manufactured charcoal from the Mahorli forest, at the place of production, for iron work. (The dates are furnished by the Conservator of Forests, Central Provinces.)

SUGGESTIONS.

The quantities, qualities, and the prices of the raw materials available in the Chanda district would furnish daily 80 tons of finished iron or steel, saleable at competition and profitable prices in India, and certain other articles for exportation to England.

Rails would give the smallest profit, as by the "Thomas Gilchrist" dephosphorising method combined with the Bessemer process, the cheaper pig-iron, containing phosphorus, is worked into rails, the price of which has therefore fallen in Europe by 40 per cent. within the last two years.

Greater will be the profit from kinds of iron which, for the reasons explained on page 8, cannot be made so profitably by means of the Bessemer process, such as small bar-iron, hoop-iron, thin sheet-iron, wire, &c.; in short, all such kinds of goods which have either a small or a complex section.

Most profitable in our case will be articles which can be made only of ores of the best quality, and with vegetable fuel. Some of these have been severally and briefly treated of on pages 6 and 7. The chief factor which may in the beginning, mar the full financial success of the Chanda Iron Works lies in the high railway freight prevailing in India.

This incubus on iron work industry will, in the present case, press all the harder, as the railways of the Central Provinces are still insufficiently developed, as a glance at the railway chart may easily prove; but it may be expected that commercial, strategical, and other interests will soon cause the completion of the system to be taken in hand.

In the interest of the prospective iron industries of Chanda, the following extensions or new constructions of railways would be beneficial :—

(1) An extension of the Wardah-Warora line to Hyderabad via Chanda.

(2) A junction of the Great Indian Peninsula line at Kampteo with Gadawara or Jubbulpore (Bhosawul-Jubbulpore lines) vide Seon.*

(3) A further extension of the latter line through Saugor and Jhansi and a junction with Gwalior.

Should these extensions be decided upon, it would be advisable to utilise the natural resources of the Chanda district in iron works capable of manufacturing all the iron railway material.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estate, situate in the district of Furreedpore, will be put up to sale at the Furreedpore Collectorate on the 28th September 1882, corresponding with 13th Ashin 1289 B.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale.

Conditions of Sale.

1*st*.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2*nd*.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force: and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators, who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3*rd*.—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th*.—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY FOR THE YEAR 1881.

MEDICAL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Yacht "Rhotas," the 9th August 1882.

READ—

The Administration Report for the Calcutta Municipality for the year 1881.

Read also—

The Report for 1880 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The Report, which has been submitted this year with commendable punctuality, is very full and complete. It is accompanied by exhaustive and interesting reports by the Health Officer and the Engineer, and by clear and comprehensive financial statements, and forms a complete record of the progress made during 1881, administrative as well as material.

2. Among the most important works of the year was the taking of the Census of Calcutta. The preliminary arrangements and the subsequent compilation of the returns were carried out under the immediate supervision of Mr. H. Beverley, first as Officiating Chairman, and subsequently as Special Census Officer. The task of seeking out and identifying every individual hut and tenement in Calcutta, and providing for its separate enumeration, was one of immense labour and difficulty. The intricacy of the bustees and the absence of any existing system of numbers rendered it unsafe to rely on the simpler procedure which was found to suffice in smaller towns. It was to be presumed, however, that every hut had been assessed for municipal rates, and the Municipal Assessment Registers therefore were made the basis of the enumeration. The opportunity was taken, by identifying every hut on enlarged plans prepared for the purpose, to test the accuracy of the registers themselves. The arrangements made were of necessity highly complicated, and threw much additional labour on the Municipal staff. But they were very successful, and though no doubt some instances of omission may have occurred, it is certain that these must have been quite insignificant in number.

3. The population of Calcutta and the Suburbs, as ascertained by the Census of 1881 and by the last previous Census, is shown below—

	Area in acres.	Population by last previous Census.	Population in 1881.
Town Proper	3,754	409,036	401,671
Esplanade	1,283	2,803	3,348

Suburbs	14,413	257,149	251,439
Grand Total ...	19,450	686,684	684,658

Of the population of the town and Esplanade together, 260,780 were males and 144,239 females; the numbers in 1876 being 264,863 and 146,976 respectively.

4. The social condition of Calcutta may be read almost at a glance in the following tables :—

Proportions of Males and Females at different age periods.

In the words of the Report, these figures "show that far more than half the inhabitants of the town are dishomed; that they are temporary sojourners only, leaving their families, in some cases even in early boyhood, to earn a livelihood in the Metropolis. The percentage of male to female children under 5 is as it should be; but before the age of 10 the preponderance of males begins to appear, and between the ages of 10 and 20 it becomes very manifest. Between 20 and 40 there are more than two men to every woman, and even between 40 and 60 the excess is very considerable. Only after the age of 60 do the migratory bread-winners disappear, and the equality of infancy is restored in old age."

5. Another important fact that becomes apparent from a comparison of the figures for 1881 with those for 1872 and 1876 is that the population of Calcutta is decreasing. The males are nearly twice as numerous as the females, and the birth-rate must therefore be at least one-third lower in proportion to total population than in a town where the sexes are in equilibrium. On the other hand the recorded death-rate is 30 per mille, and there is little room for doubt that the true rate is even higher. The balance is in some measure redressed by immigration; but there is reason to believe that the demand for labour from outside has not increased in the same proportion as the wealth of the town, and that the extension of machinery has effected a saving in the expenditure of human agency. Nor is the counteracting influence of emigration wholly absent. The equality in numbers of males and females over the age of 60 cannot be due to higher mortality among the former. By that time the work of the bread-winner is done, and he retires to his home in the mofussil. With these varied forces all at work, it is little matter for surprise that the population of Calcutta shows no signs of increase.

6. The number of houses in Calcutta on the night of the Census was 38,774, of which 18,107 were masonry buildings and 20,667 huts of mud or mat. Each inhabited house contained on an average upwards of 11 persons; each of the 77,513 families contained over 5 members; and the number of houses per acre was about 10. Of the total population, over 62 per cent. were Hindoos, 32 per cent. Mahomedans, and 4 per cent. Christians; while the remainder comprised Buddhists, Jews, Brahmos, Parsees, and others. Of the Hindoos, 36 per cent. of the males and 5 per cent. of the females can read and write; of the Mahomedans 16 per cent. and 1 per cent.; and of all other classes 77 per cent. and 63 per cent. respectively.

7. During the year under review the Commissioners suffered a severe loss in the death, while on furlough, of their Chairman, Mr. W. M. Souttar. By this sad event the Municipality was deprived of a zealous and judicious president, and the Government of a valuable officer, who had won the respect and confidence of all classes of the community. The office of Chairman has been well filled, since April 1881, by Mr. H. L. Harrison. The Commissioners held altogether 3 ordinary meetings, 4 quarterly meetings, 6 special meetings, and 12 special general meetings. The Town Council met 50 times during the year, the Budget Committee 15 times, the Tramway Committee 13 times, and other General Committees 29 times. There were also 43 meetings of Standing Committees and 34 meetings of miscellaneous and Sub-Committees. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that 14 of the elected and 2 of the nominated members attended more than 50 meetings during the year. The interest and industry shown by many of the elected Commissioners in the work of the town show that the claims of responsible office are becoming understood and appreciated.

8. Among the chief matters which engaged the attention of the Town Council during the year were its own constitution and mode of electing Members, the widening of the Chitpore Road, and the consequent negociations with the Tramways Company, the hours for depositing refuse in the streets, the construction of a storm-water outfall sewer, the opening by Government of a new road to the west of the Medical College Hospital, and the establishment of a tariff for the sale of fuel at burning-ghâts. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets that the negociations with the Tramways Company in connection with the widening of the Chitpore Road have not hitherto been successful, and he trusts that the Commissioners will not allow their attention to be turned away from this important question. The matter is one which touches closely the convenience of the inhabitants of one of the most crowded and important quarters of Calcutta, and will derive still greater prominence from the proposed erection of a Central Railway Station in the neighbourhood of Dalhousie Square.

9. At the instance of the Town Council, representations were made to Government by the Commissioners concerning some of the proposed amendments of the Calcutta Municipal Act IV (B.C.) of 1876, and in several instances their proposals were approved and adopted by the Legislative Council. In one instance, however, Government was unable to accede to the wishes of the Commissioners. By section 160 (a) of the new Act it is provided that "the Local Government may determine what portion, if any, of the environs of the town shall be included in the said system of water-supply, and may declare the boundaries thereof in the Calcutta Gazette; and for the purposes of the water-supply the land within such boundaries as aforesaid shall be deemed to be part of the town." The Commissioners objected to the proposal to withdraw from them the power to regulate the distribution of filtered water, and they also demurred to several matters of detail in the same connection. Government, however, was of opinion that where the interests of Calcutta and of the Suburbs were divergent, and even to some extent conflicting, the ultimate decision in a matter of such vital importance as the extension of the water-supply should no longer be left in the hands of one of the parties concerned. The section as originally drafted was therefore retained in the Bill, and eventually passed into law.

10. In the Resolution on the Report for 1880, the Lieutenant-Governor was compelled to remark upon the want of energy displayed by the Bustee Committee during that year, and it is therefore a matter for congratulation that a considerable increase of activity was displayed in 1881. The Committee held 15 meetings during the year, some of them at the bustees under improvement, and took into consideration the whole question of the improvement of bustees and the best method of utilizing the provisions of the Act for that purpose. A set of working rules was drawn up; classified registers were prepared showing the condition of every bustee in the town; rules were prescribed to regulate the building of new huts; and lastly (a most useful measure) powers were given to the Chairman to deal with bustees which were too small to admit of the elaborate procedure of sections 280—283 of the Act. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the works of bustee improvement actually carried out during the year were hardly commensurate with the preliminary operations of the Committee. The latter, however, have laid down a broad and well-defined programme of work; and the current year should show a larger amount of actual progress.

11. The condition of the municipal finances is satisfactory. After deducting the Sinking Fund, the net indebtedness of the Corporation to debenture-holders and Government, which on the 1st January 1881 stood at Rs. 1,27,75,937, was reduced during the year to Rs. 1,24,02,270. Part of the 6 per cent. debenture loan will become repayable in 1884; and, as it is probable that the Commissioners will be able to borrow at a lower rate, it is hoped that a saving in interest will then be effected. Partly owing to the delay in settling the preliminaries for the extension of the water-supply, and partly owing to the large balance at the credit of the Municipality, no loan was raised during the year. The amount expended from the balances on water-supply and drainage works amounted to Rs. 4,00,635 as shown below. The opening and closing balances of the Revenue Account, including value of stores in stock and advances, and deducting debts and deposits, were—

	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.

The opening balance of the year was thus reduced by Rs. 5,02,517. The excess of ordinary disbursements over receipts was almost entirely covered by certain exceptional charges, which, though representing real expenditure, are not likely to recur. Current income and expenditure are almost exactly in equilibrium.

12. The following statement shows the actual revenue of the Municipality in the year 1881 as compared with that of the previous year. The receipts of the Police-rate Fund, Jute and Fire-brigade Fund, and Hackney-carriage Fund are separately brought to account, and have therefore been excluded :—

	Head of account.	Receipts for 1880.	Receipts for 1881.
		Rs.	Rs.
1.	House-rate	10,96,640	9,96,496
2.	Taxes	3,90,779	4,19,148
3.	Fees	4,492	6,362

9.	New drainage fees	5,137	7,574
10.	Salt-Water Lake miscellaneous receipts	.....	27
11.	Night soil Department	2,94,880	2,44,158
12.	Slaughter-house receipts	41,149	38,916
13.	Market receipts	1,06,199	1,05,497
14.	Hospitals and vaccination fees ...	191	709
15.	Rents	25,439	26,437
16.	Sale of land	5,112	.....
17.	Miscellaneous	33,612	24,994
	Total General Fund ...	20,89,775	19,38,750
18.	Water-rate	4,10,492	3,80,050
19.	Miscellaneous	2,492	5,835
20.	Sale of water	75,756	78,884
	Total Water-rate Funds ...	4,88,740	4,64,769
21.	Lighting-rate receipts	2,48,607	2,46,831
	Total ...	28,27,122	26,50,350

Compared with 1880, the aggregate of the three Funds shows a falling off of Rs. 1,76,772; but this was entirely due to the reduction in the rates of taxation. In 1880 the house-rate was levied during the first quarter at 10 per cent., and during the remaining three quarters at 8 per cent; while during 1881 it was levied at 8 per cent. during the first quarter, and at 7½ per cent. during the rest of the year. There was also a reduction of ¼ per cent. in the water-rate, which was levied during the year at 3 per cent. The scale of night-soil fees was also largely reduced. The total decrease in the demand for 1881, as compared with 1880, due to the remission of taxation, was therefore—

	Rs.
House-rate	1,18,664
Night-soil fees	79,546
Water-rate	32,986
Total ...	2,31,196

while the total receipt of the year under these heads fell short of those of the previous year by only Rs. 1,73,571. This result is satisfactory as indicating "success in collections and a general elasticity in the revenue."

13. The ordinary expenditure of the Municipality under the various heads during the last two years was as follows :—

	Head of account.	Expenditure in 1880.	Expenditure in 1881.
		Rs.	Rs.
1.	Interest on loans	5,23,757	5,21,284
2.	Repayment of loans	1,91,245	1,93,875
3.	Establishments	1,93,756	1,93,414

19.	Interest	1,94,283	2,03,461
20.	Repayment of loans	83,597	90,669
21.	Establishment	75,806	81,569
22.	Cost of collection	6,239	5,744
23.	General expenditure ...	7,746	7,603
24.	Working charges of pumping-engines ...	84,021	98,175
25.	Sale of water and miscellaneous ...	20,368	25,650

26.	Lighting-rate Fund	2,50,079	2 38,721
	Grand Total ...	26,14,618	27,61,804

The original estimates provided for a total expenditure from the General Fund of Rs. 20,24,461, which was raised by subsequent additional budget grants, including a sum of Rs. 60,000 for the widening of the Chitpore Road, to Rs. 21,42,180. The actual expenditure amounted to only Rs. 19,62,127, falling short of the revised estimate by Rs. 1,80,053. The chief savings were made in the grants for roads, conservancy, and bustee improvements. The saving under Conservancy is real, being due to the cheapness during the year of fodder for cattle. The savings under the other two heads, however, were due to the programme of work not having been got through, and they are to be regretted. The failure to complete the bustee improvements that had been projected is, however, explained as being due to delay in the land acquisition proceedings.

14. The Water-rate Fund receipts, at a 3 per cent. rate, fall short of the expenditure by Rs. 48,102. It is desirable that this Fund should be as nearly as possible self-supporting ; the Commissioners have acted wisely in raising the rate to $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. for the current year. The police-rate, which is levied concurrently with the water and lighting rates, and falls on the same individual, and which now yields a considerable surplus over expenditure, has been reduced by $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. for the current year. The total amount to be paid by rate-payers for these three rates taken together will therefore be unchanged. The receipts of the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Fund amounted to Rs. 26,611, including a contribution of Rs. 3,890 from the old Fire-brigade Fund. The disbursements up to the 31st December amounted to Rs. 22,360 ; but as the jute year ends on the 31st March, the expenses of another quarter were debitable to the credit balance, without any further appreciable receipts The actual closing balance to the credit of the Fund on the 31st March amounted to only Rs. 39, and the Commissioners have agreed to make up from the General Fund any deficit that may occur in future years. The question, however, of readjusting the proportions in which the expenditure on the Fire-brigade is borne by Calcutta and by the Suburbs, is now under the consideration of Government.

15. The maximum rates leviable by law, and those actually levied during 1881, are thus compared in the Report :—

	Maximum.	Levied in 1881.
House-rate	10 per cent.	7½ per cent.
Water-rate	6 „	3 „
Lighting-rate	2 „	2 „
Police rate	3 „	2½ „
Total ...	21	15

The night-soil fees were also levied at a very low rate. Meanwhile the expenditure under the three revenue funds in 1881 exceeded the receipts by only Rs. 1,08,352, and this is almost exactly covered by the exceptional items of Rs. 60,000 granted for widening the Chitpore Road, and Rs. 48,086 written off as profit and loss of the Entally Workshops. While, therefore, the ordinary disbursements are practically in equilibrium with the ordinary receipts, the Commissioners have still a reserve of possible taxation which is estimated to produce not less than Rs. 7,50,000 per annum. The policy they have adopted in framing their Budget for the current year is to endeavour to keep the house-rate at its present limit of 7½ per cent., and to make as little change as possible in the aggregate of the three subsidiary rates for water, lighting, and police. This policy has the entire approval of the Lieutenant-Governor. Not only are frequent changes in the rates of municipal taxation—whether upwards or downwards—much to be deprecated; but it is peculiarly undesirable, in view of the numerous pressing wants of the town, to purchase a little temporary relief by unduly discounting the future. The work of bustee improvement and tank-filling is as yet only in its infancy. The extension of the water-supply, both filtered and unfiltered, the construction of a new storm-water outfall, the completion of the drainage system, and the extension of the Conservancy Department to parts of the town which it at present fails to reach—all are matters which must occupy the earnest attention of the Commissioners in the immediate future. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to be assured that the Commissioners "are well aware that true economy, especially in the administration of a large and flourishing city such as Calcutta, consists as much in wise and well-considered outlay as in reducing superfluous expenditure," and that "while steadily setting their faces, as heretofore, against all extravagance or waste, they hope to be able to carry out such improvements as will not only immediately and directly benefit the town, but will also in due time so increase the value of property as to enable it to bear the necessary burden of taxation more easily than it does now, as it already bears it more easily than it did in 1863, when the Corporation of the Justices was first constituted, even after taking into account the interest which it is paying on all its loans."

17. Some improvement has been effected in the working of the Warrant Department, but the arrears have not been cleared off to the extent that was anticipated, and very much still remains to be done. The outstandings on the 31st December 1880 amounted to Rs. 2,50,350, and by the end of the current year these had been reduced to Rs. 2,13,946. The value of bills made over to the Warrant Officer just before the close of the year amounted to only Rs. 53,721, and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Chairman in thinking that the balance of Rs. 1,60,225 is far higher than is satisfactory. It is explained that a large portion of these arrears accrued prior to 1878, when great confusion prevailed in the accounts, and is extremely difficult to deal with. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that more energetic action is called for on the part of the Superintendent. It is, however, satisfactory to notice that the increased promptitude shown by the Department in dealing with current work has brought about a marked reduction quarter by quarter in the number of bills transmitted by the Collector to the Warrant Officer:—

Transferred by Collector to Warrant Department at end of—	Number of bills.	Value.
		Rs.
1st quarter	14,366	44,737
2nd do.	13,306	41,968
3rd do.	12,295	38,389
4th do.	10,422	31,881

The experiment that has been introduced of allowing the assessor to make collections for himself, and so practically test the information given him that a particular bill is irrecoverable, is reported to have worked well; and the plan of keeping old and current arrears separate from each other will no doubt tend to promote clearness in the accounts and prevent further accumulations. It is very seldom necessary to have recourse to actual sale. There were 45,807 notices of demand issued in 1881, and 37,537 warrants were served; but in only 27 cases was it found necessary actually to sell the property of the defaulters.

18. The License Department was re-constituted in 1880, and now exercises control over the receipts from six heads—

	1880.	1881.
	Rs.	Rs.
1. Trades and profession licenses ...	2,42,263	2,65,997
2. Carriage and horse do. ...	1,08,143	1,03,823
3. Trade refuse fees	24,885	27,661
4. Cattle-shed registry	331	361
5. Cart registration fees (gross) ...	60 209	73,091
6. Hackney-carriage registration ...	17,491	16,726
Total ...	4,53,322	4,87,659

The receipts from trades and profession licenses in 1881 exceeded those for any previous year by more than Rs. 10,000. The number of such licenses granted was 26,295 against 27,759 in 1880. The number of Joint-Stock Companies rose from 178 to 185; and of merchants, agents, and wholesale dealers from 1,279 to 1,400. There were 205 practising barristers, attornies, and pleaders of the High Court, and 128 pleaders of the subordinate courts, and mukhtars. There were 13 Surgeons against 14 in the previous year; the number of practising licentiates of medicine, apothecaries, and veterinary surgeons rose at a bound from 112 to 223; while native doctors and kobirajes rose from 31 to 46. No less than 1,561 defaulters of previous years were brought to account in 1881. As might have been expected, the increased activity of the Municipality resulted in a large increase in the number of appeals against the assessments, there being 401 in 1881 against 84 in the previous year. Of the 401 appellants, 12 were exempted on enquiry, 216 were reduced to a lower class, and in 172 cases the original assessment was upheld. One case was pending at the close of the year. There was a decrease of 477 hackney-carriages, which is attributed to the competition of the Tramway.

There was a large increase in the number of carts registered during the year, the number rising from 15,042 in 1880 to 18,095 in 1881. The Hackney-carriage Fund, which had on 31st December 1881 a closing balance of Rs. 18,260, has been closed. The receipts will in future be treated as an asset of the Police Fund, and projects of expenditure involving the extinction of the existing balance have been sanctioned by the Commissioners.

19. A section of the Report has this year been devoted to the subject of litigation. The Municipality was engaged in 21 civil suits during the year, either as plaintiff or defendant. Of these 21 cases, 15 were decreed or compromised in favour of the Corporation, 1 was pending at the end of the year, and in 5 the Commissioners were unsuccessful. The criminal cases engaged in by the Municipality are said to have thrown an immense amount of work on the Divisional Overseers and License Inspectors. No less than 13,887 persons were prosecuted for various offences against the Municipal Act and bye-laws, of whom 4,096 were fined, 3,544 warned and discharged, and 556 dismissed. The fines imposed amounted to Rs. 16,815. In one case the Municipality were made defendants in a prosecution for causing a nuisance by filling a tank with sweepings. The decision of the Magistrate implied that the Commissioners had no right to create the smallest nuisance, even temporarily, by filling tanks with refuse, even though their object in so doing was permanently to put an end to a much more serious and dangerous nuisance. This ruling, if correct, is to be regretted, as it will throw great difficulties in the way of the Commissioners in carrying out sanitary improvements. It would be well to take legal opinion upon the matter.

20. Last year the Lieutenant-Governor was compelled to remark on the want of energy shown in carrying out town improvements. It was observed that little or no advance had been made in the important matters of drainage extension, road-making, tank-filling, and the opening out of bustees. During the past year all these matters have received the attention of the Commissioners to a greater or less extent, and the progress made, though still slow, is apparent in almost every direction. During the year new streets have been opened out to a lineal extent of 8,922 feet, or about a mile and three quarters; and an equal length of public ditches has been converted into metalled paths. In order to facilitate the process of widening thoroughfares, a list was prepared containing proposals for 83 distinct projects, arranged in 5 classes according to their relative importance and cost. Out of these, 31 projects, estimated to cost Rs. 18,779, received the sanction of the Commissioners, and were taken in hand during the year. Unfortunately, however, the progress actually made before the close of the year fell considerably short of this. Delay occurred in the land acquisition proceedings, and by the 31st December only Rs. 10,220 had been expended out of the sanctioned grant. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the Commissioners will be able to show much greater progress by the end of the current year.

21. The progress made in tank-filling is still small. This subject was specially pressed upon the notice of the Commissioners last year; and it was pointed out that their reluctance to spend the money of the rate-payers in improving the property of private individuals had been carried much further than was justifiable. During 1881, however, an important change was introduced in the law, which had the effect of obliterating the distinction between the tanks situated within, and those situated outside, private enclosures. By this change the difficulty hitherto felt by the Commissioners has been greatly lessened; and it is therefore disappointing to find that the sum devoted to this object in 1881 was very little higher than in 1880. In the past year the total cost of the operations was Rs. 4,945, of which Rs. 2,749 were recovered, the net cost to the Municipality being only Rs 2,196. It is stated in the Report that this compares very favourably with 1880, when only Rs. 366 out of Rs. 4,056 was recovered. What the Commissioners should look to, however, is not so much the proportion of gross outlay to be recovered from the owners of tanks. The essential point is the total amount of work done, and this is measured by gross, and not by net, expenditure. The Lieutenant-Governor is unable to regard a total outlay of less than Rs. 5,000 as adequate to the object in view. No action appears to have been taken upon the suggestion put forward in the Resolution on last year's Report, that the Municipality should, where necessary, take up tanks under the Act, fill them up, and then re-sell them. This plan has, however, been rendered less generally necessary by the change in the law referred to. In all, operations were begun upon 20 tanks during 1881, of which 14 only were completed by the end of the year. It appears that, according to the list prepared three years ago, there are no less than 534 tanks which might ultimately be filled up. Of these, only 34 have been hitherto taken in hand, leaving 500 still untouched. The Chairman remarks that the bustee register only shows 177 tanks, of which about one-tenth have been filled up, and that the bulk of the remainder are within private enclosures, and are in a much better condition than the bustee tanks. It is quite certain, however, that many of the latter are also the source of much unhealthiness, and while even the smaller number of public tanks remain untouched, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot consider the present rate of progress as satisfactory. He trusts that this matter will receive the serious consideration of the Commissioners during the coming year, in order that a state of things which is a reproach to a great city like Calcutta may be removed as soon as possible.

22. The increased activity shown by the Committee in the improvement of bustees has already been alluded to. Their labours, however, were chiefly confined to sketching out a programme for future guidance, and to providing for the inspection of those bustees which it was proposed to deal with first. In 1880 a general register of bustees had been prepared, from which it appeared that the town contained 486 bustees, all of which are more or less in need of improvement. Before the close of 1880, 9 bustees, forming the Soortee Bagan and Patwar Bagan blocks, had been medically inspected, and it is now reported that preliminary operations have been undertaken in four more blocks during 1881. The Soortee Bagan scheme was first brought before the Committee in September 1880, and final orders were not passed till the end of October 1881, or 13 months after the first orders were passed to have the bustee medically inspected. The delay in the case of the Patwar Bagan project has been even greater. Although the scheme was definitely decided upon in 1880, the bustee was not visited by the Committee till October 1881; and their recommendations were not approved by the Commissioners till January of the present year. It is stated that "the experience which the Commissioners have had of the working of sections 280 and 283 during the past year does not make them sanguine of being able to effect any very substantial improvement in the sanitary condition of bustees by this means. It is impossible to ignore the claims of private owners in the construction of roads through bustees; the road that is most needed by the owner of the parcel of land through which it passes will rarely coincide with the road that will most benefit the entire block, and it is manifestly unjust to make one owner sacrifice himself for the benefit of another. At every step the Bustee Committee finds its projected improvements hampered by the legitimate objections of the proprietors, so that such works as can be eventually insisted upon fall very far short of the ideal project as first planned." This difficulty is real, and the Lieutenant-Governor feels that large allowances must be made for a Committee working under such conditions. But he believes that much might be effected by more prompt and vigorous action on the part of individual members, and he sees no reason why recourse should not be more frequently had to the less cumbrous and dilatory procedure provided by the amended law. He will await with interest the report on the operations proposed for the improvement of the Jora Bagan block, which has been selected for acquisition by the Commissioners under the provisions of the new section 283 (a).

23. There was a still further falling off during 1881 in the daily supply of filtered water. The average daily supply decreased from 7,407,256 gallons to 7,208,453. This is to some extent attributable to the total cessation of the supply at Tallah for 37 hours consecutively, and partly to the choking of the filters in August and an accident to one of the engines at Wellington Square in September. The supply is admittedly very insufficient, while the demand is daily increasing. The matter is receiving the attention of the Commissioners, and various measures are in course of adoption. An independent main has been laid down between Wellington Square and Tallah, by which leakage and waste of water have been obviated to the extent of half a million gallons a day. Arrangements are also now in progress for making a large increase in the supply of unfiltered water, and these, when completed, will, it is expected, set free all the filtered water now used in watering the streets and at latrines and night soil depôts. The filtered supply which will thus be made available for ordinary household consumption is estimated at from 1,000,000 to 1,300,000 gallons daily, and will be sufficient to meet the growing wants of the town for the next 5 or 6 years. The total expenditure on the water-supply of the year amounted to Rs. 4,91,000, exclusive of the cost of making connections or the charge for the distribution of water to Barrackpore or the shipping. Interest on loans and repayments of principal amounted to Rs. 2,94,000. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets that no agreement has yet been come to with the Commissioners of the Suburban Municipality in regard to the extension of the water-supply.

24. The drainage system of the town is now approaching completion, and the Commissioners hope that by the end of the year 1883 the work will be brought to a conclusion. At the beginning of the year there remained 35 27 miles of pipes to be laid down. During the year 14·15 miles were completed, and only 21·12 miles now remain. The work of the past year compares very favourably with that of 1880. The total outlay amounted to Rs. 1,96,201 against Rs 1,37,351 in the previous year.

25. The weather of 1881 was normal, and the mean temperature of the year was 2·2° lower than the average of previous years. The prices of food were among the lowest of past years. Rice sold at from Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 1-14 per maund according to quality, and the price of butcher's meat was also lower than in 1880. The quality of provisions exposed for sale in the markets was systematically inspected, with the best results.

26. The number of births registered during the year was 7,458, which is practically the same as in 1880, and far exceeds the average for the past 10 years. The birth-rate per 1,000 of population according to the recent Census was 17·2. Dr. McLeod considers that the birth returns should be accepted with reserve. From a comparison between the birth and death returns for 1880, and the number of children under one year of age found alive in Calcutta on the 17th February 1881, it seems unfortunately clear that the registration of births is still very defective, and Mr. Beverley gives reasons for thinking that the true rate is about 24 per 1,000. Dr. McLeod, however, is inclined to believe that the recorded rate is not so far below the truth as a superficial comparison with European standards would indicate. The birth-rates of the different sections of the community were—

Christians		26·9	32 8
Asiatics ...	Hindoos	18	17·9
	Mahomedans	14·2	14·9
	Other classes	5·2	5

No distinction has been made in this year's figures between Non-Asiatics and Mixed Races. It was considered that the border line between the Eurasian and the European on the one hand, and the Eurasian and the native on the other, is so vague and ill-defined that it is impossible to expect either accuracy or conformity in the results of successive enumerations. In illustration of this uncertainty, it was pointed out that the relative proportions of Non-Asiatics and Mixed Races as recorded in 1876 had been absolutely inverted in the returns for 1881. The opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor on the classification proposed has been separately communicated to the Municipality. Mr. Rivers Thompson does not consider that the arguments adduced cover all the aspects of the question, and he has accordingly decided that for the present the existing practice shall remain unchanged.

27. The number of deaths recorded in the town during 1881 was 13,030, which is considerably in excess both of the mortality of 1880, and of the average of the past 10 years. The number of deaths from each of the main diseases during the last 5 years was—

Years.	Cholera.	Diarrhœa and Dysentery.	Fever.	Small-pox.	Other causes.	Total.	Rate per 1,000 of population.
1877	1,418	1,681	5,151	67	5,385	13,704	31·6
1878	1,318	2,010	6,086	1,495	5,467	16,396	37·8
1879	1,186	1,516	4,796	772	4,774	13,044	30·1
1880	803	1,267	6,707	114	5,608	14,681	26·9
Mean number ...	1,186	1,619	4,957	612	5,331	13,706	31·6
1881	1,093	1,491	3,765	133	5,948	13,030	30

The death-rates in the different wards of the town present the same wide variations as in former years, ranging from 4·6 in Waterloo Street and 8·9 in Burra Bazar, to 33 4 in Hastings. The main factor in the general increase of mortality was cholera, the deaths from which were higher than in any year since 1876. Fever on the other hand caused practically the same number of deaths as in 1880, and far fewer than the decennial average. This is the more surprising, because the mortality from this cause was exceptionally high in the neighbouring districts of Nuddea and Moorshedabad. The following statement shows the deaths per 1,000 of population at different periods of life in London and Calcutta :—

	Under one year	1—4	5—19.	20—39.	40—59.	60.	All ages.
London	179	43	5 1	8 6	22·1	82 7	23 1
Calcutta	428	62	17·5	18 5	22 6	59	30

The differences are chiefly in the earlier ages; and it is remarkable that over the age of 60 the advantage appears to be on the side of Calcutta. This is probably due to the removal elsewhere of the dangerously ill before death actually takes place. The number of deaths recorded in the Suburbs during the year was 11,143, which gives a death-rate per 1,000 of population of 44·3. The large excess of this over the rate for Calcutta is very remarkable, and indicates the necessity of extending to the Suburbs those advantages of drainage and water-supply which have done so much for the town.

28. The deaths recorded from "enteric and typhoid fever" during the year were 569, and would appear to indicate that this was a very prevalent disease in Calcutta. There is, however, reason for believing that many of these deaths were not really from typhoid at all, and were assigned to that cause from incorrect diagnosis. Only one death from bonâ fide typhoid is known to have occurred in the garrison of Fort William during the last seven years, though soldiers readily succumb to this disease in other stations. The experience of the hospitals shows that, since an accurate and reliable record has been maintained, genuine cases have been extremely rare, and Dr. McLeod expresses his opinion that "typhoid fever is not a formidable cause of sickness and mortality in Calcutta, and there is no reason whatever to suppose that the disease has arisen or increased in the town with the construction and development of an underground system of drainage and sewerage." Whatever the general merits of the Calcutta drainage system may be, it is admitted that the arrangements for flushing the sewers are defective; and it may be accepted that during the cold weather months, in the entire absence of any rainfall, evils might arise which demand a remedy. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to know that this subject, which created some excitement in Calcutta last year, has received the anxious attention of the Commissioners, and that with the increased supply of unfiltered water for flushing the drains, and with a better provision of cisterns in the case of house privies, the evils, if they have any connection with imperfect drainage, will be minimised.

29. The office of Chairman was held by Mr. W. M. Souttar from the beginning of the year till the 19th April 1881, when he was compelled to take furlough. Since that date the office has been held by Mr. H. L. Harrison. Mr. Turnbull and Dr. McLeod were respectively Secretary and Health Officer throughout the year. Mr. Kimber, Engineer to the Corporation, proceeded on 3 months' privilege leave in June 1881, and Mr. R. B. Buckley was appointed to officiate for him. The Commissioners have specially recorded their obligations to Mr. Buckley for the excellent services rendered by him during his short incumbency. The office of Vice-Chairman was held throughout the year by Babu Shama Churn Dey, whose efficient conduct of the multifarious duties of his post has been noticed on previous occasions.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

PENKNIVES AND CUTLERY OF INDIAN MANUFACTURE.

No. 952, dated Simla, the 9th May 1882.

From—R. E. HAMILTON, Esq., Officiating Assistant Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I AM directed to forward copy of the papers noted on the margin, and to request that, with the permission of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, enquiries may be made in regard to the manufacture of penknives and cutlery by Prem Chand Kurmokar, of Kanchannagore, in the Burdwan district, in view to ascertain whether he is likely to be able to manufacture penknives at moderate prices, and in sufficient quantity to meet the demands of Government. I am to request that the result of the enquiries may be communicated for the information of the Government of India.

Letter to the Chairman of the Calcutta Exhibition, Indian Museum, No. 1554, dated 15th March 1882.

Letter from the Secretary to the Calcutta Exhibition of Indian Art Manufactures, No. 1310, dated 26th April 1882.

No. 1554, dated Calcutta, the 15th March 1882.

From—W. C. FINK, Esq., Registrar, Department of Finance and Commerce,

To—The Chairman of the Calcutta Exhibition, Indian Museum.

A SPECIMEN penknife, said to have been manufactured by one Prem Chand Mistri of Kanchannagore, has been sent to this office for inspection, with the information that it was exhibited at the late exhibition held in the Indian Museum. If this information be correct, and if you have reason to believe that it is of genuine Indian manufacture, will you be so good as to give me the manufacturer's full address, and any other particulars you may have in your possession regarding the industry.

No. 1310, dated Calcutta, the 26th April 1882.

From—J. W. BROWNE, Esq, Secretary to the Calcutta Exhibition of Indian Art Manufactures,

To—The Registrar, Department of Finance and Commerce.

REFERRING to your letters Nos. 1554 and 520, dated the 25th March and 21st April respectively, addressed to the Chairman of this Exhibition, I am directed to inform you that some specimens of cutlery were sent from the Burdwan district, made by Prem Chand Kurmokar, of Kanchannagore, of that district. These articles have mostly been sold off at the time of the exhibition.

The statement furnished by the Collector of Burdwan describes the articles to be of genuine Indian manufacture, and no other information regarding this has been sent by the district officer.

For full particulars regarding the manufacture of the cutlery by Prem Chand Mistri of Kanchannagore, I would beg you to refer to the Magistrate of Burdwan, who would, no doubt, be able to supply them to you.

No. 801.

COPY, with a copy of enclosures, forwarded to the Superintendent of Stationery, with the request that he will be so good as to place himself in communication with the Collector of Burdwan, and report as to the probability of Prem Chand Kurmokar being able to manufacture penknives at moderate prices and in sufficient quantities to meet the demands of Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. S. BAYLEY,

Offg. Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA;
GENERAL DEPT.—Miscellaneous,
The 18th May 1882.

No. 1625, dated Calcutta, the 10th July 1882.

From—W. H. RYLAND, Esq., Officiating Superintendent of Stationery,
To—The Officiating Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Genl. Dept.

WITH reference to your docket No. 801, dated 18th May last, I have the honour to say that samples of knives, erasers, and scissors, from Prem Chand Kurmokar of Kanchannagore, have been obtained, and they appear to be good, and the prices are considerably below the English rates for the best cutlery as shewn in the accompanying statement. Whether Prem Chand can supply any large quantity of equal quality it is impossible for me yet to determine, but I propose to give him a small trial order for such articles as are likely to be required during the current official year, and will then report the result. I solicit the sanction of Government to my ordering 12 dozen of each of the articles specified on the margin at a cost of Rs. 157-8.

Penknives, single-bladed, clasp, 12 dozens.
Scissors, large, 12 dozens.
Penknives, single-bladed, desk, 12 dozens.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 12th August 1882

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date
	BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN. 1	Burdwan, Aug. 12 '82	0·06	Heavy showers in Cutwa and Raneegunge, little elsewhere. Prospects in Raneegunge and Cutwa somewhat improved, but heavy rain is required throughout the district. The aus and sugarcane crops are good. Health tolerable.
	Cutwa ...	3 46
	Culna ...	0·24
	Raneegunge ...	2·46
2	Bankoora „ 12 „	5·41	Weather—hot and cloudy. Prospects of crops continue fair. There were some heavy showers during the week in most parts of the district, but the cry for more rain is still rife in many places. The aus and tetko dhan are in the ear in some places. Public health good. Cholera prevailing in some places of the sub-division.
	Bishenpore ...	3 62
	Maliara ...	1·56
	Khatra ...	1 66
3	Beerbhoom, „ 12 „	1·16	Weather—hot for the time of year and too dry. A good fall of rain on the night of the 10th. The rice crops are generally bad. Want of rain has stopped transplanting and the rice seedlings have to a great extent perished. The aus will not realize more than a half crop Amun depends on rainfall in future. Public health fairly good.
4	Midnapore, „ 12 „	2 83	Weather—hot and cloudy. Want of rain is much felt in almost all parts of the district, except in the Contai sub division, where there has been good rain during the week which has done much good. Public health good.
5	Hooghly, „ 12 „	1·60	Weather—hot, with occasional showers Rain is very much wanted for both the amun and aus crops. Other crops doing well. General health good.
	Howrah, „ 14* „	1·96	Weather—fairly cool. More rain is wanted, but there is as yet not much to complain of.
	Oolooberiah ...	1·86
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN. 6	24-Pergunnahs. Aug 14* '82	1·27	Weather—hot and sultry. More rain wanted in every part of the district except in Bussirhat sub-division. The prospects of jute, early rice and sugarcane continue favourable. Transplanting of amun paddy has been retarded by scanty rainfall, but is now progressing favourably. Public health is generally good.
7	Nuddea, „ 12 „	1·41	Weather—sultry, cloudy and showery. The aus crop has suffered in many parts for want of rain. Rain wanted for the amun crop. Fever is slightly increasing.
	Kooshtea ...	2·69
	Meherpore ...	1 69
	Choondanga ...	0·95
	Ranaghat ...	2·45
	Bongong ...	2 98
8	Khoolna „ 12 „	4·21	Many heavy showers. Rice crops much benefited by the week's rain. Fever reported in Satkhira sub-division Public health elsewhere good.
9	Jessore, „ 12 „	2·02	Weather—unsettled, cool with high wind and heavy showers. The rain has greatly benefited the amun rice and removed all present apprehensions of a failure of that crop. The aus harvest has commenced with fair prospects. The manufacture of indigo continues, and good results are reported from the Magoorah sub-division.
	Jhenida ...	1·90
	Magoorah ...	4·40
	Narail ...	1·73
10	Moorshedabad, „ 12 „	2·87	Weather—very hot; occasionally cloudy and rainy. Prospects of crops much better owing to the late fall of rain, but more rain still wanted for transplanting amun. Aus is being cut. Except a little fever, public health fairly good.
RAJSHAHYE AND COOCH BEHAR DIVN. 11	Dinagepore, Aug. 11 '82	3·22	Weather—showery. Heat moderate. The rain has not been so abundant as it promised from time to time. The rain during the week has helped the transplanting of amun and prevented further loss of crops More rain is much wanted. Jute promises very well. Price of rice from 20 to 33 seers per rupee.
12	Rajshahye, „ 12 „	1·07	Weather—sultry and cloudy. Amun crop suffers much for want of rain. Public health indifferent. Price of rice rising.
	Nattore ..	2·34
13	Rungpore „ 12 „	2·27	Weather—cloudy, with light rain. Transplanting of amun has been resumed but more rain is wanted. Jute is being reaped. Public health good.
14	Bogra, „ 12 „	4 44	More or less rain fell on every day during the week, and the weather has become slightly cool. More rain is wanted for the amun rice crop; that which has fallen has been most beneficial as regards the transplanting of the amun rice. Aus and jute are being reaped. Sugarcane promises well. Health generally good. A few cases of fever, however, reported from Bogra, Sherpur, and Shariyakandi police stations.
15	Pubna, „ 12 „	1·75	The rain which has fallen, and is falling, will be beneficial. Fresh south-east wind with clouds. Prospects much improved by rain and the rise of the rivers.
	Serajgunge ...	2·17
16	Darjeeling, „ 12 „	12·7	Constant and heavy rain during the week throughout the district. In the Tera the rain has come late for the transplanting of the haimanti paddy, and the outturn of the crop is not expected to be more than half that of last year.
17	Julpigoree, „ 12 „	16·17	Weather—seasonable. State and prospects of crops good. Transplanting of haimanti rice is going on, though somewhat late in the season.
	Cooch Behar, „ 10 „	7·03	Weather—close and hot; at first rainy and cool latterly Rain has again set in and the prospec s of late rice have consequently improved. Cutting of early rice still going on. Jute doing well. Public health good. Rice selling at Rs. 2-4 per maund.
	Dinhatta ...	5·87
	Mathabhanga	5·26
	Meckligunge ...	2·55

* For week ending 13th instant.

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL—contd.
Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN. 18	Dacca, Aug. 12 '82	4·40	Weather—showery. Mischief done to jute and rice by want of water. Cholera better.
	Manickgunge ...	4 11
	Munshigunge ...	6 67
19	Furreedpore „ 12 „	2·31	Weather—seasonable, but much more rain is wanted. The rivers are still low. Aus is being cut, with fair outturn, and the prospects of amun are still fair, having been helped by the late rain. Jute is being manufactured and the results are good. Sugarcane is doing well Public health generally good, except at Madaripore, where a few cases of cholera have occurred.
	Goalundo ...	4 68
	Madaripore ...	7·85
20	Backergunge, Aug. 10 „	5·92	Weather—rainy. Aus crop is being reaped in parts of the district. Amun crop is being transplanted. Prospects of crops good as a rule. Fever prevalent. Mortality from cattle-disease somewhat less
21	Mymensingh, „ 11 „	2·72	Weather—seasonable. Rain has fallen in all parts of the district, but more is wanted to save the crops on the high lands. Public health good.
CHITTAGONG DIVN. 22	Chittagong Aug. 15 '82	3·13	Weather—seasonable. Prospects of crops fair. Cultivation of amun continues. Prices steady. Cholera, small-pox and cattle-disease still prevail,
23	Noakholly, „ 10 „	13·31	Weather—cloudy and rainy since the latter end of the week. The aus crop being harvested; cutturn not bad. The transplanting of amun rice is being vigorously carried on. The late rain has done much good.
24	Tipperah „ 11 „	12 30	Weather—rainy. Prospects of crops much improved by this week's rain, but more is still wanted in the north of the district
	Brahmunbaria ..	3·89
	Chandpore ..	6·75
25	Chittagong Hill Tracts. „ 8 „	3·16	Weather—hot, with occasional showers More rain wanted. Both the joom and plough paddy suffering. Cotton and sugarcane doing well.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 9 „	3·22	Weather—occasionally rainy. More rain yet wanted. Aus paddy begun to be reaped Amun paddy is being transplanted. Prospects of sugarcane good. Public health good.
BEHAR
PATNA DIVN. 26	Patna. Aug 12 '82	6·57	Weather—hot and sultry up to 10th. Prospects of bhadoi favourable. Transplanting of rice seedlings going on in low lands. The rain of the last few days has been very acceptable and as more seems likely to fall the paddy for the present may be considered safe. Makai promises a good harvest. More rain is wanted. Cholera has not yet disappeared from the Barh and Behar subdivisions
	Barh ...	1·95
	Behar ..	1·65
27	Gya. „ 12 „	2 94	Weather—cloudy. The recent rain has proved beneficial, and transplanting of paddy is going on. More rain is wanted. Prospects of bhadoi favourable. Cholera reported from several stations.
	Nowada ...	2·19
	Aurungabad .	2·28
	Jehanabad ..	4·86
28	Shahabad, „ 12 „	2·40	Weather—seasonable. General rain throughout the district, which has improved the prospects of the crops on the ground and has enabled the transplanting of rice seedlings generally. Cholera less severe.
	Buxar ...	3 80
	Sasseram ..	3·51
	Bhabuah ..	7·95
29	Durbhunga, „ 12 „	11·78	Very heavy rain, especially in the north. Rivers in high flood. The rain that has come is of the greatest possible advantage to everything—bhadoi and late rice. The flood at this time will also do much good. Cholera has not quite disappeared. Prices stationary,
30	Muzufferpore „ 12 „	6 84	Weather—cloudy and rainy. Steady soaking rain fell on each day of the week. Bhadoi crops are much improved and transplanting of rice seedlings has been resumed.
	Hajeepore ...	3·13
	Seetamurhee ...	5·36
31	Sarun, „ 12 „	1 10	Weather—hot in the beginning of the week; cloudy with light showers since the 11th. The prospects of bhadoi crops have been improved by the late rain which, though not steady, has been general throughout the district Transplanting of paddy has been resumed, but more rain still wanted. General prospects better than they were last week. Manufacture of indigo (first cuttings) has been completed with average results. Cholera and small-pox still reported. It is expected that the late rain will cause a fall in the prices of food-grains
	Sewan ..	2·00
	Gopalgunge .	3 56
32	Chumparun, „ 12 „	6·24	Weather—cloudy, with heavy showers. The rainfall during the week has done much good to the bhadoi crops and has been quite sufficient for transplanting paddy. Some cases of cholera and fever reported.
BHAGULPORE DIVN. 33	Monghyr. Aug. 12 '82	6 00	Weather—cloudy; less sultry. Prospects of crops improved in consequence of the fall of rain. Public health good.
	Begusarai ...	3 35
	Jamui .	4·05
34	Bhagulpore „ 12 „	4 04	Weather—cloudy and cool. Moderate rainfall. The prospects of the autumn crops are good generally. The rain has done much good to the young seedlings of the winter rice crop. Very heavy flood of the Koosy river reported
35	Purneah. „ 12 „	11·20	Weather—wet in beginning of week, now showery. Prospects of crops very much improved. Transplanting progressing vigorously. Health fair.
	Kissengunge ...	8·04
	Arrareah ...	11·14
36	Maldah, „ 12 „	1·25	Weather—very hot and bright. Rain on three days of the week. The reaping of the bhadoi paddy has begun. A ten or eleven-anna crop is expected. The recent rain has done some good, but more rain is urgently wanted for the transplanting of the late rice. Prices of food-grains have fallen a little. Two cases of cholera occurred at Englishbazar station. Fever is prevalent in old Maldah thana, otherwise general health fair.
37	Southal Perghs, „ 12 '82	2·56	Weather—hot, with showers. Prospects of crops improved since last report, but more rain is wanted. Cholera continues.
	Deoghur ...	1·78
	Godda ...	3·75
	Rajmehal ...	4·24
	Jamtara ...	4 30
	Pakour ...	0·58

	No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
ORISSA.
Orissa Divn.	38	Cuttack, Aug. 11 „	2·30	Weather—cloudy, with occasional sunshine and rain. Beali rice in ear. Sarad rice is still being reploughed. Rivers have gone down. Common rice selling at from 21 to 28 seers per rupee. Cholera still reported.
	39	Pooree, ...	...	Report not received.
	40	Balasore, „ 11 „	4·09	Weather—cloudy, with frequent rain. Transplanting and weeding operations going on. State of crops good. Cattle-disease reported from some parts of the district. General health good.
CHOTA NAGPORE. South-West Frontier Agency.
	41	Hazaribagh, Aug. 11 '82	2·33	Weather—hot and close. Prospects of bhadoi crops continue good. Transplanting of paddy continues, but more rain wanted. Cases of cholera and small-pox still reported from certain thanas, but general health good.
	42	Lohardugga, „ 12 „	3·20	Weather—seasonable. Prospects favourable both at head-quarters and in Palamow. The week has closed in with plentiful rain. Fever still reported, and a few cases of small-pox as usual; otherwise public health good.
	43	Singbhoom, „ 11 „	1·81	Weather—very sultry. Occasional showers of rain succeeded by long intervals of sunny weather. Prospects continue very favourable. No fresh cases of cholera reported. Small-pox on the increase.
	44	Manbhoom, „ 12 „	1·83	Weather—unseasonably dry. Indian-corn and other autumn crops promise well.
		Govindpore ...	1·82	More rain wanted for transplanting rice. Cholera, small-pox, cattle-disease and fever reported from some places.

Published for general information.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1·05° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

[Third Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 5th August 1882.—The following arrangements for weather signals for the approaches to the Port of Calcutta, and for the port itself, have been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor and are published for general information, in supersession of those published in the notification, dated the 20th November 1874, at pages 1763-64 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 9th December 1874.

Weather Signals for the approaches to the Port of Calcutta.

1. When a severe cyclonic storm (probably accompanied by a storm-wave) is believed to be advancing to the Bengal coast and across Bengal, one or other of the following signals will be hoisted at the flag-staff near the Light-house in Saugor Island, at Mud Point, and at the flag-staff near the telegraph office, Diamond Harbour, on receipt of instructions telegraphed by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal:—

Day signal No. 1, bad weather signal.

A ball indicates the existence of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude in the Bay of Bengal, which will either certainly cross the coast to the south of a line between Chittagong and False Point, or which may approach the Bengal coast, but is as yet too far distant to enable its line of advance to be determined.

Day signal No. 2, danger signal.

A cone indicates the early probable passage northward and to the eastward of Saugor Island and west of Chittagong, of the vortex of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude. It is advisable that no sailing vessels, with or without steam, should put out to sea, or that deep-laden or slow steaming steam-vessels should go to sea. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably haul from north-east through north to north-west, &c.

Day signal No. 3, danger signal.

An inverted cone indicates the early probable passage northward and to the westward of Saugor Island and north of False Point, of the vortex of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude. No vessels should go to sea, and masters and pilots of vessels outward-bound, guided by the weather tokens and height of the barometer, should use their discretion in proceeding below Diamond Harbour or Mud Point. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably veer from north-east through east to south-east, &c.

Day signal No. 4, great danger signal.

A drum indicates the approach of a cyclonic storm of great intensity and magnitude to the mouth of the Hooghly. Masters and pilots in charge of vessels are cautioned not to put to sea from Saugor Island, or to proceed down from Diamond Harbour, and they should make their vessels as snug and secure as possible.

2. When a small cyclonic storm (usually not accompanied by a storm-wave) is believed to have formed in the Bay, and to be advancing towards the coast, one or other of the following signals will be hoisted, for the information of pilots and mariners, at the staff near the light-house at Saugor Island, at the flagstaff at Mud Point, and at the flagstaff near the telegraph office, Diamond Harbour, on the receipt of instructions telegraphed from the Meteorological office, Calcutta, by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal:—

Day signal No. 5, bad weather signal.

Two cones, the upper one inverted, indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm of small extent in the Bay of Bengal, which will probably reach and cross the coast of the Bay south of a line joining Chittagong and False Point.

Day signal No. 6, warning signal.

Two cones, the lower one inverted, indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm of small extent, which will probably or certainly reach and cross the coast or the Bay north of a line joining Chittagong and False Point, but the probable path of the vortex of which cannot be determined from the land observations.

Day signal No. 7, warning signal.

A ball below a cone indicates the probable passage northwards and to the eastward of Saugor Island and west of Chittagong of a cyclonic storm of small extent and intensity, of the kind which usually forms in the rainy season. Vessels may proceed to sea if the height of the barometer, state of the sea and weather are such as to lead masters and pilots to infer that there is no danger. The wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably haul from north-east through north to north-west, &c.

Day signal No. 8, warning signal.

A ball below an inverted cone indicates the probable passage northwards and to the westwards of Saugor Island and north of False Point, of a cyclonic storm of small extent and intensity, of the kind which usually forms in the rainy season. As the wind at the mouth of the Hooghly will probably veer from north-east through east to south-east, &c., and as consequesntly there will be a heavy swell and strong westerly set in the channel at the Sandheads, it is advisable that only fast steamers in light trim should put to sea, if the weather appearances and state of the sea, &c., admit of it.

Day signal No. 9, danger signal.

A ball below a drum indicates the approach towards Saugor roads of a cyclonic vortex of small extent, of the kind which forms during the rainy season. It is advisable that no vessel other than fast steamers in light trim should put to sea until the wind, direction and force, state of weather and sea, and rise of the barometer, indicate that the storm has either broken up or passed inland. Cyclonic storms of small extent sometimes blow fiercely and raise a high sea near their centres.

3. The following storm warning signals will be hoisted during the prevalence of cyclonic storms in the Bay of Bengal at the signalling stations on the Hooghly previously mentioned, viz. Saugor Island, Mud Point, and Diamond Harbour, between sunset and sun-rise :—

Night signal No. 1, warning or caution signal.

Three lights exhibited on the flagstaff at equal distances indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm in the north of the Bay.

Night signal No. 2, danger signal.

Two lights, in a vertical line, indicate the early approach of a cyclonic storm to the Bengal coast.

4. Signals for the Port of Calcutta.—Storm signals will be only used within the limits of the Port of Calcutta to give notice to the shipping and general public of the early approach of a severe cyclone with its attendant storm-wave. The following are the storm-signals which will be used within the limits of the Port. They will be hoisted on the flagstaff upon the Port Commissioners' office, on the yardarm of the flagstaff near the Government Dockyard, Kidderpore, and on the flagstaff at Seebpore, on the receipt of instructions from the Meteorological office :—

1 Day warning signal.

A Ball indicates that a severe cyclone, of which the centre is in the neighbourhood of Saugor Island, is advancing towards the mouth of the Hooghly, and will probably advance towards Calcutta.

2 Day danger signal.

A Drum indicates that a severe cyclone with its attendant storm-wave is approaching Calcutta.

3 Night warning signal.

Three lights in a vertical plane indicate that a severe cyclone, of which the centre is in the neighbourhood of Saugor Island, is advancing towards the mouth of the Hooghly, and will probably advance towards Calcutta.

4 Night danger signal.

Two lights in a vertical line indicate the early approach of a severe cyclonic storm and its attendant storm-wave to the Port of Calcutta.

EDUCATIONAL NOTICES.

Text-books in Vernacular Medical Schools.

In the Resolution of the Government of Bengal, dated 13th December 1880, on the subject of text-books in vernacular medical schools, it was notified that Urdu text-books in Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence were required; and it was announced that measures would be taken to procure, by public competition, translations of approved text-books in those subjects. In accordance with the orders quoted, the public were invited, on the 1st June 1881, to submit specimen translations of selected passages. No satisfactory translations having been received, persons desirous of entering into the competition in any subject are now again invited to submit specimen translations of one of the following series of extracts:—

(a) Roberts' Hand-book of Medicine (4th ed., 1880). The following passages to be translated into Urdu:—

Vol. I., pp. 345 to 365: "Physical Examination of the Chest." To be condensed in translation.

Vol. II., pp. 156 to 163: "Dysentery." A comprehensive resumé to be given of the most approved methods of the treatment of dysentery in India.

(b) Playfair's Midwifery (2nd ed., 1878). The following passages to be translated into Urdu:—

Vol. I., pp. 306 to 322: "Mechanism of delivery in Head Presentations." To be condensed.

Vol. II., pp. 155 to 173: "Turning." To be condensed.

Vol. II., pp. 281 to 293. "Puerperal Eclampsia." To be condensed.

(c) Kanai Lal Dey's Medical Judisprudence. The following passage to be translated into Urdu:—

Pages 314 to 329; "Poisons."

2. Those passages which are to be condensed in translation should be reduced to about one-third of their original length.

3. The specimen translations should be submitted not later than the 1st January 1883, to Dr. R. C. Chandra, Professor, Medical College, the President of the Committee of Selection. Four printed copies of each translation should be sent for the use of the members of the Committee. Manuscript translations will not be received.

4. Each of the translators selected by the Committee will be required to finish, within a time to be hereafter fixed, the translation of the work which he has undertaken; and if he completes it to the satisfaction of the Committee, a reward of Rs. 500 will be paid him, and his translation will be adopted as a text-book. All the profits of sale will be left to the translator, but the selling price of each work will be settled beforehand in communication with the translator, and in consideration of the cost of production.

A. W. CROFT, Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

Dated Calcutta, the 18th August 1882.

In accordance with the resolution of Government, dated 21st August 1880, two agricultural scholarships of the annual value of £200 each, tenable for two years and a half at the Royal Agricultural College, Cirencester, will be awarded for the session of 1883.

An allowance of Rs. 1,000 will be made to each scholarship-holder for his journey to England, and a similar allowance for the return journey on the completion of his course.

Only natives of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, who have passed the B. A. examination on the physical side will be eligible.

Applications will be received by the undersigned up to the 30th September next.

A. W. CROFT, Director of Public Instruction.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that two scholarships of the value of Rs. 5 or Rs. 10 each per mensem for the encouragement of Vaidik study, payable from the interest of certain 4 per cent. Government securities for (Rs. 3,000) three thousand, assigned by the undersigned for the purpose in the year 1874, and now deposited in the Bank of Bengal, are at present vacant. The successful candidates will receive the scholarships while studying the Vedas at Benares, or at a like place, and translating them into Bengali as they are taught. The assignment was made, and the scholarships were created, in memory of the recovery from illness of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and the celebration of the marriage of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh to the daughter of the Emperor of Russia. Applications for the scholarships may be sent to the undersigned until the 30th October 1882, together with testimonials regarding applicants' knowledge in Sanskrit grammar. Those who can produce reliable certificates from distinguished pundits will have preference. No one who is not a native of Bengal need apply.

NOTIFICATIONS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE.

No. 854B.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated Calcutta, the 4th August 1882.

UNDER the provisions of section 164 of Act VIII of 1878, the Chief Customs Authority of the Presidency has authorized the introduction of the subjoined form of pass and bond for coasting steamers sailing under general passes:—

GENERAL PASS.

THIS general pass is granted to the Agents of the to enable them to ply the steam-ship Captain of tons burthen, official number , under the provisions of section 164, Act VIII of 1878, on the conditions hereinafter specified, but subject to all local laws, rules, and regulations in force for the time being at any of the ports mentioned herein.

2. This pass permits the discharge and receipt in of cargo brought from or shipped for any of the following ports, viz., all customs and foreign ports in India, and all ports in Burma, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ceylon, and the Straits Settlements, on the conditions hereinafter provided.

3. In this pass, and in the cargo-book and other documents prescribed thereby, the words "dutiable cargo (or goods)" shall include—

(1) All goods received on board at foreign ports;

(2) All goods from foreign ports which have been transhipped at customs ports;

(3) Goods liable to excise duty; bonded goods under removal from one customs port to another; and all other goods which are required to be sent to the Custom-House; and the words "free cargo (or goods)" shall include such goods only as are brought from customs ports, and do not come under the head of "dutiable cargo (or goods)," as defined above.

CONDITIONS.

IMPORT.

(a.)—A cargo-book in the form marked Q (herewith annexed) is to be kept on board the steamer, showing distinctly and separately the goods brought from each customs and foreign port, and distinguishing clearly, in the case of goods from customs ports, between "free" and "dutiable" goods, and the Master shall deliver to the Customs Officer, chuprassi or peon who boards the vessel at the boarding station a duly authenticated extract from the cargo-book (in the form annexed and marked R), showing all cargo brought from foreign ports, transhipped at customs ports, or otherwise "dutiable" as defined above.

(b.)—On the arrival of the steamer from customs ports only, without having touched at any foreign port, the discharge of all "free" cargo is hereby permitted immediately after arrival by day or night before entry of the vessel at the Custom-House, without the goods being previously entered for home consumption, and without the direct supervision of Customs Officers.

A boat-note in the annexed form S is to be given by the ship's officers with every separate boat-load to the manji in charge.

All "dutiable" cargo is to be retained on board until notice has been given at the Custom-House by the agents of its arrival, and a Customs Officer, chupprasi, or peon has received charge of it for conveyance to the Custom-House under the written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

(c)—A duly authenticated copy of the cargo-book referred to in clause (a), together with all passes granted at the various ports of lading, duly endorsed with the date of receipt and quantity received, shall be furnished to the proper Officer of Customs within 24 hours after arrival within the limits of the port. Goods for which passes are not so delivered to the Customs Officer are to be retained by the agents in their godowns or other place appointed by the proper Officer of Customs until an import Custom-House pass in proper form has been granted for them.

(d.)—On arrival of the steamer, after having touched at any foreign port, in addition to customs port or ports, the discharge of "free" cargo from customs ports may be proceeded with as prescribed in condition (b), but no cargo from any foreign port, and no cargo from any customs port, which was transhipped from a foreign port, or is otherwise "dutiable," as defined above, shall be discharged until the agents have given notice at the Customs-House of its arrival, and Customs Officers, chupprasis, or peons have received charge of it for conveyance to the Custom-House under written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

(f.)—The inward entry of the steamer shall be made within 24 hours after her arrival within the limits of the port, as declared under clause (b), section 11, Act VIII of 1878.

EXPORT.

(g.)—After the steamer's arrival within the limits of the port, cargo for exportation may be received on board without the direct supervision of Customs Officers at any time of the day or night, but no cargo shall be so received unless it is protected by a pass granted by the proper Officer of Customs. Provided, however, that in those ports in which owing to the distance of the Custom-House from the place of shipment or the place of anchorage of the vessel, it is not possible to take out a shipping bill before actual shipment, the ship's agent shall deliver to the proper Officer of Customs, within five days of the date of departure of the vessel, in the form of the cargo-book, a separate account, in form V, of the cargo for each port of destination (supported, if required, by the mate's receipts). The said Officer of Customs will immediately forward this form by post to the Collector of Customs at the port of destination.

(h.)—A cargo-book (in the form annexed and marked Q) shall be kept on board, and in it shall be entered full particulars, as required by the form, of all goods received on board, showing separately and distinctly the ports for which they are shipped.

(i.)—A copy of the cargo-book prescribed in clause (h), countersigned by the agents of the Company, shall be delivered to the proper Officer of Customs within five clear working days after the vessel's departure from each customs port. Such copy to be in the form of separate cargo lists for each and every customs and foreign ports for which cargo has been shipped. The conditions of clause (i) will be dispensed with in ports to which the last part of condition (g) applies, the original accounts of cargo shipped being there taken as the copy of cargo-book.

STORES.

(j)—No stores are to be landed, transhipped, unladen, shipped, or water-borne for shipment without the written authority of the proper Officer of Customs.

GENERAL.

(k)—This pass is to remain in force for six months from this date, unless previously revoked by notice in writing delivered in accordance with the provisions of section 164, Act VIII of 1878, and either the pass or the cargo-books before referred to are to be produced on requisition by any duly authorized Officer of Customs. This pass will be held to be cancelled should the vessel ply directly between a customs port and any of the foreign ports specified therein, or proceed to any other foreign port, and a new pass must be obtained on her return to the coasting trade before she can ply under the conditions of the general pass.

FORM OF BOND.

are held and firmly bound to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council in the sum of Rs. to be paid to the said Secretary of State for India in Council, or to his certain attorney, successors, or assigns for which payment to be well and truly made the said bind themselves, and their successors, and every of them, firmly by the presents. Dated this day of 188 A. D.

WHEREAS the above bounden have applied to the Collector of Customs at Calcutta for, and obtained, a general pass for the lading and clearance, and for the entry and unlading, of their steamers, under section 164 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878, the particulars and conditions of which pass are set out in the schedule hereto [and have also deposited with the said Secretary of State the sum of Rs. as security for the fulfilment of the conditions of this bond].* Now the condition of this bond is that—

(1.) If the said , their servants, and employés, shall observe and perform all the conditions of the said pass, and

(2.) If the said shall and will, on requisition, pay to the Collector of Customs, , for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State, his successors, and assigns, any duty or penalty erroneously short levied, or that shall not have been levied in consequence of incorrect entries in, or omissions from, cargo-books referred to in the said pass, or the copies thereof furnished to the office of the Collector or customs , and

(3.) If the said shall and will, on requisition, repay to the said Collector of Customs, any sum erroneously paid as refund or drawback in consequence of incorrect entries in, or omission from, the said cargo-books, or copies thereof furnished to the office of the Collector of Customs, , and

(4.) If the said shall, on requisition, produce to the Collector of Customs, , within one month after each and every steamer leaves any foreign port, a certificate in the form annexed and marked T from the Chief Customs Officer of such port, showing all goods shipped there, together with the marks, numbers, description, and contents of the packages;

(5.) And if the said shall, on requisition, produce to the Collector of Customs, , or such person as he shall in writing appoint in that behalf, within one month of arrival of each and every steamer at any foreign port, a certificate in the form annexed, and marked U, from the Chief Customs Officer at such port, showing all goods discharged therefrom , and giving full particulars of marks, numbers, description, and contents of the packages;

(6.) And if the said shall pay to the Collector of Customs before the departure of each and every steamer or vessel all light dues claimed by the said Collector (or Collectors) of Customs;

(7.) And if the said shall take due and proper care that goods are neither landed nor shipped to the detriment of the revenue, and that prohibited goods are not knowingly carried in contravention of the Customs, Arms, or Opium Acts;

(8.) And if the said shall pay to the said Collector of Customs, , immediately on application, any penalty (not exceeding Rs. 1,000) which may be adjudged against the said Company by the said Collector of Customs for a breach of any of the conditions of the said bond or of the said pass;

Then this obligation shall be void, otherwise, and on breach or failure in the performance of all or any, or any part of, the aforesaid conditions, or of the terms and conditions of the said pass, (the* said deposit of Rs. shall be at once forfeited, and) the said bond or obligation shall remain in full force.

*NOTE.—The words within brackets are to be inserted in those cases only in which the Collector of Customs has good reason to believe that the bond itself does not afford sufficient security.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the Gazette of India.]

The following order, issued by the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce, is republished for general information :—

Simla, the 28th July 1882.

No. 2715.—The following Declaration between the British and Russian Governments, signed at London on the 9th of June 1882, on the subject of tonnage measurement of vessels, is published for general information :—

The English system of tonnage measurement (Moorsom's system) being henceforward in force as well in the Empire of Russia and the Grand Duchy of Finland as in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and in the British Colonies, the Government of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the Government of His Majesty the Emperor of All the Russias, have agreed to the following Declaration :—

1. Russian and Finland vessels measured according to the abovementioned system shall be admitted into the ports of the United Kingdom and its Colonies; and British vessels measured according to the same system shall be admitted into the ports of Russia or Finland without being subjected, for the purpose of payment of navigation dues, to any fresh operation of measurement.

The navigation dues above mentioned shall be calculated on the net tonnage.

2. The Finland and English Regulations respecting tonnage measurement being substantially the same, English certificates of tonnage measurement shall in the Grand Duchy of Finland, and Finland certificates of tonnage measurement, taken out after the 31st May 1877, shall, in the United Kingdom and its Colonies, be recognized, without any operation of measurement or other formality whatsoever; and the net tonnage of all British or Finland ships inscribed on the ship's papers shall be considered in the respective ports of each country as equivalent to the net register tonnage of national vessels.

3. English certificates of tonnage measurement shall in Russia, and Russian certificates of tonnage measurement, taken out after the $\frac{\text{20th December 1879}}{\text{1st January 1880}}$, shall, in the United Kingdom and its Colonies, be likewise reciprocally recognised in the ports of each country without any operation of measurement.

As, however, the provisions of the Russian Regulation do not entirely correspond to the English Regulations relative to the mode to be followed in the determination of crew spaces in ships, and machine and coal spaces in steamers, the deductions in respect of these shall, for English vessels in Russian ports, be calculated according to the figures shown in the certificates of tonnage measurement, in conformity with the Regulation sanctioned the $\frac{\text{20th December 1879}}{\text{the 1st January 1880}}$ without remeasurement of the vessel.

This measure shall be applicable in British ports to Russian vessels touching there if the captains of the said vessels shall express a desire to that effect; and, in such case, the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act of the 10th August 1854 shall be complied with.

4. The abovementioned arrangements shall apply also to vessels propelled by any other artificial power than steam.

The present Declaration shall come into operation on the $\frac{\text{1st}}{\text{13th}}$ July 1882, and shall remain in force so long as one of the Contracting Parties shall not have notified to the other six months in advance its intention of terminating it.

In witness whereof the undersigned, duly authorized for this purpose, have signed the present Declaration, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

Done, in duplicate, at London, the $\frac{\text{28th day of May}}{\text{9th day of June}}$ 1882.

[N.B.—Advertisements, Notices, &c., intended for insertion in this part of the Gazette, cannot be received after Noon on Monday.]

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estate, situate in the district of Furreedpore, will be put up to sale at the Furreedpore Collectorate on the 28th September 1882, corresponding with 13th Ashin 1289 B.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale.

Conditions of Sale.

1*st*.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2*nd*.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force: and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators, who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3*rd*.—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th*.—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

BENGAL CIVIL FUND.

At an adjourned Half-yearly General Meeting of Subscribers to the Bengal Civil Fund held at the Town Hall on Monday, the 7th August 1882, at 10-30 A.M.

PRESENT:—The Hon'ble L. R. Tottenham; the Hon'ble A. T. Maclean; the Hon'ble T. T. Allen; C. C. Stevens, Esq.; A. C. Brett, Esq.; D. R. Lyall, Esq.; J. Westland, Esq.; W. H. Grimley, Esq.; H. J. S. Cotton, Esq.; C. A. Wilkins, Esq.; J. A. Bourdillon, Esq; A. W. Paul, Esq.; and C. S. Bayley, Esq.

D. R. Lyall, Esq., in the Chair.

THE following report was submitted by the managers:—

REPORT.

1. The Managers submit the proceedings for the past half year for the consideration and sanction of the meeting.

2. Subject to the approval of the subscribers, they have admitted to the benefits of the Fund the following families:—

Mrs. Richardson	300
Eight children	820
Total ...	1,120

The widow and eight children of the late Mr. H. C. Richardson, who died at Edinburgh on the 13th March 1882.

Lady Erskine	300

The widow of the late Lord Erskine, who died at Torquay on the 25th March 1882.

The posthumous son of the late Mr. C. F. Magrath, admitted from date of birth, viz., 14th April last, in addition to the widow who was admitted by the last meeting from the date of Mr. Magrath's decease, viz., 13th October 1881.

Mr. Magrath's posthumous son ...	80

Mrs. Farquharson	300
Ten children	950
Total ...	1,250

The widow and 10 children of the late Mr. R. N. Farquharson, who died at Dunbridge, South Devon, on the 23rd May 1882.

3. The Managers will propose the following addition to, and amendment of, the Rules:—

After Article XXIII insert a new Article.

ARTICLE XXIII (A).

"Should the wife of a subscriber obtain a divorce from her husband, the Managers have the power, on receipt by them of a copy (which must be furnished within six months) of the order of the Court making the divorce absolute, to declare that they will, for the purposes of these rules, consider her to be still his wife.

In no case in which the Managers may exercise the above power shall any other person subsequently married to such subscriber be entitled to receive any benefit from the Fund, so long as his former wife remains alive and unmarried, and unless the Subscriber shall survive his divorced wife."

After Article XXIV add—

"The word widow in this Article shall, after the death of her former husband, include a lady on whose behalf the Managers have exercised the power conferred by Article XXIII (A)."

4. Mr. A. O Hume, C.B., will propose the following modification of Article XXXVII of the Rules:—

"Provided, however, that if any subscriber shall duly pay his subscription within one month of the date on which he actually draws the pay or pension on which it is due, he shall not be liable to any penalty on account of having been unable for the period of twelve months or more, to draw the pay or pension due to him."

5. The Managers have to report that the Hon'ble G. G. Morris, Senior Puisne Judge of the High Court, has obtained leave of absence for five months and twenty days. In accordance with Article XXII(b) of the the revised rules, the Hon'ble W. F. McDonell, v.c., as Senior Puisne Judge, High Court, becomes an ex-officio Manager, and the Hon'ble L. R. Tottenham has been invited to join the Board of Managers in succession to Mr. McDonell.

6 The Managers have to report that Mr. Macaulay has resigned his appointment as Secretary to the Fund, and that they have appointed Mr. C. S Bayley as his successor.

7. The Managers desire to give notice that they will at the January meeting, 1883, propose the following addition to Article III of the Rules :—

"In the case of Subscribers holding appointments of which the pay has been fixed on a basis which specially exempts the holder from the 4 per cent. Annuity Fund Deduction, the salary shall, for the purposes of this rule, be taken as if the said 4 per cent. were added to the nominal amount."

8. The Secretary of State's despatch on the subject of the transfer of the Fund to Government, together with the Manager's reply, has been circulated for the information of the subscribers. The matter is still under consideration of Government.

Proposed by Mr. Lyall and seconded by Mr. Cotton and carried, that the proceedings of the Managers in admitting to the benefits of the Fund the families of the late Mr. H. C. Richardson, Lord Erskine, and Mr. R. N. Farquharson, and the posthumous son of the late Mr. C. F. Magrath, be confirmed.

Mr. Westland then proposed that the consideration of the further business mentioned in the report should be postponed until the next January meeting of the subscribers. It was, he considered, undesirable that an important change in the rules such as that contemplated by the Managers in their proposed article XXIIIA, and in the amendment of article XXIV, should be brought forward at the July meeting when a few subscribers only ordinarily attended. The rule, moreover, in its present shape would not meet the desired end, and might lead to unexpected complications.

Mr. Wilkins seconded the proposal on the ground that there was not sufficient information before the subscribers to enable them to judge of the necessity for the proposed alterations.

Mr. Allen said that the matter had been very fully considered by the Managers whose decision had been in favour of the rule in its present shape. The power to be vested in the Managers should be, as it was proposed to make it, merely discretionary, but he considered that some rule of the kind proposed was absolutely necessary to protect the interests of wives who might be debarred from the benefits of the Fund by no fault of their own. To frame a rule which should meet all possible cases and complications which might arise, was absolutely impossible, but that fact need not prevent any rule at all from being framed.

Mr. Westland's proposal was then put to the vote and carried.

Mr. Wilkins then asked whether the Managers could afford any information to the subscribers regarding the circumstances under which the proposal to amend the rules had arisen.

Mr. Allen replied that a case had occurred in which a subscriber had been divorced from his wife in consequence of his own misconduct, and that the Court in granting a decree, ordered that he should continue to pay such subscriptions to the Fund as would secure to the petitioner the benefits allowed by the Fund. Long previously to the divorce the lady's relations had contributed on her behalf to the Fund, and it was felt by the Managers to be a hardship that she should now lose the benefit of all subscriptions which had been paid in her behalf. In view also of the judgment of the Court which had provided that the respondent should continue to pay to the Fund on behalf of the petitioner such subscription as would entitle her to the benefits of the Fund at his decease, it was exceedingly desirable that the rules should admit of the terms of the decree being carried out. There was reason to believe that the subscriber in question had married again already, and there was nothing in the rules to prevent him from bringing his second wife on to the Fund.

In answer to an enquiry from Mr. Cotton, the Secretary stated that no further communication had been received from the Government of India regarding the proposal of the Secretary of State to take over the Fund.

In the absence from the meeting of Mr. Hume and of any subscriber authorized to bring forward the modification of article XXXVII proposed by him, the motion standing in his name was not put to the meeting.

The meeting separated with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

Regulations made by the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta under section 24, clause 1, Act I (B.C.) of 1880.

1. No car shall be driven at a greater pace than six miles an hour on the Chitpore line, or seven miles an hour on the Sealdah and Chowringhee lines. On all sharp curves, such as that between Lall Bazar and the Chitpore Road, cars shall not be driven at a greater pace than four miles an hour.

2. A clear space of at least 50 feet shall be kept between successive cars except at stations or turn-outs, unless it may be necessary to approach nearer in order to avoid collision or prevent injury.

3. No two cars proceeding in opposite directions shall stop abreast of one another and so block the street. They shall stop so as to have a clear distance along the line of 50 feet between them.

4. At the intersection of narrow streets cars shall not be driven at a greater speed than five miles an hour, and they shall be stopped, so that at most the rear platform only shall remain opposite the intersected street.

5. For the breach of any of the above four Rules the driver and conductor shall each be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

6. At curves and turnings at which it is, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Police, necessary, the Tramway Company shall station signallers. When the line is clear, they shall shew a white flag by day and a white light at night. When the line is obtructed, they shall shew a red flag by day and a red light by night. Every car shall be stopped until the line-clear signal is given. The penalty for infringement of this rule by signaller, driver, or conductor, shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

7. The driver shall at all times be responsible for seeing that the line is clear of obstruction; and if there is any risk of collision, or the line is in any way obstructed, the car shall be stopped till the line is clear of obstruction. The penalty for infringement shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

8. If a procession be passing along the street, the driver shall stop the car till it has passed. For breach of this rule the conductor and driver shall be each liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 10.

9. The Commissioner of Police shall be responsible for the regulation of tramway traffic in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta during native festivals. These festivals are divided into two classes, and are shewn below.

In the case of festivals placed under Class I, all traffic will be stopped altogether on the Chitpore Road for certain hours.

In the case of festivals placed under Class II, traffic will be regulated by the Police, who will stop cars as processions approach, and allow them to proceed when the processions have passed.

Class I comprises the following festivals:—

Name of festival.	Hours during which Tramway will be closed.
Sree Punchomi Poojah	4 to 8 P.M.
Doorga Poojah	4 to 8 P.M.
Juggodhatree Poojah	4 to 8 P.M.
Kartick Poojah	4 to 8 P.M.
Mohurrum	Cars to be stopped as occasion requires.

By closing the traffic from 4 to 8 P.M. it is intended that no car shall leave either end of the Chitpore Road after 4 or before 8 o'clock. Cars that have left before 4 o'clock may complete their journey if not unusually delayed.

Class II comprises the following festivals:—

Dole jattra.
Basuntee and Unnopoorna Poojahs.
Ruth-jattra.
Ulta Ruth.
Kali Poojah.

The penalty for infringement of this rule shall subject the conductor to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

10. The purdahs or other side arrangements on the cars shall be so arranged as not to project beyond the foot-board, flap about, or otherwise interfere with the passing traffic.

11. No horse that is not thoroughly broken in shall be used in any tram-car.

For any breach of Rules 10 and 11 the Company and the conductor shall each be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

12. Every conductor and driver shall wear a distinguishing badge in such a way as to be fully exposed to view, and shall state his number to any passenger asking for it. Penalty for breach of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

13. The classes of cars enumerated below shall not carry more than the number of passengers stated opposite to each class—

One-horse car with four rows of benches	20
,, five ,, ...	25
Two-horse cars with eight ,, ...	40

In the event of passengers in excess of the above numbers being carried, the conductor shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

14. Every passenger has a right to cause the car to be stopped for the purpose of leaving it, and, if there is room in the car, every intending passenger has the right to cause the car to be stopped for the purpose of getting into it. The conductor shall, under the above circumstances, be bound to stop the car as soon as possible after being required to do so by any passenger or intending passenger. For breach of this rule he shall incur a penalty not exceeding Rs. 5.

15. On the occurrence of any accident causing serious injury to person or property, it shall be the duty of the Company to report the matter at the police station within the jurisdiction of which the accident may have occurred, or at the nearest police station, whichever may be most convenient, within one hour of such accident, and to give the police full and prompt assistance in the prosecution of any enquiry which they may institute. For neglect to comply with this regulation the Company shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 20.

16. If, in connection with such accident, any person receives any serious bodily injury, it shall be the duty of the conductor to make arrangements to send such person to hospital with the least possible delay, unless his friends desire otherwise and agree to take charge of him. If the conductor omits to make such arrangements, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding Rs. 20.

17. No conductor or driver shall use abusive language to any of the passengers or intending passengers, or behave in an insolent manner, or misconduct himself in any other way in the performance of his duty. Penalty for breach of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 5.

18. Every car running after sunset shall carry two bright lights, one in front of the car and one at the back. The penalty for infringement of the rule either by the driver or conductor shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

B.

Regulations made by the Calcutta Tramways Company under Section 24, Clause 2, Act I (B.C.) of 1880.

1. Passengers are forbidden, under a penalty not exceeding Rs. 5—

   (a) to enter or leave a car while in motion;
   (b) to travel standing on the foot-board of the car;
   (c) to commit nuisance or spit upon the floor or any part of the car;
   (d) to converse with the driver while on duty.

2. No person shall swear, or use obscene or offensive language whilst upon any car, or wilfully interfere with the comfort of any passenger. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

3. The conductor may refuse to allow any of the following persons to travel upon any car, and may at any time require any such person to leave such car; and any such person entering or attempting to enter a car after the conductor has refused permission, or refusing to leave the car when so called upon to do so, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20:—

   (a) Any person drunk and disorderly.
   (b) Any person suffering from a contagious disease.
   (c) Any person whose clothing or body is in an offensively dirty state.
   (d) Any person carrying more luggage than can be accommodated in the space allotted to him or under his seat.

4. No person shall take a dog or other animal into any car. Any dog or other animal taken into any car in contravention of this regulation shall be immediately removed from the car by the person in charge of such dog or other animal upon the request of the conductor, and, in default of compliance with such request, the dog or other animal may be removed under the direction of the conductor. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

5. When any car contains the full number of passengers which it is licensed to carry, no additional person shall enter or remain on any such car when warned by the conductor not to do so. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

6. Any male person above the age of 10 years, knowingly and wilfully entering, or remaining in, a car exclusively reserved for females, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

7. Each passenger shall, upon demand, pay to the conductor, or other duly authorized officer of the Company, the fare legally demandable for the journey. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

8. Any passenger found travelling upon any car without a ticket, or not producing his ticket when called upon to do so by any servant of the Company, being in uniform, shall be liable to pay the fare from the place whence the car originally started. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

9. No person shall wilfully obstruct or impede any officer or servant of the Company in the execution of his duty upon, or in connection with, any car or tramway of the Company. The penalty for infringement of this rule shall be a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

10. The conductor of the car shall enforce or prevent the breach of these bye-laws and regulations to the best of his ability, and if he wilfully and wrongfully omits to enforce them, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 20.

The "conductor" means any servant of the Company in charge of a car.

May 25th	40	16mo. ...	1st ...	2,000	ditto ...	0 3 0	Sitá Náth Datta, Calcutta.	This is an elementary English grammar explained in Bengali. The author says in an English preface that "the mode of treatment adopted in it differs almost entirely from that usually adopted in such books." In treating of etymology, the author follows Mr. Bain's method. Numerous exercises are given under each section, and conjugation, as the most important thing in books of this description, has received special attention.	68

May 23rd	40	8vo. ...	1st ...	300	Printed	0 6 0	.....	The writer of an article on Bengali authors regrets that although Bengali literature is rising into importance, the literary tastes of both Bengali authors and readers should be so strongly in favour of worthless dramas and mischievous works of fiction. He thinks that the literary labours of Babu Bankim Chandra Chatterji have been productive of more harm than good to Bengali literature and Bengali morality.	593
April 15th	72	8vo. rl....	1st ...	300	ditto ...	.....	.....	"Buro Sáliker Kathá" is a short paper in which this world is spoken of as a place in which no one cares for another and suffering is the lot of all. The writer of another paper urges that social reform in this country should be slow and well considered.	594
„ 13th	32	8vo. ..	1st ...	2,000	ditto ...	0 4 0	Dámodar Mukherji, 70, Cornwallis Street, Calcutta.	A new Bengali periodical which will deal only with useful and entertaining subjects and not with subjects which possess only a speculative interest. It will be also issued punctually. In one paper the element of poetry met with in the Vedas is explained. Two letters from a Bengali traveller in the North-Western Provinces describe some railway experiences illustrative of the low morality of the Bengali Babu in certain circumstances. A paper on Indian and European philosophy is begun in this number.	595

No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date
	BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN. 1	Burdwan. Aug. 19 '82	1·02	Weather—showery. Prospects of amun improved. Aus crop good. It is being reaped in some places. Sugarcane also good. Health generally fair, but cases of fever and cholera are reported.
	Cutwa ..	1·59
	Culna ...	2·14
	Raneegunge ..	3·12
2	Bankoora „ 19 „	4·84	Weather—hot and cloudy, but cooler than last week. Rain fell throughout the district during the week, but more is still wanted in some parts. Prospects of crops continue fair. Indigo manufacture general. Sporadic cases of cholera and fever in some parts of the Bishenpore sub-division continue to be reported.
	Bishenpore ...	0·74
	Maliara ...	1·76
	Khatra ..	0·68
3	Beerbhoom. „ 19 „	6·33	Heavy rain almost constant. The rain has done a great deal of good. The crops are, however, still backward, especially in Dubrajpore. Cholera lingers in a few villages.
	Rampore Haut ...	2 11 up to 17th.
4	Midnapore, „ 19 „	1·69	Weather—seasonable. Want of rain is the general complaint. Crops in some places have suffered for want of timely rain. Public health good.
5	Hooghly, „ 19 „	1·56	Weather—hot. Crops are suffering much all over the district for want of rain, but chiefly in Jehanabad. Fever reported in Jehanabad, otherwise general health good,
	Howrah, „ 21* „	2·91	The weather has been cool and pleasant and the rainfall better. More rain is wanted for the transplanting of amun, but the progress in transplanting has been better this week. Aus is well grown.
	Colooberiah .	3·83

* For week ending 19th instant.

	No.	District, and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL—contd.
		Central Districts.
Presidency Divn.	6	24-Pergunnahs, Aug 21*'82	2·87	Weather—seasonable, but more rain is wanted in the Baraset and Diamond Harbour sub-divisions. The prospects of early crops continue satisfactory. Transplanting of amun paddy is making fair progress; more rain would do good.
	7	Nuddea, „ 19 „	Not shewn	Weather—cloudy, rainy and cool. Want of rain heretofore has considerably injured the aus crop, which has, however, been slightly benefited by the rain this week. Transplanting of amun going on rapidly. Fever stationary. Cholera abated.
		Kooshtea ...	4·12
		Meherpore ...	6·33
		Chooadanga ...	3·64
		Ranaghat ...	2·81
		Bongong ...	3·21
	8	Khoolna „ 19 „	2·94	Many heavy showers and drizzling rain at intervals. Rice crop much benefited by the rain. Fever reported in Satkhira. Public health elsewhere good. Cattle-disease reported in Morrelgunge
	9	Jessore „ 19 „	3·42	Weather—cloudy, with heavy showers Aus harvest continues; outturn not so good as was expected, owing to the deficiency in the rainfall during July. Amun crop looks very well. Outbreaks of fever of a rather severe type are reported from parts of the head-quarters and Narail sub divisions.
		Jhenida ...	2·71
		Magoorah ...	3·68
		Narail ...	2·18
	10	Moorshedabad, „ 19 „	3·69	Weather—cloudy and rainy at times The rain has been general over the district and has much improved the prospects of amun paddy. Aus is being harvested, but some of it has been destroyed in the Jungipore sub division owing to the rise of the rivers. Except the usual fever, public health is good.
Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Divn.	11	Dinagepore, Aug 18 '82	4·52	Rain every day during the week, but not so abundant as was wanted and more is still required. Transplanting of amun going on. Jute and sugarcane promise well, but rain is wanted for steeping and washing the jute. Rice selling at from 20 to 35 seers per rupee.
	12	Rajshahye, „ 19 „	3·65	Weather—seasonable. There have been a few showers of rain during the week.
		Nattore ..	3·44	Paddy crop suffers still for want of sufficient rain. Fever in Puthia and Durgapore.
	13	Rungpore „ 19 „	3·36	Weather—rainy. Transplanting of amun going on More rain wanted for the cultivation of high lands for transplanting. Aus and jute are still being reaped. Public health good.
	14	Bogra, „ 19 „	6·30	There has been an abundance of rain and the weather is tolerably pleasant. The rain has been very beneficial to the amun crop. Aus, jute, oilseed and kaon are being reaped. Rice selling at from 22½ to 30 seers per rupee. Health fair. Fever reported from the Bogra, Sherpore, Shariakundi and Panchbibi police stations, and cholera from Khetlal.
	15	Pubna, „ 19 „	5·99	Weather—cloudy and rainy. Prospects of amun crop good. Sufficient rain has
		Serajgunge ...	4·30	fallen. Public health good.
	16	Darjeeling, „ 19 „	9·36	Very heavy rain during the week. The transplanted paddy much benefited. Public health good.
	17	Julpigoree, „ 19 „	11·66	Weather—seasonable. State and prospects of crops generally favourable.
		Cooch Behar, „ 18 „	5·09	Weather—cloudy and rainy. The copious fall of rain during the week has
		Dinhatta ...	2·72	enabled the people to transplant the late rice. Cutting of early rice nearly
		Mathabhanga ...	6·21	finished. Fair outturn of jute expected. Rice selling at Rs. 2-4 per maund.
		Mecklgunge ...	6·07	Public health good.
		Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn.	18	Dacca, Aug. 19 '82	2·83	Weather—rainy and cloudy. The rain has improved the prospects of all crops.
		Manickgunge ...	1·23	Rivers rising.
		Munshigunge ...	2·14
	19	Furreedpore „ 19 „	3·87	Weather—seasonable. The rainfall has been much better, but more is needed.
		Goalundo ...	2·65	The state and prospects of sugarcane are good, and of amun paddy fair.
		Madaripore ...	5·08	Jute and aus are being cut. There is some cholera at Madaripore and in the Shibchar thana, but public health in other places generally good.
	20	Backergunge, „ 17 „	4·95	Weather—rainy. Rice crop doing well, except in parts of the Patuakhali sub-division. Fever prevalent. Cattle-disease in the Perozepore sub-division.
	21	Mymensingh, „ 18 „	4·51	Heavy rain has fallen in all parts of the district. Aus paddy is being cut; the crop is a good one. Transplanting of late paddy progressing. Heavy rain has done much good.
Chittagong Divn.	22	Chittagong Aug. 22 '82	2·92	Prospects of crops fair Transplanting of amun going on. Cholera, small-pox and cattle-disease still prevail. Prices stationary. Two shocks of earthquake on the night of the 20th.
	23	Noakholly, „ 17 „	9·09	Weather—rainy and cloudy A whirlwind passed over the town from the south west to the north-east on the night of the 16th at about 4 A.M., blowing down some houses and trees. Aus paddy is being harvested everywhere. Transplanting of amun paddy is being carried on throughout the district.
	24	Tipperah „ 18 „	5·46	Weather—rainy and cool State and prospects of crops fair, but more rain is still
		Brahmunbaria .	2·89	wanted, especially in the north of the district, for transplanted rice.
		Chandpore .	7·19
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, „ 15 „	3·54	Weather—light drizzling showers occasionally with high winds. The rainfall is very short of the average; up to the end of July 35 inches short of last year. The jum and plough paddy were beginning to be seriously affected, but the rain of the last week has in places somewhat improved prospects. The season will be a late one everywhere.
		Hill Tipperah, „ 16 „	1·90	Weather—rather too hot for the season More rain wanted. Aus paddy is being reaped. Amun still being transplanted. Prospects of sugarcane good. Public health generally good. Cases of fever here and there.

* For week ending 19th instant.

	Sasseram ..	1·06
	Bhabuah ..	1·60
29	Durbhunga, „ 19 „	5·28	Copious rain everywhere Komla in flood to-day (19th). Rice-planting going on well Bhadoi promising fairly. Prices stationary. Health fair. Cholera has nearly disappeared.
30	Muzufferpore „ 19 „	1·07	Weather—cloudy and showery Bhadoi prospects generally improved by the present favourable weather. The Ganges has flooded much of the dearah in the Hajeepore sub-division and has destroyed the makai A considerable portion of rice land in that sub-division remains yet to be planted. The transplanting of paddy in the Seetamurhee sub-division is almost completed, and sufficient rain has fallen all over the sub division.
	Hajeepore ...	0·49
	Seetamurhee ...	4 76
31	Sarun, „ 19 „	3·00	Weather—cloudy, with frequent showers. General rain throughout the district. Prospects of bhadoi crops much improved. Transplanting of rice seedlings going on briskly. Small-pox has disappeared. Cholera still reported The abundant rainfall, it is hoped, will check the further spread of the disease. Prices falling
	Sewan ...	3·89
	Gopalgunge ..	5 59
32	Chumparun, „ 19 „	6·29	Weather—cloudy, with heavy showers. General rain throughout the district, which has much improved the prospects of the standing crops. Transplanting of paddy going on. A few days' sunshine required for the bhadoi crops. Cholera prevalent in an epidemic form. Fever has somewhat abated.
BHAGULPORE DIVN. 33	Monghyr, Aug. 19 '82	2·13	Weather—cloudy and cooler. Prospects of crops continue good. The late rain has been very beneficial
	Begusarai ...	3 32
	Jamui .	2 64
34	Bhagulpore „ 19 „	2·48	Weather—cool. A fair amount of rain fell all over the district, more in the north than elsewhere. The bhadoi or autumn crops are being cut The murwa is a 16 anna crop, and the bhadoi rice a 12 anna one. Winter rice is being transplanted and the prospects are good, but more rain is wanted Public health good.
35	Purneah, „ 19 „	2·99	Weather—wet. Prospect of crops much improved. Transplanting progressing vigorously Bhadoi harvest is poor as the rains were too long deferred, Fever more or less prevalent Mahananda, Kusi and Ganges in flood.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

*The considerable falling off in the tollage, as compared with the corresponding month of last year, is due to the closure of the canal from 1st to 10th, on account of annual repairs. The ostensible closure is ten days, but the actual closure, as far as navigation is concerned, may be reckoned as being fully a week more, as boats have to clear out of the canal before the head sluice is closed, and the canal takes a week to fill after it is opened on the expiry of the ten days fixed for closure.

GOODS.

The goods traffic exhibits an improvement in the generality of staples, and for the season of the year is unusually brisk.

The principal staples inviting attention are—

Coal, up.
Coal, down.
Government Ordnance stores.
Wheat.
Gunny.
Iron.
Jaggree.
Minerals.
Railway materials (foreign).
Saltpetre
Seeds.
Sugar.
Tobacco.

Under the head of decreases appear—

Beer, Commissariat.
Other grains.
Pulses.
Piece-goods.

REMARKS.

Coal, up ... ... Mds. 1,45,320 Rs. 76,620

The largest increase is shown at Asansol and Barakar,

Downwards coal ... ... Mds. 2,96,450 Rs. 43,620

The bulk of this increase is at Seetarampore, Barakar, and Giridih.

Government Ordnance stores ... ... Mds. 10,260 Rs. 33,300

Despatches of ammunition were made from Howrah to Agra, Loodianah, Peshawar, and stations in the Punjab principally.

Wheat ... ... Mds. 1,16,080 Rs. 1,13,400

A statement of the principal despatching stations follows :—

Memorandum of Wheat traffic during four weeks and six days ending 30*th June* 1882.

Deoree	19,810		320
Total Decrease	2,16,240		51,730
Net Increase	1,13,200		1,07,560

Gunny — Mds. 26,760 — Rs. 30,130
Represents bagging required for country produce exported.

Iron — Mds. 31,830 — Rs. 10,000
Composed chiefly of pig-iron despatched from Howrah to the Bengal Iron Works at Barakar.

Jaggree — Mds. 30,980 — Rs. 9,650
The demand in Central India and Rajpootana continues.

Minerals — Mds. 89,520 — Rs 14,460
Consisted chiefly of lime and kunkur.

Railway materials, foreign — Mds. 37,670 — Rs. 26,410
This increase is made up in despatches from Howrah to Barh, Benares, and Lucknow of rails and other materials required for foreign lines.

Saltpetre — Mds. 16,300 — Rs. 10,000
More favourable market prices in Calcutta.

Seeds — Mds. 4,01,440 — Rs. 1,89,030
Prices having an upward tendency; very large quantities were brought down from up-country.

Sugar — Mds. 98,970 — Rs. 39,070
The traffic in this commodity fluctuates a great deal.

Tobacco — Mds. 10,370 — Rs. 12,470
This trade has been very backward this year.

DECREASES.

Beer, Commissariat — Mds. 21,110 — Rs. 41,590
Contracts for hill-brewed beer have been largely given for the troops employed in the North-West and Punjab, and very little English-brewed beer is now imported for the Military.

Other grains — Mds. 1,35,710 — Rs. 58,150

Pulses — Mds. 32,840 — Rs. 22,990
There appears not to be at present any abnormal demand for these food grains

Piece-goods — Mds. 13,550 — Rs. 23,810
The Calcutta market report does not hold out any hopes of improvement in the import trade.

The train mileage for the period has been, excluding maintenance and locomotive coal train-mileage—

	Coaching.	Goods	Total.

NOTIFICATION

The 16th August 1882.—In the exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 1, Act V (B.C.) of 1880, the Bengal Vaccination Act, the Lieutenant-Governor hereby declares his intention to extend the provisions of the said Act to the town of Monghyr and the station of Jamalpore.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 24th August 1882.—In exercise of the power vested in him by section 1 of the Bengal Vaccination Act V (B.C.) of 1880, the Lieutenant-Governor hereby declares his intention to extend the provisions of the said Act to the Municipality of Gya.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

IT is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor has, under the power vested in him by section 17, Act IV (B. C.) of 1876, prescribed the following revised rules for the election of Commissioners for the Town of Calcutta:—

Rule 1.—The next election of members of the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Calcutta under the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, Act IV (B.C.) of 1876, shall be held on the 2nd October 1882.

Rule 2.—Under section 18 of the Act, any person qualified to vote at an election, or to be elected as a Commissioner, may at any time, not being less than six weeks or more than three months before the election takes place, apply personally or by letter to the Chairman of the Commissioners for the registration of his name as such voter or person qualified for election, and shall at the same time name the ward or wards of the town in which he is entitled to vote. After the receipt and examination of all such applications, and at a date not less than one month before the election, a printed list of all persons qualified to vote or to be elected will be prepared and affixed by the Chairman of the Commissioners in some conspicuous place in or near his office, and at the police-station of each of the wards of the town, for general information, and such lists will be open to public inspection for fifteen days after the date of publication. In virtue of the authority conferred on the Chairman by the second paragraph of section 18 and section 19, Act IV of 1876, "the Chairman shall be at liberty at any time to revise the said list for the purpose of removing therefrom the name of any person not duly qualified and erroneously entered therein, or of recording the name of any person duly qualified and erroneously omitted therefrom."

Rule 3.—No person shall be qualified to vote at an election, or to be elected as a Commissioner, unless his name shall be registered as prescribed by section 18 or section 19 of the Act.

Rule 4.—The election shall be held at the stations hereinafter appointed for the respective wards, which are numbered and defined in the first schedule of the Act, that is to say—

Wards 1, 2, 3, at the Burtollah Police Section.
Wards 4, 5, 6, at the Jorasanko Police Section.
Wards 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, at the Town Hall.
Wards 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, at the Municipal Office.
Ward 18, at Hastings' Police Section.

Rule 5.—The Municipal Commissioners shall appoint one or more polling officers to preside at each station, and may pay to each officer so appointed such reasonable remuneration for his services as they may think fit. Each polling officer so appointed shall keep order at his station, shall regulate the number of voters to be admitted at a time, and may exclude all other persons, except the clerks, the agents of the candidates and the constables on duty.

Rule 6.—Each polling officer shall be supplied by the Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners with a copy of so much of the register of the persons entitled to vote as may relate to the ward or wards for which such polling officer is appointed to take votes, and also with a copy of the register of persons qualified to be elected as Municipal Commissioners.

Rule 7.—At a date not less than 21 days before the day fixed for taking the poll, the Chairman shall cause one voting paper in the form appended hereto to be posted at the General Post Office, Calcutta, to the address given in the registration form, or to any other address which the voter may have expressly asked to have substituted for that address.

Rule 8.—The signature of the Chairman shall be stamped under his supervision on each part of each voting paper before the same is issued by him, and votes given on any other than the official paper shall be invalid.

Rule 9.—The voter on receipt of this voting paper may—

(1)—Return it by post duly filled up to the Municipal Office in a closed cover marked "voting paper———Ward No——," or

(2)—Return it by hand to the Municipal Office in a closed cover marked "voting paper——Ward No.——," or

(3)—Present it himself at the polling station on the day of the poll, or (4)—Entrust the whole or any part of such paper, containing one or more complete votes, to any person whom he may select for delivery at the polling station on the day of the poll.

Rule 10.—All polling papers received at the office in accordance with clause (1) or (2) of Rule 9 will be made over unopened to the polling officers, to be opened by them publicly at the polling station on the day and at the time of the poll.

PART I.] THE CALCUTTA GAZETTE, AUGUST 30, 1882. 741

Rule 11.—Should any cover not marked "voting paper Ward No.——" be received in the Municipal Office, and on being opened be found to contain a voting paper otherwise in due order, the Secretary of the Corporation shall at once enclose such paper in a cover and mark it with the ward to which it belongs, and shall forward it to the polling officer on the day of the poll as above.

Rule 12.—Any voter who, owing to miscarriage of the post office or other mishap, may not have received his voting paper by the 14th day before the poll, may apply at the Municipal Office personally or by agent, putting in a written statement that he has not received any voting paper. In such cases a voting paper marked "duplicate" shall be given, which may be dealt with in any of the ways prescribed for original papers under Rule 9.

Rule 13.—On the day of the poll, should it appear that votes are tendered on behalf of any voter on the original voting paper, and also on a duplicate paper obtained under the last preceding rule, the fact shall be noted, and a list of all such votes be prepared as soon as possible, ward by ward, and be posted up at the Municipal Office. Unless the voter comes forward within three days after such list has been published, and states that the vote or votes on the original paper are forgeries, the original votes shall count, and the votes on the duplicate paper be cancelled.

Rule 14.—Voting papers on different coloured paper from the original and duplicate papers referred to above shall be provided at all polling stations at the time of the poll, and any voter who has not already voted, or who may wish to cancel his previous votes, may, notwithstanding that he has already filled up an original or a duplicate voting paper, appear at the poll and fill up a paper in the presence of the polling officer, and such vote or votes shall alone be held valid and shall cancel all previous votes.

Rule 15.—All persons qualified to vote, who are able to read and write, should in their own handwriting put down the names of the candidates for whom they desire to vote, but in case the person voting is unable to write, he may authorize some person to sign for him and to put down the name of the candidates for whom he is desirous of voting, and in such case the person so signing shall put down his own signature underneath the name of the voter.

Rule 16.—No Municipal officer or employé, or official subordinate of such officer or employé, shall directly or indirectly engage himself in canvassing for votes or otherwise assisting in the election of any candidate save by giving his own vote. Any breach of this rule will render him liable to dismissal.

Rule 17.—On the day fixed for the election, the poling shall commence at 9 A.M. and shall close at 6 P.M. precisely, and each voter shall, as prescribed in Rule 9, present or forward in a sealed cover his voting paper, with the name of the person, or names of the persons, for whom he desires to vote, and with all particulars duly filled in.

Rule 18.—In all cases where, in accordance with Rule 15, the existing papers are signed and filled up in any language other than English, the name of the voter and of the persons for whom he votes shall also be entered in English.

Rule 19.—On the presentation of each voting paper, the polling officer shall forthwith note on the back of each voting paper whether it was presented by the elector in person, and, if not, the name in full and residence of person presenting it.

Rule 20.—If the voting paper is not in accordance with Rules 8, 15, and 18, the polling officer shall receive the votes under objection, and shall record the objection on the back of the voting paper.

Rule 21.—The polling officer shall satisfy himself that the voter and the person for whom he votes are entered in the printed lists referred to in Rule 3. He shall then note off against the elector's name the fact of the vote or votes and the person or persons for whom the vote or votes have been given. In case the polling officer, on coming afterwards to note off a later vote or votes from the same elector, find that a second voting paper has been used, he shall note the objection and forward the papers to the Chairman for action in accordance with Rule 13 or 14 as the case may be.

Rule 22.—After noting the above information, the polling officer shall attach a consecutive number to each voting paper, and shall, under the said number, affix his signature. The polling officer shall then read out in a loud voice three times the name and residence of the elector, and the names and residences of the person or persons for whom he votes.

Rule 23.—Up to the close of the poll, as provided for in Rule 17, any person present at the polling station shall be at liberty to object to any voter or intending voter on any of the grounds indicated in the above rules.

Rule 24.—If any objection authorized by the next preceding rule shall be made to any voter, the polling officer shall, on the back of the voting paper, record the name and residence of objector and the nature of objection, and shall direct, verbally or by letter, the objector and the voter to appear within three days from the day of the election before the Chairman of the Commissioners, and the decision of the Chairman of the Commissioners, made after due enquiry into the objection, shall be final.

Rule 25.—At the close of the poll, the polling officer shall forward all the voting papers, arranged according to their consecutive numbers, in a packet duly sealed and secured, to the Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners.

Rule 26.—The polling officer shall, at the close of the day, transmit to the Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners a list of the objections taken by him under Rules 20 and 21, or admitted by him under Rule 23, and the said Chairman shall, after hearing and deciding upon all such objections, make lists of the votes given in each ward, and shall record the same in his office.

Rule 27.—The Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners shall, with all reasonable despatch after the election, publish in the Calcutta Gazette and at the Municipal Office the names of the persons in whose behalf votes have been recorded, and the number of votes given for them respectively; and the candidates for whom the greatest number of votes shall have been given in each ward shall, in the proportion assigned by Act IV (B.C.) of 1876 to the respective wards, be deemed to have been elected members of the Corporation for the said wards accordingly.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estate, situate in the district of Furreedpore, will be put up to sale at the Furreedpore Collectorate on the 28th September 1882, corresponding with 13th Ashin 1289 B.S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale.

Conditions of Sale.

1*st.*—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2*nd.*—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force: and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators, who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the revenue authorities.

3*rd.*—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4*th.*—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.
